

Shabat Study February 4, 2022, by Yada

Please Note: I have transcribed this to the best of my ability. Sound bites of parties speaking simultaneously and those which were inaudible to me have been deleted from the transcript. If I guessed at a word, it was followed by ()? A ____ (blank line) indicates I could not understand the word or phrase and three periods ... indicate an interruption in the dialogue of one party by another. Thank you for your understanding. MK

Good evening and welcome to Yada Yah Radio. I'm here with Kirk this evening and we're happy to have you be part of our family as listeners. I think we set records last week for the number of listeners to this program. A lot of that is because of the new website, the rewrites of all these volumes, and new opportunities that are being presented on social media and the promotion of social media for the entire Yada Yah series.

I want to talk about two items in the news. One is what we have talked about for the last few weeks which is Russia, the United States and the Ukraine. This is important to me, and I want to go on record as affirming that if there is an invasion of the Ukraine, it will be entirely the fault of the United States. Last week I explained why I hold that position and this week Putin and his foreign affairs ministry verified everything that I have shared previously. They stated that the United States is baiting Russia to invade by doing everything they can to make it impossible for Russia not to invade, which is an amazing thing, but the only reason that a country would do that is if the president is falling in his popularity in the polls, that midterms are arriving, and that he knows Americans always fall for a wartime president. You galvanize support as a wartime president so for Russia to invade, then Biden becomes what will be considered a wartime president. So he's literally baiting Russia to do so.

The first thing that Putin acknowledges is that the overthrow of the government of the Ukraine was solely the responsibility of the United States. They had a popularity-elected government that was a pro-Russian government, and the United States went in with a minority and with weapons through the CIA to undermine that government. So the current government of the Ukraine is a puppet government put in place through a coup that was led by the United States' CIA. That's not a conspiracy theory. Russia found and published the communiqués from the US State Department to the so-called revolutionaries.

Secondly, it was a disastrous move for the United States because it cost us billions of dollars because rather than Russia supplying the Ukraine with monies to cover their deficit spending, now it is the United States that assumes that responsibility. Russia could afford to do it because of the pipeline that runs through the Ukraine that the Russians built that supplies natural gas to Europe, so the transit fees on that pipeline pay the debt.

The United States then did something that I shared many years ago when this first occurred that was transparent to me, and now is even more so to anyone with their eyes open. The primary reason for the United States usurping the integrity of the Ukrainian elections to put in a puppet government was to create a reason for NATO to continue to exist, and that all we hear now is the rattling of NATO's swords. NATO had no function; it was a completely defunct organization with no purpose whatsoever until the United States recast Russia as the boogeyman. In so doing, now there is a reason to fund NATO and to form alliances through NATO. The problem with that is that most wars begin now because of these international alliances. So the United States belligerently wants NATO to include the Ukraine.

Russian's issue is the same as the United States was with Cuba where the United States during the Cuban Missile Crisis in 1962 would not tolerate a Russian military presence and missiles in Cuba so close to America's borders. And yet the Ukraine shares a border with the most populace region of Russia. The United States is bringing all manner of weapons and missiles into the Ukraine doing exactly what Russia did in Cuba, and Russia is responding as the United States did at that time saying this is not acceptable. The deal that the United States, Cuba and Russia resolved then is the same deal that Putin as a diplomat is requesting now. We said to Russia, 'We will give you what you want which is we will never invade Cuba, but for that you remove the Russian military presence. We're asking the United States to remove US military presence and weapons from the Ukraine and to refrain from making the Ukraine part of NATO, and for that Russia will pledge not to invade.' It's the exact same deal, and yet we are so stupid in the United States, so ignorant, so incapable of seeing the world as it actually is, so easily bamboozled that we want to view it instead as Russia being belligerent. Russia is doing everything it can to avoid being belligerent and the United States is doing everything it can to make Russia have to invade and give it no other option because Biden wants to be a wartime president. That's how sick these people are.

Speaking of sick, there were letters that crossed in the mail. You know how sometimes you send out a letter and then you wish you hadn't because you receive a letter, and it makes you look like a nincompoop? I don't know if you've done that, Kirk, but I have done it several times. One letter was from a very unlikely place, and one was predictable. The one from an unlikely place was from the government of Kuwait. The Kuwaitis published an official paper denouncing the Fakestinians and essentially said that 'They are "assholes" and have always been so. When things are going well for them, they treat everybody else like garbage, particularly their fellow Muslims. When things are bad, they blame everybody on earth, and they are intolerable. It's time that we recognize that the only reason they need our assistance, and that we find ourselves paying for them, is that they don't work, and then since they have nothing to do they terrorize Israel, and Israel responds. Israel is more effective than the Fakestinians, so their buildings get pummeled, their economy is stifled, and then they become dependent on us. If they stopped pummeling Israel and stopped acting like terrorists,' the Kuwaitis said, 'they wouldn't have this problem. If they would go to work and be responsible, they wouldn't have this problem. And since they treat us like crap, why are we continuing to fund them? This is stupid.' The article in the official newspaper went so far as to say, 'We've been on the wrong side here and it's time we admit it. We need to jettison our relationship with these Fakestinians because they are nothing but trouble. They are angry, belligerent people that can't get along with anybody, including us, and that are causing their own problems by being terrorists. We ought to form a relationship with the only decent nation in the region, Israel.'

Keep in mind that the Kuwaitis have been the biggest financiers of the Fakestinians until fairly recently when Iran figured it wanted to destroy Israel and wipe them off the face of the earth by sending missiles and weaponry to Hamas. So that's what they said. They know them, they've been funding them for years, they share the same religion, no one knows them better.

So what's the letter that crossed in the mail? Amnesty International calls Israel "an apartheid state," and of course, Israel responds with, "You're a bunch of anti-Semites."

Amnesty International is not anti-Semite; they are Progressives, and as Progressives, they are stupid. All Progressives are stupid; You would expect Progressives to say and do something stupid because in the extreme liberal progressive mindset, evidence and reason don't matter. So if evidence and reason don't matter, they can and will say and do stupid things.

Amnesty International is an organization that parallels Greenpeace. When Greenpeace was first conceived, all the leaders were scientists with a principal aim to stop Japanese whaling because they said 'that whales as mammals as a depleted species are being hunted to extinction. What is being done to the whales is savage, and there is no reason for doing it. The oils coveted by the Europeans come to us out of the ground now. We don't need to kill a whale to get this little oil capsule. This killing is insane; stop it.' So they risked their lives to do something exceedingly valuable and essentially had the world come together to say whaling must be outlawed.

But then, even according to the scientists at Greenpeace, they said that the organization came under the complete control of an exceedingly liberal political faction, and at that point, they had an utterly liberal agenda that was disenfranchised from evidence and reason and was just pushed for political purposes.

Amnesty International is that same thing. They have done good work. The organization was initially was quite useful in exposing and condemning horrible treatment of people in countries most people dare not tread. But for the last decade they have been a completely useless organization and is nothing but a political spokes entity, if you will, for progressive lack of thought.

Both these issues are related. The world is on the brink of war, and the prophets tell us that the world will engage in war during the time of Ya'aqob's Troubles, and we are fast approaching the time of Ya'aqob's Troubles. So we are seeing how things line up and how gross blundering by blithering idiots like we have in Washington, DC puts the entire world at risk of war. Two nuclear superpowers ought not be in this situation. The United States should simply say what you are asking is reasonable and we will not do those two things; the United States or Europe doesn't become more vulnerable, everybody is fine and safe, and we don't start a war between nuclear superpowers. It would be highly intelligent, and of course, once the Olympics are over, particularly if Russia is forced to invade, the Chinese will invade Taiwan. That is not far off and that will be a great travesty.

And, of course, you have the world's media, which is run by Progressives, and this liberalization of politics worldwide rise to the forefront and become a more significant threat to Israel than Christians or Muslims so that you have this triune attack against Israel; Muslims who want Israel destroyed, Christians who believe that Jews killed their god and therefore should be punished for it (and have been trying to do so for the last 2,000 years), and now Progressives who are almost universally anti-Israel. That is a dark day and a series of very dark omens for the nation and its people, and there is only one hope left now, a return to Yahowah.

You'll want to return to Yahowah if you listen to this program, particularly if you are a Yisra'elite. God is returning to Yisra'el for Yisra'el and Yahuwdah and for no one else. If you don't break free of Judaism and politics, whether they are American or Israeli, come to know who Yahowah is, what He is offering and what He is asking in return by studying His Towrah and Prophets between now and then, then you are going to be on the wrong side of the divide when He returns even if you survive to that time, because according to Yahowah, two out of every three Jews are going to die during the Time of Ya'aqob's Troubles. So if you're listening, now would be an excellent time to disengage from all forms of Judaism and all forms of politics, and then once you do then come to know, accept, and act upon what Yahowah is offering.

This is now Chapter 14:5 of Zakaryah / Remember Yahowah. I want to start here because it leads into the sixth statement, which is the last statement we read last week. One hundred percent of Zakaryah has been addressing the return of Yahowah. Yahowah is returning on Kipurym at sunset in the year 6000 Yah, October 2, 2033, which is only 11 years and a few months from now. Much of that time will be consumed by the time of Ya'aqob's Troubles. It's going to be a hellish period for Israel and Jews.

“And then (wa) Yahowah (YaHoWaH – an accurate presentation of the name of ‘elowah – God as guided by His towrah – instructions regarding His hayah – existence), my God (‘elohym ‘any), will return (bow’ – arrive) and all (kol) of those who are set apart with Him (qadowshym ‘im huw’ – those who are separated unto Him will be beside Him, those special to Him and devoted to Him included with Him).” (Zakaryah / Remember Yahowah / Zechariah 14:5)

If you look at those three words, all exceedingly common, you can even add shalowm to it, and you'll know how to pronounce every one of the four letters, two of which are repeated, in Yahowah's name. They are provided by twrh, shalowm, hayah, and 'elowah. Yahowah is God's name and if you are a Hebrew, Yisra'elite or Yahuwd listening to this program, you've had it bludgeoned into you that either God's name is too sacred to say or that we don't know how to pronounce it or that it is inappropriate to say God's name, and the rabbis have written Talmud upon Talmud, Mishnah upon Mishnah, Zohar upon Zohar, and in all their voluminous documents never once have they mentioned Yahowah's name. And the one obvious thing that Yahowah makes absolutely clear is that those who will be reconciled unto Him on the Day of Reconciliations/Yowm Kipurym, which is not a day of affliction, you don't reconcile a relationship by abasing or demeaning yourself. When you reconcile a relationship with God there is nothing more uplifting or beneficial. On that day the number one thing that God says in every possible way is, 'They will know My name, they will use My name, they will call out to Me in my name.' So if you are not among those beginning to know and use Yahowah's name, you are going to be on the wrong side when He returns, and that's a really bad thing because those on the wrong side will face one of two outcomes: They will either have their souls annihilated ceasing to exist or their souls will be sent to She'owl for an eternity with other religious Jews, Christians, Muslims, and Progressives.

“And then (wa) Yahowah (YaHoWaH – an accurate presentation of the name of ‘elowah – God as guided by His towrah – instructions regarding His hayah – existence), my God (‘elohym ‘any), will return (bow’ – arrive) and all (kol) of those who are set apart with Him (qadowshym ‘im huw’ – those who are separated unto Him will be beside Him, those special to Him and devoted to Him included with Him).” (Zakaryah / Remember Yahowah / Zechariah 14:5)

Nobody doubts that the name of the book is Zakaryah; it shows you how to pronounce Yahowah’s name. Even in the former prime minister of Yisra’el, Netanyahu, we see the name of Yahowah properly conveyed. So Yahowah Himself is returning. In the pillars of Judaism you don’t see a single pillar that says Yahowah is going to return. In fact there’s no pillar that says Yahowah is God’s name, and yet He, Yahowah, is going to return. The set apart are going to return with Him. Set apart is from qadowshym and is an exceedingly important Hebrew concept. It is from qadash and means “to be set apart, to be separated”. So those who are returning with Him are those who were not part of human religious or political schemes; they were set apart from the ways of man unto Yahowah. The same thing will be for those who greet Yahowah on His return. They also will be set apart. Everything that is important to Yahowah is set apart; His home, His name, His Shabat, His Mow’ed Miqra’ey are all set apart. His spirit is called the Ruwach Qodesh / the Set Apart Spirit. Everything important to Yahowah is set apart. If you are not set apart from man’s ways, from that which is common, politics and religion, then you not associated___ the religious including Judaism.

The marvelous aspect of this declaration, beyond the fact that Yahowah, Himself, is returning, is that the Covenant members, those who are set apart unto God’s family who were harvested during Taruw’ah will be coming back with Him. We think the Taruw’ah harvest is going to occur on the celebration of Taruw’ah just prior to the worst of Ya’aqob’s Troubles about six months before ‘Eiyah returns as one of the two final witnesses which would be in the first day of the seventh month of 2029. They are the ones represented by the Qadowshym – plural of Qadowsh, meaning “to be set apart and purified,” qadosh is directly related to qadash, meaning “to kindle a fire which provides light.” As such, it provides yet another confirmation that Qara’ / Leviticus 23:27, the verse which provides Yowm Kipurym’s most essential instruction, was translated:

“And your soul shall respond and answer the summons to appear before and approach the maternal manifestation of the fiery light who purifies, enlightens, and elevates (‘isheh / ‘ishah) to approach Yahowah.”

Zakaryah explains...

“There will not be (lo’ hayah – it will exist) on His day (ba ha yowm ha huw’) a diminishing (qipa’own – a reduction or dwindling (qal imperfect paragogic nun)) of the esteemed and beloved, valued and respected (yaqar – splendorous and beautiful, worthy, influential, and magnificent), light (‘owr – illumination and source of enlightenment).” (Zakaryah / Remember Yahowah / Zechariah 14:6)

That’s a profound thought because for Yahowah not to diminish His respected, esteemed illumination, He is going to be infinitely more brilliant than the sun. We are going to have to be entirely different creatures to survive it and to enjoy it. I’ve said several times that dimensionality is an interesting concept because every time you go up a dimension it is an infinite increase in capability. Right now we are three-dimensional constructs that are stuck in the flow of the fourth dimension – time- and beyond time in the fourth dimension there is at least a fifth and sixth dimension in the universe. We call them “dark matter” and “dark energy”. One causes separation and the other attraction.

If we, as we are, were able to experience the expansion into a full four-dimensional entity, from the 3D entity we are now, it would instantly obliterate us. Just the size, scope and input, the noise and visuals, if you will, would be too overwhelming. I can move forward, backward, left, right, and for a moment I can jump really high. Those are about our choices in terms of mobility. Once we’re infinite in the fourth dimension we can literally travel across the entire universe in a second. It’s an entirely different scope of things and we would be so overwhelmed that it would make it exceedingly painful even if you could survive a nanosecond there.

I say this because if Yahowah comes back undiminished, those who are not transformed such that they are at least fully four-dimensional beings, which means you are now immortal because light is a substance, if you will, a wave having both particles and characteristics where light is infinite in time. On a photon of light, time simply is. All-time exists simultaneously. You can enjoy the past, present, and future simultaneously. Unless we are transformed that way, and it’s a huge increase to get there because, as Einstein proved, energy equals mass times the speed of light squared, so as a material being, we have to be multiplied by the square of the speed of light as we are transformed into energy. We’re going to have to have that kind of increase in who we are and our capability to endure this such that it is a pleasant experience for the set apart, but it will be instant incineration for those who aren’t.

I think you translated looking at the letters some of the words in Zakaryah 14:6?

KIRK: All the letters agree. The key was that if you look in all of the Christian versions, they say things like “On that day there will be no light, no cold or frost”, and I’m going, “Where did you get this stuff?” It’s real simple and if it’s going to be dark it’s because there would be a nuclear winter and volcanic ash for something to do that. But that’s not found anywhere in this.

YADA: It’s lo’ hayah, ... so there will not be the negation of lo’ hayah if the negation is not of light. It’s the last ... word in the sentence, not the first.

KIRK: That passage just drove me nuts and I’m saying how do you possibly get there? These are not complicated words or sentences. It freaks me out sometimes and I say how can you be that dumb? But they still believe it.

YADA: So God is revealing that He’s going to return without dialing down His enlightening presence, and when you recognize He was the creator of a universe that is so enormous, 96 billion light-years across, that has probably in the range of 400 billion galaxies that average several hundred billion stars apiece, like our sun. Someone who could create that with simply words without diminishing themselves will not come full force into our universe. While Yahowah will convey part of His spiritual energy into our presence, it isn’t all of Yahowah. He is just dialing down that part of Him that He is setting apart to be with us.

All of God can only exist in seven dimensions, not in six. We've talked about this before, the concept of Walt Disney drawing Mickey Mouse.

Walt is the creator of Mickey Mouse and can have Mickey do whatever he wishes Mickey to do. Walt can draw whatever scene he desires and can add whatever conversation he wants to that scene. The fact of the matter is that Walt cannot enter the flatland ... of Mickey Mouse because it's only two dimensions.

So a three-dimensional construct like Walt cannot enter two dimensions, just like a seven-dimensional construct like Yahowah cannot enter six dimensions. He can use probes, as Walt did in the sense of implements like pencils, pens, paintbrushes, and the like, to interact with that two-dimensional realm.

Yahowah has implements also. His words and His Set-Apart Spirit are implements that He can use. He projected His soul into our world, and He has his Mal'ak, which are spiritual implements that He can use to interact in our world. But His single most important implement to affect transformation and opportunity in our world are His words, the very things we are studying.

So this is a powerful realization that it's hard to fathom the magnificence of what this will appear like, but as Yahowah says, when He's here, you will not need the sun; that's how brilliant He will be. Anyone who is not enveloped in Yahowah's Set-Apart Spirit will be instantly incinerated/vaporized, while those of us who have accepted the terms and conditions of the Covenant will be protected and empowered by the Set-Apart Spirit so that we will be able to experience this as a magnificent thing.

Qipa'own, the operative verb in this passage, could have been translated "make rigid, fixed, and immobile" had it not been used in conjunction with 'owr | light. In relation to other substances, qipa'own communicates the "solidification of something from a fluid." But when associated with light, qipa'own always means "to diminish." This is consistent with nature. As matter is transformed from a gas to a liquid and then to a solid state, every substance other than water diminishes in volume. Water diminishes from a gas to a liquid and is the only substance that increases in size when solidified, and thank goodness it does, otherwise the frozen parts of the ocean would sink to the bottom, and you wouldn't have ice at the top. Life would not be possible, and we would have a frozen planet because liquid ice does not have the same thermal properties, heat absorbing properties, if you will, that water has.

For example, if you want to be warm in an arctic situation, you're going to have to make a warm enclosure of ice because it will trap your body heat inside as opposed to water. If you were to get wet in a cold environment, you're going to freeze to death because the water is a conductor of your heat. It's why I live here on a tropical island. Since the solidification of light is an obscure concept, the related idea of diminishment applies. So we have lots of insights here that tell us how to properly translate qipa'own that are consistent.

Most English translations, like the ESV and NIV, render the passage: "On that day there shall be no light, cold, or frost." In so doing, they ignore the fact that the negation was of hayah, not light. And qipa'own is a verb and thus not "cold or frost", which both are nouns. The NASB is no closer to the mark with: “And it will come about in that day that there will be no light; the luminaries will dwindle.” The KJV tries: “And it shall come to pass in that day, that the light shall not be clear, nor dark.” It is little wonder Christians remain oblivious to the day Yahowah will return. It’s frustrating that the Creator of the Universe shared His testimony with us on how we can come to know Him, what He is offering, and what He is expecting in return, in particular an open letter to His people. And yet the religious have seen fit to change it however they see fit. They don’t care. And then they will call the resulting babble “the inerrant word of God” when it isn’t even remotely accurate. Then, of course, they will combine it with the “New Testament” that is ... There are tiny little glimmers here and there that have ... and credibility, but they are few and far between.

Also, keep in mind that matter is simply organized energy, or light in a diminished state. That is why matter has to be multiplied by the square of the speed of light to determine its quotient of energy. So anytime Yahowah takes on material, human form, He has to set apart and then diminish an aspect of His nature. But this time, during His seventh and final visit, God is going to be more light energy than matter – and perhaps all energy – and thus Spirit.

I think Yahowah is going to be beautiful, it’s not going to be a corporeal presentation, but those of us who are also noncorporeal and are also spiritual beings set apart at that time are going to see Him as He really is.

Revealing the timing of His return, God inspired Zakaryah to write something which unlocks the mystery of “no one knows.” This mystery of “no one knows” is most prevalent among Christian evangelicals that are fixated on their eschatology and the return of their Jesus Christ. They get that from a horrid translation of a translation of a translation in the Olivet Discourse in the book of Matthew pertaining to when Yahowah says no one knows the day or time, not even the son. Unable to know to the degree that is even accurate, that it was even said, that it was a quotation of this next line that Yahowah is going to share with us, they are clueless and say that anytime you are going to predict when He is going to return, and it is not predicting the return of Jesus Christ because he’s not coming back and there was no Jesus Christ to begin with and the Passover Lamb, it is Yahowah. And I can tell you exactly what He says, and I can tell you to the minute when He’s coming back because He told us.

There’s also a problem in Rabbinic Judaism with this because rabbis corrupted what was Taruw’ah, which is the living embodiment of what we are doing here which is that we become Yahowah’s troubadours. We as His witnesses expose what He has said to His people. We warn them that their religion is deadly, deceitful and damning as are their politics and that Yahowah is calling them home before it is too late. That is our calling. In Judaism there is no celebration of Taruw’ah anymore. The rabbis don’t give a crap about what Yahowah has to say. And by the way I use saltier terms; Yahowah uses them all the time. If they bother you, you aren’t going to like Yahowah very much. He’s very graphic in His depiction of the religious.

Rabbis don’t like the idea of Taruw’ah which is to expose and condemn religion while exposing and speaking the merits of Yahowah’s Covenant and Miqra’ey, so that we know what God is offering, what He expects in return and what He is inviting us home to experience. That’s the last thing they want to celebrate, so they have simply replaced it with Rosh Hashanah which means “head of the year”. Yahowah’s year starts in the first renewal of the moon’s light at the time barley is just beginning to bud within two weeks one way or the other of the Spring equinox. But the Babylonian year began in the seventh month (September or October). The Jews that left Babylon never left emotionally, spiritually, or any other way. That’s why the most important book in Judaism is the Babylonian Talmud. They brought all the bad corrupting Babylonian influences with them, and they celebrate Taruw’ah now as Rosh Hashanah, replacing Yahowah’s fifth Miqra’ with a Babylonian holiday. And on this holiday, according to Judaism, it is a day of whispers where you are not supposed to awaken Satan because this is the one day that Satan is supposed to expose the malfeasance of Jews. Satan evidently can’t hear whispers, so you whisper on this day so as not to awaken him because if you don’t awaken him, he can’t blame Jews and you have another year to be deceitful, damning and disgusting, so goes the myth. So it’s the one day that they say that Satan does not know that no one knows that it’s the ___ day to hide from Satan. So they also have their myth specifically about this, and God is not buying into it. He says,

“It shall be (wa hayah – it will exist as) the one (‘echad – only exclusive and unique, the certain and explicit) day (yowm) which (huw’ – more typically rendered “He”) is known (yada’ – is revealed and shown, understood and acknowledged, distinguished and discerned) to approach (la – according to) Yahowah (efei – the pronunciation of YaHoWaH as guided by His towrah – teaching).” (Zakaryah / Remember Yahowah / Zechariah 14:7 in part)

Every Jew on the planet would know what day that is if the rabbis hadn’t corrupted Yowm Kipurym. If they had simply told the truth about Yowm Kipurym, every Jew on the planet would know. But rather than Yowm Kipurym being the day of kipur | reconciliation, plural kipurym | reconciliations, in Judaism it’s a day of affliction and deprivation. They are going to get their wish because they are going to deprive themselves of knowing Yahowah.

When we began this program, I said one of the things that is ubiquitous in everything that Yahowah says about His return is that that remnant that survives that greets Him will call out to Him by name. They will acknowledge Him by name. So the one day that all who survive will all acknowledge and know Yahowah, the one day that you can approach Yahowah in the sense of being reconciled in your relationship with Him is Yowm Kipurym. So He just told you that on the day that He is returning

“It shall be (wa hayah – it will exist as) the one (‘echad – only exclusive and unique, the certain and explicit) day (yowm) which (huw’ – more typically rendered “He”) is known (yada’ – is revealed and shown, understood and acknowledged, distinguished and discerned) to approach (la – according to) Yahowah (efei – the pronunciation of YaHoWaH as guided by His towrah – teaching).” (Zakaryah / Remember Yahowah / Zechariah 14:7 in part)

Yowm Kipurym. Simple, straightforward, irrefutable, obvious.

Yada’, translated “is known,” tells us that Yahowah “is revealing this to us so that we realize and acknowledge it, even understand it.” This is the day of Yahowah’s return, something that should be “acknowledged and known” by everyone. And yet there’s not one in a million people that understand.

By using the phrase “it shall be the one, certain and unique day which He becomes yada’ | known,” we have yet another affirmation that Yahowah’s return is tied to the day when Yisra’el’s and Yahuwdah’s relationship with God is reconciled – when He becomes known to the remnant of His people.

How do we know that this is the day that Yisra’el and Yahuwdah are reconciled? Why couldn’t it be the gowym church, the Fakestinians, they claim the Land for themselves, right? The Christians have a problem too in that their god is Jesus Christ, not Yahowah, and they are expecting Jesus the Christ to return and not Yahowah to return. More than all that, to understand anything in the Towrah, Prophets and Psalms, one has to byn | understand which means you make connections between things to understand them. There is a statement in the Prophet Yirma’yah 31 that explains all this. It says that Yahowah will be restoring and renewing His Covenant relationship with Yisra’el and Yahuwdah. That’s it. He says, “I’m going to be restoring My Covenant relationship, renewing, reaffirming and restoring it with Yisra’el and Yahuwdah, not anybody else.” That doesn’t necessarily exclude gowym from being part of the Covenant, but the Day of Reconciliations is exclusively positioned towards Yahowah as He has promised, particularly to ‘Abraham, Yitschaq, and Ya’aqob, which is to restore His relationship with Yisra’el and their descendants and particularly with Yahuwd and Yahuwdym/Jews. And Yahowah says, “My Covenant is not going to be exactly the same as the one enjoyed and affirmed with ‘Abraham.” God explains precisely how it’s going to differ, and that is while God shared His Towrah with ‘Abraham, ‘Abraham had the opportunity to accept or reject it. Every one of us since that time in 1968 BCE has had the exact same opportunity. It is not the god-forsaken torah written in Babylon. It is the written Towrah handed to Mosheh on Mount Choreb at the conclusion of the exodus from Mitsraym. It is essential to recognize that the one difference is from that time, speaking of the time of ‘Abraham when the Towrah was explained and shared with ‘Abraham to the time it was put in writing for us through Mosheh, we’ve all been in the position where we can accept or reject the Towrah. We can even do something stupid like replace it with either a “New Testament” or “Talmud”, or even dumber still, a Qur’an. If we wish to incorporate it into our lives, that is our business, and we do so by observing and accepting it.

Upon His return, Yahowah is going to do something different vis-à-vis the Covenant. He’s going to write a copy of His towrah inside us integrating it into our lives, which is a good thing because we now are going to be seven-dimensional constructs and with all that we’re going to need some guidance as to get the most out of this infinite expansion of our capabilities. That is the difference between now and then.

You might say why didn’t Yahowah just write a copy if the towrah inside us ... negates freewill, and at that point you can’t deny it and have no choice. So you can say okay how can He write it inside us then without usurping free will? By then the only ones who are going to accept Yahowah, receive, declare and embrace Yahowah’s name are those of us who have made that choice to be part of Yahowah’s family, and now all we want is the guidance that His towrah will provide. It’s not about rejecting it, making decisions about what we are going to do with Covenant or the Miqra’ey/Invitations, we’ve made our decision, we’re delighted with it and now we’re seeking ...

I don't have the words to properly explain because, frankly, no one can fathom how great a leap it's going to be to go from being a three-dimensional being to a seven-dimensional being, going from a physical being to a spiritual energy-based being, but I can tell you that each step along the way is an infinite increase. Again with the Mickey Mouse example, in flatland they cannot fathom what depth would be like, how it would be an infinite increase to have the world go not just from right to left in flatland, but also up and down. That's an infinite increase. And so for them to go from two to three is an infinite increase just like it is for us to go from three to four, and its infinite again to go from four to five and it's an infinite increase again to go from five to six and it's infinite again to go to Yahowah's realm, which is seven dimensions. So it's infinity times four which is a concept way beyond our capacity particularly since the 3D world that we understand is 96 billion light years across. We're definitely going to want the towrah inside us, Yahowah's guidance, to be able to enjoy all that as opposed to it being totally and completely overwhelming.

All of this known, there are seven "special days" on Yahowah's annual calendar. So in a general sense, we can be assured that He is telling us that His return will coincide with one of these unique days. But since the first four Miqra'ey were fulfilled in order in 33 CE during year 4000 Yah, Pesach Yahowah served as the Passover Lamb, on Matsah He sent His soul into She'owl to ransom us so that we could justly be resolved of our iniquity. He then was released from She'owl and exposed what it will be like to be a spiritual-based being reborn spiritually on Bikuwrym where He was able to transport Himself from one place to another in the blink of an eye, one was dimensions apart the other was seven ___ apart, and He then fulfilled Shabu'wah enriching and empowering His Covenant family so that they would be more effective troubadours come Trumpets. So the first four of Yahowah's Miqra'ey were fulfilled on time in year 4000 Yah. That leaves us with three.

The first unfulfilled Miqra', Taruw'ah, is one of three harvests. It is specifically to harvest the set apart/ Qadowshym that are coming back with Yahowah, and Yahowah's return is after they have been harvested (otherwise they couldn't be returning with Him), so it is not Taruw'ah. And since Yahowah's pattern has been to fulfill the Miqra'ey in chronological order, there is but one day on God's annual calendar which meets the Zakaryah 14:7 criterion and is consistent with His pattern: the one day that Yisra'el and Yahuwdah will be able to approach Yahowah because they come to know Yahowah, Yowm Kipurym. Further, of the remaining unfulfilled possibilities, Sukah | Shelters is symbolic of the Millennial Shabat, of us returning to the conditions experienced during 'Eden and camping out with Yahowah. It is not just a day, but instead an eight-day celebration that will be celebrated over one thousand years between 6000 and 7000 Yah. Therefore it's Yowm Kipurym, which is one of only two days that has a "yowm" in the title, Yowm Taruw'ah and Yowm Kipurym.

Therefore, Yowm Kippurym, which is the only Miqra' with yowm | day emblazoned in its name, "shall be the one yowm He becomes known according to Yahowah." But what year is the question?

Everything in the Towrah, Prophets and Psalms points to the pattern of six (mankind) plus one (God) equals seven (perfection). We are even told that a day is like a thousand years to Yahowah. It is all laid out for us throughout His witness.

Between the genealogies revealed in the Towrah, history, and archeology, we know that ‘Adam and Chawah were escorted out of the Garden of ‘Eden in 3968 BCE. Yahowah met with Noach to discuss the impending deluge that would flood the region of the world in which men with a neshamah lived in 2968 BCE. This date is affirmed by the discovery of the Burckle meteor crater in the Indian Ocean off the coast of Madagascar where the resulting tsunami and the welling up of sea water rushed up the Tigres-Euphrates Rivers and instantly turned the Black Sea from fresh water to saltwater raising the water level 500 feet and then flooding the area of ‘Eden and the area where the first human civilizations had formed rushing out and forming the (Bozrah)? Straits. That occurred at this time and, even the description of the flood actually says that it will be precipitated by an upswelling of deep-sea water.

The Covenant was confirmed with ‘Abraham on Mount Mowryah in 1968 BCE, forty Yowbel after ‘Adam left ‘Eden. In 968 BCE, the cornerstone of Yahowah’s Temple on Mount Mowryah was laid.

Then exactly forty Yowbel after ‘Abraham’s prophetic dress rehearsal for Pesach with the passover lamb, Yahowah fulfilled the Miqra’ey of Passover, UnYeasted Bread, and Firstborn Children in 33 CE, exactly 40 Yowbel. That same Yowbel year, the fourth Miqra’, Seven Shabats, was fulfilled on the appropriate day, further establishing a pattern. There is even some evidence that the waters under the Temple were poisoned in 1033 CE, reflecting the BaMidbar / Numbers 5 divorce decree where it says the test for divorce is whether the waters are poisonous, and they were at that time.

Out of the ashes of the Holocaust, Yisra’el was reborn. Just as Yahowah had foretold, His people returned to the Land. And the next Yowbel year just so happens to be 40 Yowbel from the fulfillment of the first four Mow’ed Miqra’ey – 2033. It’s so straightforward and easy and obvious. Where in the world are the rabbis? Why can’t they figure any of this out? I guess it’s because they don’t want to. The worst thing that can happen to a rabbi is the worst thing that can happen to a Christian - Yahowah ... and you are in serious trouble.

Forty depicts throughout the Towrah and Prophets the completion of a time of testing. It rained for 40 days and 40 nights, the Yisra’elites roamed the desert for 40 years. It’s repeated throughout the Towrah and Prophets. They were enslaved in Egypt for 400 years. Forty is just ubiquitously presented as a time of testing. And Yowbel is essential because qara’ / Leviticus right after presenting the Mow’ed Miqra’ey, the Seven Invitations to Meet with Yahowah, explains the purpose and nature of the Yowbel. And the Yowbel year ($7 \times 7 + 1$) represent the time debts are forgiven, everyone is freed / yatsa’, and the Land returns to God to be redistributed to His people ...

KIRK: Why does so much of this not resonate with people? I mean I’ve told this to multiple people and read this and know it fairly well off the top of my head. It’s like, “Uhm, how much knowledge do you have to?” and the other stuff you were covering before is scientific, the Flood and all.

I want to be careful here because while the calendar is easy to explain so that you understand when Yahowah fulfilled each of His promises, when He’s going to fulfill His promises when He returns is straightforward, the science of the creation account were six 24-hour days and 14 billion years are the exact same length of time relative to the observer, and Yahowah tells the creation story from the point of creation we know now from the background radiation at the Big Bang that time was stretched 10 to the 12th power which means when you do the math and divide 14 billion years by 10 to the 12th power you get six 24-hour days. The science of all this, the upwelling of sea water, which is what Yahowah said precipitated the Flood, and now we find the Burckle Impact Crater causing exactly that at that time and in this place. All of these assurances are only helpful in that they prove to any open-minded and rational person that God Himself inspired the Towrah and Prophets, whose words we are studying, but they are not the message of the Towrah and Prophets. They are the affirmations, as were countless prophecies where God predicted well in advance of this occurrence what He was going to do, like for example I'm returning on Yowm Kipurym in year 6000 Yah. He made it very clear what He was going to do and what's going to happen between now and then, all of which witnessing materialize right before our eyes. All of that exists to prove that we can trust what He revealed in the Towrah, Prophets and Psalms, but that's not the message of the Towrah, Prophets and Psalms. The message is the Covenant, and that God created this universe and conceived life because He wants to enjoy a family relationship with us. He wants to adopt us into His family and wants to make us immortal so we can spend eternity with Him. He wants to perfect us so we can enter His company and then make us part of His family, adopting us into His family and then on Shabuw'ah enrich, empower and enlighten us so that we can speak on His behalf on Taruw'ah and ultimately then He can reconcile His relationship with His people, Yisra'el and Yahuwah on Yowm Kipurym, and then collectively we return to the conditions experienced in Eden. That entire story is told to us so that we might not know where we have been but where we are going. And that is the condition we are going to experience in Eden, and we are going to celebrate for 1,000 years. That's the message. You'll notice how I went from the Covenant to the Miqra'ey because it is the Miqra'ey which provide the benefits of the Covenant, and it is through the Miqra'ey that we are able to meet the conditions of the Covenant.

The Covenant has five conditions: 1) We walk away from religion and politics. 2) We disassociate from Babylonian influences. 3) We walk to God and allow Him to perfect us, which happens on Matsah. It is such a shame that Judaism has corrupted Matsah. They no longer celebrate Matsah. It's just a missing ingredient in Pesach. The day most responsible for removing the stigma, stain and stench of religion, Matsah is no longer celebrated in Judaism, precluding Jews of the opportunity to be perfected by Yahowah. It's not celebrated by Christians either, but that's another story. It is by these conditions of the Covenant that we come to trust and rely on Yahowah which you can only do when you come to know and understand Him. This is the day that Yahowah is yada'/known how that becomes the third condition of the Covenant. 4) For us to closely examine and carefully consider the terms and conditions of the Covenant so that we know precisely what God is offering and expecting in return. If you are religious, you would hate Heaven. There's not going to be any religion there, no prayers, no Talmud, no New Testament, nobody who is bowing down, no celebration of Hanukkah, Purim, Rosh Hashanah, Christmas or Easter. You won't know anybody there; you won't speak the language and everything you cherish will not exist and will in fact be condemned. So it's important to know what God is offering. I happen to love what He's offering. I'm looking forward to being in a world without religion, politics, militarism and conspiracies. We get to camp out with Yahowah and explore the universe with Him, that's the condition that existed in Eden. 5) To circumcise our sons as parents on the eighth day so that we remember to raise them to be part of Yahowah's family. That is our single biggest responsibility as parents. That way we understand Yahowah's role as our Father and the Set-Apart Spirit as our Mother so that we understand exactly what God is attempting to achieve with His family in the Covenant. These things are made possible because of the seven Mow'ed Miqra'ey which are invitations for us to meet with God, most of which are inverted or completely destroyed in Judaism, and of course not even acknowledged in Christianity.

It's so essential that Jews recognize that they are not honoring Yahowah. On Passover they celebrate it as freedom from Egypt. It's actually liberation from Mitsraym / the Crucibles of Religious and Political Oppression. That is not the purpose of Passover. God explains about Passover. It's about life; Pesach is the door to life. The Lamb dies so that you can live. If you're not celebrating Passover as the door to life and understanding the role of the Passover Lamb, you're not benefiting from it. The Passover Seder is a medley of vegetables with an inedible bone put somewhere on the plate. What did Qayn offer? A medley of vegetables. So the Seder rabbinical style is of Qayn's rejected offering. As I mentioned, Matsah, which is by far the most important day, that's why those three days Pesach, Matsah and Bikuwrym are known as Chag Matsah. Matsah is the essential celebration and is the one of utmost importance because it is where we are perfected so that we can enter God's presence, but it is no longer celebrated by Jews and is simply a negated ingredient in their diet. In Judaism, Bikuwrym is not even mentioned, which is where we are born into Yahowah's family and Covenant.

Shabuw'ah is no longer celebrated by religious Jews either. I suppose they don't like this association with the Christian Pentecost, which is because the Christians corrupted it doesn't mean that they should ignore it. And then, of course, on Taruw'ah there is no acknowledgement whatsoever of Taruw'ah, but is celebrated culturally and religiously by Jews as Rosh Hashanah which is the Babylonian corruption. Then you get to this day, Yowm Kipurym, and it is a "day of affliction, of atonement", a day of denying oneself, a day of fasting. From Yahowah's point of view, it is the happiest day in the history of the universe, a day His relationship with His children ... and if that isn't a celebration to you then ... you're not going to like Yahowah or be any part of His family. Sukah, of course, is when we get to return to the conditions of Eden where we get to camp out with our Heavenly Father. This is His timeline. It is all presented there for us to know.

Therefore, we can reasonably deduce that the "one, exclusive, unique, and certain day" in which Yahowah will become known is Yowm Kippurym in 2033 – year 6000 Yah.

Further, Mizmowr / Psalm 102 speaks prophetically to the detail of the Holocaust (1932-1945) and states that the generation which experiences it will be the last. So to determine how long after the Holocaust Yahowah's return could be, and still be witnessed by the same generation, it is instructive to know that the average life expectancy among Jews who survived the Holocaust was 85 years, with their direct descendants expected to live 88 years on average. And the maximum life expectancy, and thus the far extremity of the prophecy, of a Jewish person living today is known to be around 105 to 107 years. Philadelphia resident Herbert Brown, a 105-year-old Jewish Dachau Concentration Camp survivor, and his 100-year-old wife, Magda, were the oldest-living married couple in 2005. In October 2007, Jewish Caricaturist Boris Efimov celebrated his 107th birthday in a Moscow synagogue. Therefore, we should expect Yahowah's return to be 88 years after 1945 which is 2033, and no later than 2050. The year 2033 is a Yowbel year and is precisely the length of the average generation from the end of the Holocaust in 1945. So God not only knows the day He's going to return He made it possible for us to discern this date from His word, convert it to our pagan Gregorian calendar, and His arrival will occur at sunset In October 2, 2033, and in a moment Yahowah will reveal the exact time, right down to the minute, as we proceed through His testimony.

The Yada Yah Series is available online, free of charge at yadayahowah.com and yadayah.com. Each of the 22 books now rewritten is presented in its entirety so that you can read them on your computer, your tablet or smartphone. You can also purchase the books in either paperback or hard copy from Amazon for just the small cost of printing $12.00 to $13.00 for each paperback, and a few dollars more for the hard backs per copy. The Kindle version is at a cost of under one dollar, and they are all royalty free.

We are sharing with you now from Volume 6 of the Yada Yah series, which is called Appointments from Mow'ed, and is the third of a series of volumes just on Yahowah's seven Invitations to Meet just as there are three volumes of Yada Yah devoted entirely to the Beryth/Covenant. There's a volume devoted to the Creation account, In the Beginning, A volume devoted to life in Eden because it's so essential to know where we're going and why Yahowah created us, called Man, there is a volume early on devoted to the Covenant called Family, and then from there we move into the Yada Yah Series on the Mow'ed Migra'ey. We have recently published the first two volumes of An Introduction to God. It's the best place to start if you are newly listening to this and you want to get to know Yahowah. Volume one contains a number of valuable things if you are just beginning to disassociate yourself from religion and politics and are desirous of knowing who the Creator of the Universe is, what He is offering and what He is asking in return. We will walk you through the source material so you will know what the Masoretic text is, what the oldest versions are and what they date to, what the Dead Sea Scrolls are comprised of, when they were found and how they differ from the Masoretic text, then we'll go through the Hebrew language and explain its unique grammar with its stems, moods and conjunctions, how it is a relational and volitional language in which time is liberating like light such that every verb is simply true throughout time. We will even explain the characterization of each of the 22 letters so that you know how the original script for those letters actually defines the words themselves which are comprised of them.

Also in Volume One of Introduction to God we do something that is so essential to Yahuwdym/Jews. You are our target audience because you are Yahowah's target audience, and we work for Him. We explain why you and why I am the person who is serving as a witness on your behalf for Yahowah. Why You? Why Me? Me is really now us. We have Kirk helping out on this program and a team of people with fact checkers on what is in these volumes as well as editors. We have an exceedingly diligent publisher who makes the volumes available to you in a timely fashion. We now have a group of women who are devoted to the distribution of this material making people aware of it through social media. I think the audience they invited to today's program is from Southern California. So we do have a group now as a team, a family that is collectively witnessing now on behalf of Yah in calling you home.

So that's what you'll find in Volume One along with a very thorough presentation of what the Towrah has to say about the Towrah. We move into Volume Two to convey what the Proverbs and Psalms have to say about the Towrah. Soon-to-be-published Volume Three contains six chapters devoted to the 119th Mizmowr/Psalm. I am writing about what the Prophets say about the Towrah because the Towrah is Yahowah's guidance, teaching, and directions. So those three volumes would be the place to start and then read the volumes on Yahowah's Mow'ed Miqra'ey.

If you're coming out of Christianity and need an explanation that there's very little if nothing of value in your New Testament, reading the four volumes of Questioning Paul will certainly take you to that conclusion. No one who has ever read Questioning Paul has remained a Christian. It uses God' words to expose and condemn Paul's words.

If you're coming out of Islam, good for you. That's a tough religion to leave because "good" Muslims are ordered to kill peaceful Muslims or anyone who rejects their faith. For you the book that best explains the hideous nature of Islam by using the Hadith to reorder the Qur'an chronologically and such of Mohammad's life is Prophet of Doom.

So we have you covered no matter where you're coming out of. If you're coming out of rabbinic Judaism, you're going to find the An Introduction to God series followed by Yada Yahowah. These volumes will do the best job of getting you from here to there.

Next week we're going to do something we very seldom do. In the Olivet Discourse there is a corruption of this passage that we just read, "No one knows the time and the hour." We're going to show that that was just a very bad translation of Zakaryah 14 where God says, "This is the exact day that I will be returning." We'll begin there and conclude our presentation of Zakaryah, then we'll transition this program into the coverage of the Day of Reconciliations from the point of view of the last of the Prophets, Mal'aky/ Messenger.

I am translating for the seventh or eighth time Chapter 1 of Yasha'yah/Yahowah Liberates, Delivers, Saves. It is an indictment on Judaism, and is very clear on why God hates Judaism. Don't gloat if you've come out of Christianity because every part of the indictment of Judaism also condemns Christianity. It is a powerful statement as to why God despises religion, particularly days like this turning of Yowm Kipurym from this spectacular day where Yahowah is known and can be approached by His people and where the relationship is reconciled, the day that Yahowah returns with Dowd/David to this planet, and the rabbis moronically have turned it into a day of affliction, abasement and denial. They have denied everything including knowing Yahowah.

KIRK: One thought on yowm. I never paid much attention to it but there's no way you could think of the yod as anything but Yahowah reaching down with an open had to lift us up to increase us, our intellect and out soul. The mem is the water-cleansing life. How can you turn that into a day of affliction?

YADA: It's actually the hand of Yah, who is our Heavenly Father, the mem is the cleansing and life-saving nature of water, the mal'ak of the Set-Apart Spirit. So it's our Heavenly Father and Spiritual Mother with a wah in between, which means to increase and to secure. That's a pretty good word.

KIRK: What a great way to spell day.

YADA: Yowm is a good thing. It is a time of increasing light. We're enlightened where we can more readily and easily read the Towrah, Prophets and Psalms.

That's it for our program this week. If you are one of the new listeners from Southern California, welcome. I grew up there and Kirk lives in northern part of the state. If you are a Yahuwdaym/Jew listening to this program, and you are neither an Orthodox, Ultra-Orthodox or Progressive Jew, progressiveness destroys a person's ability to think rationally and to make evidence-based decisions. It is the political dogma of make-believe, and unfortunately for them all of their make-believe opinions are the antheses of what's true, so the reason they reject evidence and reason is because evidence and reason is wholly in conflict with their conclusions.

One of the things that has always befuddled me about Christianity is that everything that God says is contrary to the religion. All reason is contrary to the religion so why would you put your faith in something that is obviously untrue? We began Questioning Paul by saying, "I'm going to give you 20 things, and any one of these 20 things individually prove that Christianity ... There was no Jesus, the person you are calling "Jesus" was not the Messiah therefore he cannot be "the Christ", therefore there cannot be any Christian or Christianity, he wasn't the Son of God. The Son of God is Dowd. Dowd is the Messiah, and His name is David. You've done everything wrong. God's name is Yahowah. The Lord is Satan's title, and you can't kill God. So this idea that God died for you and now you parade around with a symbol of a dead god on a stick is just not smart. You cannot, as a Christian, reason your way out of any of these 20 statements. You can present that all to them and if somebody is devoutly religious, it's like water off a duck' back. God's words do not affect a Christian.

The same thing is true of Progressives. A great example is that Progressives are almost universally in favor of supporting Black Lives Matter, and Black Lives Matter is a conspiracy. It has no correlation with fact. The reality is that if a black person is killed, 93% of the time it is at the hand of another black person. The problem isn't out there blaming a white person, the problem is in the community of the black culture. The black culture is killing themselves. This whole crusade of Black Lives Matter painting America as a racist nation is actually the least racist nation and the most opportunistic nation in the history of humankind. I'm not a patriot and I'm not saying it for any other reason than it's just obvious and true. But none of that resonates with the Progressives. It's just like the only nation where Jews and Muslims coexist with both Jews and Muslims having the right to vote, the right to health care, the right to education, and can both be citizens is in Israel. There isn't an Islamic country where Jews have any rights and yet in Israel Muslims can be full citizens. So to call that country an "apartheid state" is to be completely ignorant of reality. And then to say, "Muslims are discriminated against," you have a tendency to discriminate against people who are overtly trying to kill you ... children is teaching them how to handle an AK47 and teaching them to recite slogans that specifically call for killing Jews. You can't speak of Jews occupying Palestine because there is no Palestine, and never was. The last of the Philistines died

2,500 years ago, so this notion there is a Palestine, and a so-called Palestinian is completely ignorant and total disregard for evidence and reason. And yet the Progressives manage to form opinions that have no correlation to that which is true. So the problem with Amnesty International as we close this program is not anti-Semitism, it's anti-intelligence.

I would wish to everyone listening that they would come to yada' Yahowah as we have. He is worth knowing, trustworthy and dependable, exceedingly kind and generous, delightfully fun to be around, totally emancipating and liberating, and empowering and enriching. Every possible thing that you could ever want that has any lasting meaning in life, He is offering. Even the things He is asking of us in return are all for our benefit.

Shabat Shalom, thank you Kirk for being with us this evening and for all those working behind the scenes to make this witness possible. Good night.