If I guessed at a word, it was followed by a ()? A ___ (blank line) indicates I could not understand the word or phrase and three periods ... indicate an interruption in the dialogue of one party by another. Thank you for your understanding. MK

Good evening. Welcome to Yada Yah Radio. We're here with Kirk this evening. There is news today that is amongst the scariest that I have heard in a long time. It is exactly as I had said it would be four months ago. I'm just overwhelmed that not only has this administration, as well as republicans, gone along with this nightmare scenario, but that the average American and indeed every person around the world is completely baffled by what the reality is in the events in the Ukraine.

The United States is gloating now that we gave the Ukrainians the location of the Moskva. That was the pride of the Russian ... fleet, the largest warship that has been destroyed since WWII. We gave them the coordinates. We are also gloating that we have given them the location of Russian generals who have been killed in battle. We're gloating that we have given them some 30-billion-dollars worth of weapons and democratic congressmen are now talking on the news about the fact that we are at war with Russia.

For the United States to declare war on Russia, for us to provide 30 billion-dollars of weapons to kill Russians, to sink Russian ships, to use the Ukraine as a proxy for war against the nation with the most nuclear weapons in the world is utterly insane.

If you were to go back five years ago before COVID, before the myth of climate change and the globalization that results from it, before the degeneration of our currency and economy, before the United States provoked Russia into a war that this administration is gleeful about fighting, prior to all that I would have said, "I do not, frankly, understand how we can go from where we are to where the world is predicted to be by the late 2020s into 2033." It didn't seem possible. It didn't seem possible that we would have to give up on our currency and go to a new electronic currency. It didn't seem possible that we could really have the global reset that I've been talking about for the past twenty years. It didn't seem possible that we could have a nuclear war. It didn't seem possible that we could destroy our currency and bankrupt our country. But our response to COVID, our taunting of Russia and this desire of this administration to engage in war, all of it, puts it now to the point where I would tell you I don't know how we make it to 2033.

KIRK: I've been thinking the same thing. You heard about what Russia threatened England with, right? Whether it's true or not, I can't imagine it is not, to be honest with you. They have a 100 megaton nuclear bomb on their submarines and have said, "If we hit into certain spots along the coastline it will cause such a tsunami that it will wipe out England." All I could think about was years ago when you were writing about something 'falling down in there and it will cause this great tsunami going eastward and westward,' and I was thinking that could just as easily be it. You push them enough and they will do it.

YADA: Yes. You've got Biden and his son profiting from the Ukraine, and now we know it's for certain that's what occurred, he lied about it as well. Hillary Clinton, having blamed her loss to Trump on the myth of Russian interference, and so you have the democrats hell-bent on a war on behalf of the Ukraine against Russia, and the democratic congressmen are actually saying that, 'We're going fight this war and we're going to supply an open checkbook, whatever it takes in terms of weapons so that there is absolute victory.' And we're using the Ukraine as a proxy; we're not trying to save people in the Ukraine, if we had wanted to do that we would have recognized this as the Cuban Missile Crisis and would have simply said, "You're right. We're not going to make the Ukraine part of NATO, we're going to demilitarize the Ukraine, there's no reason for war." That's what we should have done, but we did the opposite. We're not the peacemakers, we are the war mongers.

So what's going to happen? Do you think that the president of Russia, Putin, is going to say, "Hey, it's all good. Yes, you've supplied all the information to sink the pride of our fleet, you supplied the information to kill our generals, you supplied anti-tank and anti-aircraft, you've supplied so many weapons that you are now short of them, but we're just going to overlook all that. We're going to all be buddies in the end, no problem?" Hell no!

We've ignited the fuse for WWII and in addition to that, we've taken a country that was already bankrupt and have absolutely torched it. World-wide food shortages, runaway inflation world-wide all because of this comatose administration. You can't impeach the idiot because the vice president is easily the least qualified person to ever hold that seat in the history of this country. I cannot even imagine a worse situation that we are in today.

The Department of Homeland Security announced that they have exactly what I have said they had, a "Disinformation Agency." Their job is to disseminate disinformation. It's the reason why most Americans are not only just befuddled by what's happened in the Ukraine between the United States and Russia, but are actually supporting the wrong side because we have silenced the voice of the Russian's one side and we are flooding the world with disinformation. Yes, we now have a Department of Disinformation.

You know that the U S interest rates hikes are now the largest in 22 years. Inflation is out of control. We have literally destroyed our economy and we did it in just two years. You have to give Biden some credit. He declared war with Russia, a nuclear-armed country, he's destroyed our currency, he's destroyed our economy, butchered everything associated with COVID, destroyed the work ethic in the country, and now he's giving speeches that say that anybody that is supporting Trump are the most dangerous people in the history of the United States. It is just stunning how far we have fallen, and it's not just the politicians, it's the rest of us; it's the majority of Americans that have fallen with them.

There is a leak out. Something that sent Edward Snowden into hiding in Russia because we threatened him with all manner of treasonous attacks because he had the good courage and good sense to tell us that our government was spying on us and had no respect for the U S Constitution. Now you have somebody who works in the Supreme Court that has illegally released a draft of what may end up being a reversal of Roe v Wade, and there is nobody that is asking for their head. It's a criminal act. It's a far more egregious act than what Snowden did. In fact what Snowden did was heroic; this is that antithesis of it.

I've stated my position on abortion many times. Yahowah is both pro life and He is pro choice, so I am pro life and pro choice. We have no way of knowing what God's view on this subject is because He didn't state His view but we can clearly infer that if an embryo / fetus is viable, than killing it is taking a life and anyone who does that on a regular basis is a murderer. Abortion in the third trimester by most any rational analysis is murder, and the people who ask to have it done and those who actually do it are murderers. In the first trimester it is not viable and I can certainly see why, you can't call her a mother, but a woman may want to abort. Clearly, bringing a child into the world as they are in so many communities where they are bred just to increase one's income tax credit. We don't call it welfare anymore, now we have "income tax credits." We have a disastrous rise in the population amongst those who don't have mothers and fathers to care for them, so I understand the free will involved in choice in the first trimester. The second trimester is the gray area. I can tell you that Roe v Wade was passed with a five-to-four vote, it looks like it's going to be overturned with a five-to-four vote, and I suspect there will be riots by the Left as a result. It's just too bad we can't find a reasonable and rational ground on this but it is one more way that the country is being split right down its core.

What other stories were you following in the news, Kirk?

KIRK: Mostly the demise of the dollar. You mentioned earlier that they want to get rid of, they want to have gold / silver. I don't know anything about bitcoin, to be honest with you, but they are going electronic. Cash will go away, so that gives them more opportunity to look at every transaction we make.

YADA: They will have total control over you which means they can stop your ability to access your own money, they can deplete your bank account, they can monitor everything you do. With electronic currency the government has ... Yep. And that's what they are intending to do.

We are moving to a period very quickly, and by 2030 Passover we will be there because Yahowah is doing something He has never done in all of human history, He's empowering two messengers and those two messengers will speak like nobody has ever spoken. They will speak in every language of the world. No matter what language they speak it will be heard in the language of the people that are listening to them. They will be impervious to attack; their response will be lethal to those who attack them, and I think that Yahowah is doing it and making these people visible the world over because the Libertards are going to have absolute control over the media and what can and cannot be said.

So I think that the days for Yada Yahowah, between now, it's 2022 that we are broadcasting this message, and probably 2029, we probably have seven years left of ... dissemination of this information freely at which time that will no longer be the case and the only witnesses on behalf of Yahowah will be 'Elyah, and likely Yada, for the three years between 2030 and 2033, when Yahowah returns. It's going to be a very small crowd. So if you are a Yahuw'dym and are listening to us, tonight, by the way our outreach is to the United Kingdom. We hope that you choose to return to Yahowah.

This is the statement that we were on when our program came to a conclusion last week. It is Yirma'yah 1:5, the last chapter of Volume 3 of An Introduction to God. The Introduction to God I wrote probably 10 – 12 years ago was a single volume designed at the time to help my son who was dating a young lady that was a marginal Roman Catholic. It was written to help explain where we go to find the oldest manuscripts, the nature of the Hebrew language and how we go about translating it, the unique nature of Hebrew stems which are relational, about the relationship between the subject and the object of the verb, the Hebrew conjugations which talk about ongoing or completed actions, the Hebrew moods which often talk about volition, the will of the speaker, the will of the person spoken to, or a third person, it is a language that is unconstrained by time so there is no past, present or future tense, and how the language is as it now reads in modern Hebrew of the 22 letters there are five vowels.

The Masoretic vowel pointing was a waste of time. The Yod, Hey, Wah, Ayin, and Aleph are all vowels in Hebrew. And it explains all that. It explains how to pronounce Yahowah's name and how we go about translating His Testimony. It grew, because our knowledge has grown, to three very long volumes. The longest is I think about 750 pages.

What brought us to this initially was the realization that every place we turned throughout the Towrah, the Mizmowr / Psalms of Dowd, and the prophets, God is consistently telling His people that in the end they are going to be so lost that He was given no other alternative but to communicate His message through a gowy and that gowy, depending when He's talking about him, is either one of the zarowa', he is a nakar / an observant and responsive foreigner, he is a choter / a sucker growing from the old root stock, he is a bashar / a messenger, a herald if you will, he is even referred to as a mal'ak / a messenger of God's spiritual testimony. He's not a prophet and is clearly is not a Yisra'elite, but everyplace we turn we see God speaking of this individual recognizing that for the better part of 2,500 years there hasn't been a single Yahuwd willing to listen to Yahowah to engage with Him, to share His Testimony with His people, so God was given no choice but to use a Gowym. And that's where we are, so we are sharing this word with you on behalf of Yahowah to His people, Yisra'el and Yahuwdah.

And so now (wa) the Word (dabar) of Yahowah (YaHoWaH – our 'elowah | God as directed in His ToWRaH | teaching regarding His HaYaH | existence and our ShaLoWM | restoration)

It sickens me when I see Jews write “G-d.” They can't even say God for crying out loud, and God isn't even a name! There isn't a single religious or progressive Jew anywhere that is willing to say Yahowah's name. That reminds me of something in the news.

The foreign minister of Russia said something this week that caused Jews everywhere to have a conniption fit. He was asked, “How is it possible that the president of the Ukraine is Jewish and yet you claim that he supports neo-Nazis?” The foreign minister of Russia said, “That's not surprising. For a very long time Jews have been the most aggressive anti-Semites, the worst anti-Semites. I even believe that Hitler had Jewish blood.”

Here's the truth. Progressive Liberal Jews in America are grossly anti-Semitic. It's about half the Jewish population in America that is exceedingly anti-Semitic, anti-Israel, anti-Jew. It's the truth.

We don't know if Hitler had Jewish blood or not; there is more evidence in favor of it than against it. Hitler was afraid that he did. He hired a gentleman to check the records in the Austrian town in which he was born to determine if one of his grandmothers or grandfathers were Jewish. The individual who was tasked with this wrote a book and he told Hitler and the world that he had done what he was asked to do and he verified that Hitler did have Jewish blood, that his grandfather was Jewish. Hitler responded by destroying that town in Austria; I think it was the only Austrian town that the Third Reich destroyed. There was no motivation to destroy the town unless he was trying to destroy those records.

So that's the history we have. There's been DNA evidence that has been analyzed from hair from a number of Hitler's descendants and it is more likely than not, but the Left is just apoplectic over this issue.

It's very much like in the news when somebody will say, “It's been proven that the election was not fraudulent.” Every single journalist will say that. So in this case every single journalist will say, “The fact is history has been refuted.” No it hasn't. The evidence is overwhelming that Muhammad was Jewish. It's pretty hard to find a greater anti-Semite. The greatest anti-Semite of all time is Paul. He was clearly Jewish. In fact the Christian Jesus is an anti-Semite. He's Jewish. If you read what is attributed to Jesus ___ he's an anti-Semite. If you want to know the people who are most aggressive against Yahowah's name / shem, it's rabbis; they have outlawed it. It's true. The most horrible anti-Semites in the world are Jewish, but we just can't process that kind of information because it's not comfortable with us. So we have condemned Russia as being anti-Semitic when in fact they told us the truth.

The fact is that if you look at the militias that were killing Russians in the eastern part of the Ukraine, they were neo-Nazis. There was a higher percentage of armed Nazis, anti-Jews, in the Ukraine than there were in 1920 Germany. Their symbols are everywhere.

The Ukraine is the least-deserving nation on the planet to be defended. We don't want to know the truth. I'm no buddy of Putin. He, for all I know, is a narcissist, he could be psychotic, he may be an empath. I do know this: We have provoked this war and there is no turning back; it's going to lead to WWII and we brought it on ourselves. We have no business defending the Ukraine, sending them our weapons, or going to war against Russia. It was asinine

“And so now (wa) the Word (dabar) of Yahowah (YaHoWaH – our ‘elowah | God as directed in His ToWRaH | teaching regarding His HaYaH | existence and our ShaLoWM | restoration) came to literally and consistently exist as (hayah – it actually and continually came to be as (qal imperfect)) God to me (‘el ‘any), in order to say (la ‘amar – to share and affirm, to promise and convey), (Yirma ‘yah 1:4) ‘In the period before (ba terem – in advance of the time) I formed you (yatsar – I prepared you) in the womb (ba ha beten), I knew you (yada’ – I was aware of, familiar with, and chose you).

Before I read to the end of this, the first thing I would like to share is that when we read Ezekiel, one of the first things we read, even in Daniel, he is admitting that he is a student of the prophets, and he came to know what was going to happen based upon reading them. If a prophet tells you that he's reading a prophet so that he knows what's going to happen, and there's only forty people who have been prophets and there hasn't been on in 2,500 years, it's probably a good idea for the rest of us who are clearly not prophets to ... Just a clue there.

How does Yahowah know somebody before they are born? Yahowah is not constrained by time. He in our past can witness our future. He's not predestining us to destroy ourselves. He just says that's what you'll do. “I saw the way you reacted to COVID. I talked to you about pandemics and plagues of death. I saw what you did to your economy; that's why I told you about it. I saw what you did in terms of evoking nuclear war, and I'm telling you about it.” He has just reported in our past what He has witnessed in our future. The same thing is true with Yirma'yah.

The reason it's a big deal with Yirma'yah is that there's so few. It's always been the case. At any one time maybe one or two dozen are receptive to Yah. In most of human history the number of people at any one time that know Yahowah, were open to Him, receptive to what He was offering, willing to engage with Him, varies from zero to one. So the fact that Yirma'yah was willing to listen to Yah and to speak on behalf of Yah made him so unique that God said, “I knew you before you were born.”

That also means that there's something about this that should resonate with everyone, which is if Yahowah knew Yirma'yah before Yirma'yah was born, who initiated the relationship? Yahowah. When Dowd was in Bethlehem tending sheep and he was the eighth of eight sons and Yahowah went through the others, who initiated the relationship? Yahowah. Who do you think reached out to 'Abraham on the road to Haran away from ___? How do you think Noah came to receive instructions on how to build an ark? All the way through Yahowah picks the people He wants to work with. I think it is in our interest to study the character, personality, the response, look at Mosheh. Mosheh was in Arabia tending sheep in one of the most desolate places on Earth. You talk about godforsaken, he was there. Yahowah lights up the top of the mountain and says, "Hey you, Mosheh." Who initiated that relationship? It wasn't Mosheh. He didn't say, "God I want to serve you." No. God chooses people He wants to work with.

You can look at the life of Moses. Here he was was living in the lap of luxury in Mitsraym, he is part of Pharaoh's household; you couldn't have it better. It's one of the two or three super powers in that world and he's one of the top three or four people in that country. The entire country exists in his service and yet he sees a guard beating a slave and risks it all by standing between the slave driver and the slave to stop the slave driver from beating the slave to death, and in the process of stopping him, he kills the slave driver. That's character. That's being moral.

Mosheh is an extraordinary individual. There isn't one in a million people that would do that. This is a guy that is willing to stand up and go against the crowd, to do the right thing regardless of the consequences. And you listen to what Mosheh said in Dabarym. He's brilliant and articulate. So character counts with God. Having a backbone, being willing to stand up, not being wishy-washy, being bright and articulate. ___ Dabarym and you know that what Yahowah told Mosheh, He went from knowing to understanding. The same thing was true with Dowd. That's why this man was chosen to represent Yahowah as a prophet even before he was born.

And in the time before (wa ba terem) you were brought out of (yatsa' min) the womb of a loving mother and the point of origin (ba ha racham – the maternal gestation of tender affection and compassion), I set you apart as (qadash 'atah – I dedicated you to being special) a prophet (naby' – one who proclaims the message of God, a person who serves as a spokesman for God) to the people of different races and places (la ha Gowym – to the Gentiles).

You are My gift (nathan 'atah – I have provided, offered, and given you)." (Yirma'yah / Rise Up to Yah / Jeremiah 1:5)

It's the only place. There are forty prophets, both men and women, and it's the only place where Yahowah says, "I have commissioned you, set you apart as a prophet to the Gowym." That's pretty extraordinary.

KIRK: I made a note when I read it. Not only is that extraordinary, where are all the sermons of the people listening to Yirma'yah? ___ Paul? I think you're making a point later and I don't want to steal your fun ...

YADA: Isn't Paul that guy that said, "I Paul have been made ... apostle to the Gentiles?" Well God is ... saying "No... it's Yirma'yah. I have made you a prophet to the Gentiles." And He proved it. Paul is claiming what God has clearly given to Yirma'yah / Jeremiah. "You are the prophet to the Gentiles."

That doesn't mean that Yirma'yah is trying to solicit Gentiles or that Yahowah has replaced Yahuwdah with Gentiles because all the way through the primary subject of this prophetic book remains Yisra'el and Yahuwdah. The most important pronouncement in it is Yirma'yah 31 where Yahowah is saying that "I'm going to reestablish My Covenant relationship with Yisra'el and Yahuwdah." So how can he be the prophet to the Gentiles, a gift to the Gentiles, if the subject remains Yahuwdah? Because if you are a Gentile / gowy, (you and I are a gowy) there are a lot of gowy out there. If you are a gowy and you want to have a relationship with Yahowah, it has to be exactly as He described it through Mosheh to Yisra'el. If you want to be part of the reestablishment, the reaffirmation of the Covenant then you have to be part of Yisra'el and Yahowdah, you can't be opposed to them. If you want to understand Yahowah, you need to understand His relationship with and love for Yisra'el and Yahuwdah. The best way that Yahowah can communicate to the Gowym is to speak to them about Yisra'el; the bad, the ugly, and the reconciliation.

You are My gift (nathan 'atah – I have provided, offered, and given you).” (Yirma'yah / Rise Up to Yah / Jeremiah 1:5)

Isn't that true of every prophet? I look at Dowd, Noach, Mosheh, Shamuw'el as gifts, Yasha'yah, oh what a gift, Zakaryah, Mal'aky as gifts. Every time Yahowah reveals the future through a prophet it is a gift. We ought not discount what the prophets say when Yahowah says, “You are My prophet and you are my gift.”

Those who appreciate the nature of light realize that Yahowah can witness the past and future simultaneously; it's one of the great joys we're going to have when we are increased in capacity from being three-dimensional to seven. God literally telescopes time as He sees fit. God has, therefore, witnessed our future and reported in our past what He has seen so that we would be prepared and also recognize that we can trust Him. Those are the two reasons for prophecy.

Listen, the world is literally incinerating, the world is at war. And this time it's a war between two nations the have enough nuclear weapons to literally destroy the Earth 100 times over. That's where we are. Our currencies and economies have been destroyed. The credibility of even science has been destroyed with the way we responded to COVID in depriving people of their livelihoods and liberties. Misinformation rains enormous constraints on free speech. It's all true and it is falling apart at a record pace. So if you're not attuned to what's happening, then you're going to be among the casualties.

So God shared prophetic testimony for two reasons so that we wouldn't be blindsided, so that if we kept an open mind, eyes, and ears to what He said we would know exactly what was going to occur. How else do you think that it is possible that I could have explained the proper and improper response to COVID when no one else was able to do so three years ago and get it all right? How do you think that at the moment we were taunting Russia about the Ukraine that I could say, “This is what's going to happen and how it's happening” and get it right when no one else could? The reason is simple; I studied the prophets, I listened to Yah. I know what He says is going to happen, and when I witness it happening it's very easy to report to you what He has conveyed - the Great Reset even before the term was coined, all of it, even the destruction of our currencies. It is because God has told us what is going occur over these next eleven years. What a surprise.

Second, there was once upon a time, and now there are many of you who are listening now who will benefit from what I once benefited from, and that is a constant barrage of affirmations of God explaining what, when and why it's going to happen, and then we witness it happening. Then you have the Dead Sea Scrolls dating to 350 years BCE and now this lead tablet from Israel that dates back to 1400 BCE constantly affirming this is what God said, and then you witness it occur in history both past and present. So what God wants us to know is that the reason we can trust Him is that He alone can consistently predict the future because He is not predicting it but is simply reporting future history and each time when He does it, and He does it hundred of times, and each time it comes through exactly as He said, the only rational and informed conclusion is that we can trust what His prophets like Yirma'yah are revealing.

I said this once was meaningful to me and it no longer is, because I know Him so well that the last thing I need is more proof. He's my Dad, my boss, my friend, my inspiration, my God and my Father! We have a dynamic day-to-day relationship. It's like, "Okay, I'm going to take a sip of coffee out of this glass. Do I need proof that I'm holding a glass and that there's coffee in it after I've had half of it already? No! But if you're just coming to know Yahowah then it's all there for you. That's the reason there are 25 volumes, and growing. Understand that prophecy isn't just about the future, it's also about the past and for God to get every aspect of creation right, including the ..., ought to be affirming. You ought to trust Him.

This proclamation differs from the introduction to Yasha'yah in two meaningful ways – one of which is especially relevant. Not only is it vastly more personal, it identifies Yirma'yah as Yahowah's chosen witness to the "Gowym – Gentiles, the people from different races and places." Yasha'yah's introduction was written to Yahuwdym in Yisra'el and, specifically, addressed Yahowah's wayward children. In Yasha'yah, both the repulsively religious and the Gowym were presented as adversarial and destined to die.

Therefore, we should not be surprised that we find denunciations of the Babylonian religion throughout this book – including the use of "Lord" along with an covert condemnation of Christianity, Christmas, Easter, the notion of a New Testament, and the Madonna and Child and the Queen of Heaven. They are ubiquitous throughout Yirma'yah. He denounces Christmas, Easter, Christianity, the Mother of God. In that way he's speaking directly to the Gentiles. He says your religion is stupid.

This perspective regarding the intended audience of this book ought to have caused the whole world to pause because of what it portends. It means that Yahowah's angry rant against the religious establishment throughout the 23rd chapter of this prophetic pronouncement, with its crescendo being the scheme which replaced Yahowah's name with the Lord, was directed at Gentiles, and thus at Christians, and not just Jews. The same conclusion is also valid regarding the revelation that the Covenant has not yet been renewed, and that when it is, the Renewed Covenant will be predicated upon a literal and complete incorporation of the Towrah into our lives.

That may be the single, most profound prophetic revelation of all that the one prophet that actually speaks of the renewal of the Covenant says that it's reaffirmation will be based upon a wholesale integration of the towrah into our lives. If you have half or even a quarter of a brain, that means that there is a zero percent possibility that Christianity is true.

On a related subject, Yirma'yah | Jeremiah was actually what Sha'uwl | Paul falsely claimed – to be God's witness to the Gentiles. In this way, Yah's chosen prophet told us that we should reject everything Babel's false prophet, Paul, had to say. Christians carry around Jeremiah in their bibles, why can't they read it?

Returning to this introduction, we find that, like Moseh, Yirma'yah was a reluctant witness. He thought he was too young and perceived himself as anything but a linguist. And yet, unlike Moseh who was eighty at the time he was called to serve, Yirma'yah was but a teenager. Therefore, we can assume that, while age is irrelevant to Yah, and that young and old are both invited to proclaim His Word, the recognition that we are flawed implements is a common trait among effective witnesses.

There are many smooth-talking people that sound wonderful, believable, credible, seductive. God's not looking for that. He's looking for the person whose testimony is accurate, correct, biting, divisive, not sweet-sounding. He's not trying to be seductive, he's trying to be accurate.

The other reason is that he is not the great orator that Yahowah is looking for but somebody who is inquisitive, open minded, who is devoted to evidence and reason. So Yirma'yah said, "My diction is not so good, You can find someone surely who is better than me."

Moseh who was eighty at the time was called to serve, Yirma'yah was but a teenager. Therefore, we can assume that, while age is irrelevant to Yah, no matter how old or young you may be, you are all invited to proclaim His Word. The recognition that we are flawed implements is a common trait among effective witnesses.

"And I said (wa 'amar – so then I exclaimed), 'Alas, this cannot be ('ahah – this cannot be happening), Yahowah (Yahowah – written as directed by His towrah – teaching), my Upright One ('edon – any – my Foundation). Look (hineh – behold, be aware, and take note), I do not know (lo' yada' – I am unfamiliar with) how to speak appropriately (dabar – how to properly convey the word) because (ky) I am ('anky) a teenager (na'ar – young)." (Yirma'yah 1:6)

So then (wa) Yahowah (YaHoWaH – an accurate presentation of the name of 'elowah – God as guided by His towrah – instructions regarding His hayah – existence) spoke ('amar) as God to me ('el 'any), 'You should not say ('al 'amar), "I am ('anky) young (na'ar – a teenager)," because (ky) everyone whom, for sake of the relationship ('al kol 'asher), I am going to send you (shalach 'atah – I am dispatching you), you should go (halak – you should embark on that journey), and then (wa 'eth) everything (kol) which, for the benefit of the relationship ('asher) I instruct you (tsawah 'atah), you should consistently speak (dabar – you should communicate the word (piel imperfect))." (Yirma'yah / Rise Up to Yah / Jeremiah 1:7)

When we tell God, "I'm too young, I'm too old. My tongue is thick; I'm not eloquent. Surely you can find somebody better than me" what in the hell do you think you are doing? Do you think that the God who was smart enough to create the universe in six dimensions and conceive life using DNA is an incompetent boob who can't determine who He wants to work with? What are you thinking, Yirma'yah? The Creator God of the Universe is saying, "You're My guy," and you're going to tell him to find somebody else because you're not qualified? So you're smarter than Yah?

I understand the humility thing. In my case God wanted a witness in the Last Days to His people and when He said, "I want you to do this" my first response was that I wasn't qualified and oh by the way, "Everybody else who has done what You're asking is either dead or somewhere in a hole hiding and how do I know it's You God Who is asking because that really does make a difference?" So at least I didn't say I'm a dunderhead, I don't speak very clearly and have no confidence at all and you're an idiot for having chosen me. I might have thought that. "If you can demonstrate to me You are Who You say You are then I'm open to talks so long as we negotiate a couple ground rules."

That's as far as I pushed it and He quickly proved He was who He said He was, we went on, and it was the best decision I've ever made in my life. Looking back on it now I'm not sure that there was all that much free will in it. You might say that's pretty unfair, and it is. There was nobody else; this was a job by default. Because of the fact there was nobody else at the time, and hasn't been anybody else for most of the time since that time, and we're growing now as a Covenant family but even as a Covenant family there's not a whole lot of folks that want to take the lead and put up their head and take the risks that are associated with this job or even devote the necessary time to it. So you come to realize that because there's nobody else, God was not going to take no for an answer. He couldn't. Do you think

God was going to take “no” from Mosheh? Mosheh tried everything he had to get God to get somebody else. God wasn't about to take no for an answer because there was nobody else. The same thing was true with Dowd and Noach and at this point in Yirma'yah; there was nobody else. So you can complain all you want; it's not going to do you any good. At that point He does happen to be God and He knows what He has to have to honor the promises He has made to His people and if He wants to work with you, why fight it? He's God; He's fun to be around. There are no monetary rewards but the eternal ones are extraordinary.

Age is neither a liability nor an excuse when working with God. Our eloquence does not matter either. Yahowah is good with words, and He has been around a while, so we can depend upon Him when conveying His message. Moseh, who also claimed to be ineloquent, became the most brilliant orator the world has ever known. And Dowd, who began working with God at eight, was slaying giants shortly thereafter. While a witness to the prophets, I was not too young in my forties nor too old now in my sixties to share the word of God with His people.

With His response, Yahowah is also revealing that the prophet's words are His. He would direct Yirma'yah's footsteps and lips. What we read in the text of Yirma'yah, as was the case with Mosheh and Yasha'yah, God inspired.

Speaking of the Gentiles generally, and of what Babel represents specifically, Yahowah said...

“You should not be frightened by their presence (‘al yare’ min paneh hem – do not revere, respect, be awestruck by, or be afraid of their appearance) because, indeed (ky), I am (‘any) with you (‘eth ‘atah) to deliver and defend you (la natsal ‘atah – to keep you safe), prophetically declares (na’um – promises) Yahowah (Yahowah – God's name transliterated as guided by His towrah – instructions on His hayah – existence).’ (Yirma’yah 1:8)

And (wa) Yahowah (Yahowah – the proper pronunciation of YaHoWaH, our ‘elowah – God as directed in His ToWRaH – teaching regarding His HaYaH – existence and our ShaLoWM – restoration) reached out (shalach – He extended) His hand (‘eth yad huw’) and He touched me (wa naga’) on my mouth (‘al peh ‘any).

Then (wa) Yahowah (יְהוָה – a transliteration of YaHoWaH as instructed in His towrah – teaching regarding His hayah – existence) said to me (‘amar ‘el ‘any), Behold (hineh), I have bestowed and placed (nathan – I have given and produced) My words (dabarym ‘any – My message and statements) in your mouth (ba peh ‘atah).” (Yirma’yah / Rise Up to Yah / Jeremiah 1:9)

I guess that's the first thing you have to overcome. Mosheh didn't want to go back to mitsraym because they were trying to hunt him down and kill him. Dowd, when Saul was trying to kill him, was not very comfortable with that situation, he wasn't comfortable when the Philistines were trying to kill him. It is an uncomfortable place to be when you recognize that to speak for Yahowah most of the world is going to be against you; much of the world is going to threaten you. You've got to get to a place in your life where you just don't care what anybody else has to say and that you're going to speak for Yahowah regardless. It doesn't matter whether or not people you are speaking to capitalize on what you have to say or not, you're just going to do what is right. So with Yirma'yah He touched his mouth and Yirma'yah's words became Yahowah's words.

That's not the case with every prophet. I think to a large degree Dowd was inspired mentally so that Yahowah placed His spirit on Dowd, anointed him in His spirit, at eight years old, and Dowd was inspired to have that understanding and to convey his lyrics. I think Yahowah personally taught Mosheh to the point that Mosheh came to understand and therefore could speak for Yahowah.

But for most of us, it's about taking the time to read, study, observe, and consider the Towrah and Prophets and putting the pieces together to understand God so that our perspective is shared with Him so that we appreciate the Covenant as He does, that we are guided by the Towrah's Teaching, that we understand the purpose of the Miqra'ey and by doing those things we can be correct with God and we can speak boldly and bluntly about what God wants because we are speaking in a matter that is consistent with His Testimony. This is where Paul went astray. His every word was inconsistent with God's Testimony and yet he claimed to be an apostle.

What we have tried to do consistently throughout Yada' Yah is to translate God's message as clearly, accurately, and as completely as possible and then make the connections between other things that God has said to enhance understanding. It's a little different way of coming to the same place that our words become what Yahowah wants to convey.

There are some perks associated with Yahowah worth mentioning even if they cannot be itemized on a financial statement. And while some of the most extraordinary include eternal life with the most interesting, being perfected by the best,

By the way, I'm translating Dabarym 18, after Mosheh articulates the whole long list of religious things that God abhors, He says, “Come to be with Me such that you are correct and perfected.” The whole idea of the Covenant isn't that we become perfect on our own initiative but that we come to God and with Yahowah we allow Him to perfect us. That is one of the benefits of this job. Anybody who is Towrah observant, who answers the invitation, who accepts the Conditions of the Covenant is we are perfected by God by being right. The Third Benefit is that we are adopted into His Family. I'm quite certain there is no better family to be adopted into. We're empowered, enriched, enlightened, emboldened by God.

I have, for example, vociferously criticized the world's religions, political agendas, military engagements, nations, and conspiracies, even history's most beloved individuals, and I have never hesitated, never cowered, and never wavered or ducked. Confidence and courage, along with a spirit of adventure and exploration, a desire to learn and then share, are among the attributes that we gain in a relationship with our Heavenly father.

Yahowah's message continues to affirm that everything we read in this prophetic book, Yirma'yah, was inspired by God. And while that is reassuring for those of us who love Him and respect His Towrah, it's devastating news for Yisra'elite institutions and Gowym nations, particularly those influenced by Babel – which would be all of Christianity.

Addressing Yahowah's Teaching, the first of eleven times Towrah appears in Yirma'yah | Jeremiah is in the 8th verse of the 2nd chapter. Why do I care how many times Towrah appears in Yirma'yah? This is the last chapter of An Introduction to God and it concludes in Volume Three with what the prophets have to say about the Towrah. The reason it does that is that it dispels this notion in Rabbinic Judaism that the Talmud has somehow replaced the Towrah and that it is more vital in Jewish life. It annuals the concept of a “New Testament” in Christianity because if Yisra'el and the Towrah are still central to Yahowah's plan as He returns in Year 6000 Yah, 2033, then nothing else really matters. So we are going to continue along that theme, we're going to look at each of the 11 times that Towrah appears in Yirma'yah / Jeremiah. The first is the eighth statement of the second chapter. There we find Yahowah revealing His frustration with the religious establishment. It reads:

“The priests (ha kohen – the ministers) have not asked (lo' amar), ‘Where, and under what circumstances, should we expect to find ('ayeh – questioning where to look for) Yahowah (YaHoWaH – our 'elowah | God as directed in His ToWRaH | teaching regarding His HaYaH | existence and our ShaLoWM | restoration)?' because those who seized control over (wa taphas – as those who have been caught in the act of seeking to influence by placing something else above (qal participle)) the Towrah (ha Towrah – the signed, written, and enduring, towrah – way of treating people, providing the means to explore, find, and choose the source from which instruction, teaching, guidance, and direction flow, offering answers to facilitate restoration and return to that which is good, pleasing, beneficial, healing, and right, and that which causes us to become acceptable, and to endure, purifying us so as to provide an opportunity to change our thinking, attitude, and direction) do not know Me (lo' yada' 'any – they do not recognize or acknowledge Me and they do not respect or understand Me (qal perfect)).

So (wa) the shepherds (ra'ah – speaking of religious and political leaders tending and leading the sheep) have rebelled against Me and have become offensive (pasha' ba 'any – they are in open defiance, breaking away from Me to expand their power, becoming indignant and revolting by transgressing against Me).

Even (wa) the prophets, those claiming to speak for God (naby'), convey a revelation (naba') in conjunction with (ba) the Lord Ba'al (ha ba'al – the one who seeks to control by lording over, owning and possessing others, claiming religious or political authority over people).

But then afterward (wa 'achar – in the end and behind their backs), they do not themselves value or follow their way (lo' ya'al halak – they discount their guidance, and do not walk accordingly, becoming hypocrites regarding their Halakah)." (Yirma'yah / Rise Up to Yah / Jeremiah 2:8)

Damn! These are the priests, the people that Yahowah specifically told throughout the Towrah, "This is your God. I have set you apart as special, I have a specific job for you to work on My behalf and My people's behalf relative to two things, the Invitations to Meet so that they understand the purpose and can benefit from the Seven Mow'ed Miqra'ey. All of the symbolism related to My Family Home which has to do with the Covenant, and I want you to help resolve disputes based upon my Towrah guidance and teaching. Those are the things I've asked you to do. I don't want you to be distracted with money or land owning because you're not getting any. Just do this job. Your reward is going to be to live forever with Me if you focus on this job." That's what He asked of them. And what did the priests do? Starting with ... yes, they did everything backwards and became religious.

The priests today are the rabbis. The rabbis have usurped the authority of the priests. So they are saying, "Where and under what circumstances would we expect to find Yahowah?" They don't know. There isn't a rabbi alive that will say Yahowah's name. They despise Him and have no clue where to look for Yahowah. They went further and put a hyphen in the middle of G-d.

KIRK: They don't see that as anti-Semitic?

YADA: Shem means only one thing in Hebrew - "name." Anti-name. What name? Well it sure as hell ain't ... Shem. It ain't rabbi. It's Yahowah 7,000 times. They don't know because He doesn't exist in their Talmud and they wrote Him out of their Torah and their lives because of those who have seized power and control over the Torah by editing, changing it and replacing it with their Talmud and ... Jews like Paul replacing it with their New Testament. Likely Muhammad, by the way, Muhammad was a Jew, replaced it with the Qur'an.

So (wa) the shepherds (ra'ah – speaking of religious and political leaders tending and leading the sheep) have rebelled against Me and have become offensive (pasha' ba 'any – they are in open defiance, breaking away from Me to expand their power, becoming indignant and revolting by transgressing against Me).

How did they rebel against Him? Read this in context. “We don't know where to find Yahowah.” Yahowah is saying, “That's how they rebelled against me.” Removing Yahowah from His Towrah and from His People is rebellion against God.

I dare you to consider those two statements juxtaposed and come to any other conclusion than removing Yahowah's name from His Testimony, not even knowing where to find Him, is defined by God as rebellion against Him (pasha' ba' any – they are in open defiance, breaking away from Me to expand their power, becoming indignant and revolting by transgressing against Me). No greater crime.

Had Jews recognized Yahowah's name in the first century CE they would have recognized the Passover Lamb; there would have been no Christianity. There would have been no Rabbi Akiba, no bar Kokhba, no Roman assaults on Yahuwdah, no Diaspora, no pogroms, no abuse by the Roman Catholic Church, no Inquisitions, no ... none of it. If they had only respected Yahowah's name, had not revolted against Him, and come to recognize the work of the Passover Lamb none of it would have existed. If rabbis in Yathrib in 600 CE had shared Yahowah's name rather than their godforsaken Talmud stories, there would have been no Islam, no Allah, no Qur'an, no “Allahu Akbar,” no Islamic terrorists. These are the consequences of what they have done.

And then what God says is stunningly biting if your mind is open to the truth. The Lord Ba'al is Satan. The Lord is Satan.

Even (wa) the prophets, those claiming to speak for God (naby'), convey a revelation (naba') in conjunction with (ba) the Lord Ba'al (ha ba'al – the one who seeks to control by lording over, owning and possessing others, claiming religious or political authority over people).

That means the rabbis and Talmud are speaking for Satan. That means Paul and the books he inspired and wrote odes to Satan. It means the Qur'an is an ode to Satan, that Satan has become the god of religion. If you don't think so, why don't you read what happened when 'Eiyah / Elisha confronted the priests of Asherah and Ba'al? Asherah is the Queen of Heaven and the Mother of God and Madonna in Roman Catholicism. The Lord is the god of Judaism, Islam and Christianity. What happened when 'Eiyah confronted them? He accused their god of being Satan. And Yahowah said, “Every one of those priests I want you to kill.” So the same is of the pastors today in Christianity and the priests of Roman Catholicism. They are going to experience the same fate of Yahowah as did the priests that tried to foist The Lord on the people back in the days of 'Eiyah.

KIRK: I'm looking in an interlinear and this very verse in English, and it has the Hebrew underneath it and for the Lord it is vowel-pointed YHWH and the number, of course, is 3068 which is Yahowah. They know it. You have to vowel-point the heck out of it to come up with Adonai...

YADA: Adonai is a blatant replacement. It's ... there's no aleph, dalet, or nun in Yahowah. Adonai which is “my Lord” is not an errant transliteration of Yahowah, it's a blatant replacement with the same title that God is condemning here as being satanic. Good job, boys.

But then afterward (wa' achar – in the end and behind their backs), they do not themselves value or follow their way (lo' ya'al halak – they discount their guidance, and do not walk accordingly, becoming hypocrites regarding their Halakah).” (Yirma'yah / Rise Up to Yah / Jeremiah 2:8)

God is saying that the rabbis, today's Jewish leaders who claim to be speaking for god (G-d) and the sages of their people, that they are hypocrites; they are complete frauds. They say one thing and do another. Obviously, this is a broadside against religion. The priests, prophets and shepherds rebelling against and offending Yahowah while speaking on behalf of the Lord Ba'al / Satan acting like hypocrites in the process. They do not know Yahowah, they are not looking for Him, and they do not know even where to look for Him.

Moreover, rather than prioritizing the Towrah they have superimposed it and their religious text now takes precedence over Yahowah's guidance.

This indictment applies to each of the religions which attempt to derive their legitimacy from the Towrah and Prophets. Rabbis have replaced the priests, have claimed to be prophets and in the process of shepherding the people have written Yahowah out of their religion, lives, culture, and nation. Then they expanded their power by pretending to speak for God while actually serving the Lord and Adversary Ba'al with their Babylonian Talmud overshadowing Yahowah's Towrah. Misconstruing and misrepresenting God's Testimony, these scoundrels claimed authority that did not belong to them. These Hypocrites fooled Jews but not God.

And although the same accusations could be laid at the feet of Christian pastors and priests, and even recognizing that this prophetic book was addressed to Gowym, I think Yahowah is being consistent using His people's bad behavior to make an example of them. And that really is the story all the way through the Towrah and Prophets – Yisra'el exists as an example, both good and bad; what happens when you listen to God and what happens when you do not.

Not only was Sha'uwil | Paul the principal inspiration and author of the Christian New Testament (he actually wrote 16 books, two of which have been lost). Luke, who wrote Luke and Acts, was Paul's propagandist. It typically says that Paul had his posse recruit Mark so that he could get Mark to write the Gospel according to Paul.

Matthew was a Paulite and wrote under a pen name somewhere around 90 CE, twenty-some years after Paul's death to advance Pauline Christianity. So those four books, Acts, Matthew, Mark, and Luke plus the 14 Letters that have been retained that Paul wrote all collectively comprise more than two-thirds of the Christian New Testament. It is Pauline; the god is Paul. And, of course, Paul even admits to being demon possessed.

Paul was a failed rabbi, it was the failure of rabbis that caused the religion to take root in their soil and grow out of their God's testimony. Had they proclaimed Yahowah's name, there would have been no room for "Jesus." Had they acknowledged that Dowd was the Messiah and Son of God, the claims made of "Christ" would have died with him – especially if the rabbis had accepted and acknowledged Yahowsha' as the Passover Lamb.

Yesterday in Yisra'el I think there were four or six Israelis murdered by savage Muslims, 19-and 20-year-olds swinging axes and knives bludgeoning people to death in the name of Allah, who is Satan. Two were the fathers of six, and one was the father of five. One of the children asked, "Where's daddy?" The answer was, "He went to get the Messiah so that this doesn't happen any more."

Jews don't know their Messiah. The Messiah is not Jesus. He's the Passover Lamb. The Messiah is Dowd. The text clearly identifies him as the anointed Messiah, and it clearly identifies him as the one who is returning. It even tells us when he's going to return, and I'm going to tell you that nobody is "going to go get him." I think I have a pretty decent relationship with Dowd and a darned good relationship with Yahowah, and it's for darned sure that neither of them are going to listen to me if I say, "Hey. Would you please show up a little early because things are getting rough around here?" No. He's going to show up on Yowm Kipurym in Year 6000 Yah, sunset in Yaruwshalaim, at 6:22 pm, on what we call October 2, 2033. Nothing anybody says or does is going to change that nor is anybody going to change who the Messiah is.

We lie to our children. Come on, Israel, wake up!

Had the rabbis acknowledged that Dowd was the Messiah and Son of God, there would have been no "Jesus Christ."

As for Islam, the Qur'an is the product of rabbinical malfeasance. Rabbis profited by selling their Talmud stories to Muhammad, which he used to make his Qur'an recitals appear credible. Without these stories, the allure of his authorization to rob and rape the world with Allah's blessing, there would not have been a jihadist, much less millions of them.

And then adding insult to injury, there is Rabbi Akiba – the founding father of Judaism – with his pronouncement of the false Messiah which precipitated the Roman invasion and resulting Diaspora. It takes a special kind of stupid to venerate such a deplorable fellow. And yet that is the nature of Rabbinic Judaism – it makes smart people dumb.

Ultimately, the false prophets, unauthorized priests, and misleading shepherds and pastors among Jews have been their own worst enemy, having created each of the three religions Yahowah is condemning: Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, making it sound like the Russian Foreign Minister was right - the worst anti-Semites, Akiba, Paul, and Muhammad, were all Jews. Duplicity, hypocrisy, and abuse, they've all inflicted such hellish conditions on Yisra'el and Yahuwdah.

But be certain of this; while rabbis and those under their spell are continuing to antagonize Yahowah while claiming to serve Him, God is cognizant of their master, of their allegiance to the Lord Ba'al, and He will hold them all accountable. This is about as forthright a rebuke of Judaism as anything we have yet considered. These priests are not Yah's ministers but, instead, "the Lord's."

The last time the world played that game it was against 'ElYah. It was 850 to 1, I think was the count. Those who voted in favor of the other candidate all lost and there was no recounting of the ballots. And that is because the Jews have hidden the Towrah, even dishonored it, plastering over God's teaching with their gibber-gabber, whether that be the Talmud, New Testament, or Qur'an.

Those who claim to speak for God, who say that they are serving God, even that they are authorized by Him, do not know who Yahowah is. Those who act as if they are shepherds, guiding, feeding, and protecting the flock are themselves rebelling and transgressing against the very God they say they represent – those are the "wolves." Those who speak in the name of the Lord are doing just that. Satan has achieved his ambition, which is to be worshiped as God. And it is the rabbis who made this possible. Israel is continuing to honor these buffoons, to pay them and empower them, and it is embarrassing.

The Towrah is the fulcrum of this proclamation between representing Yahowah or speaking for the Lord. The way a person responds to Yahowah's Instructions as they are presented in the Towrah influences everything else – especially their spiritual associations.

In this indictment against religion, I'd like to share an additional insight. Yahowah is expecting us to find Him and come to know Him by observing His Towrah. The religious working against Him seek to lord over Yahowah's testimony to control the faithful and preclude access to their G-d. The battle between religion and the relationship Yahowah intends has always been a matter of subjugation versus liberation.

When you see everyone playing religious dress-up, all the women wearing tents, all the men wearing black hats and mourning suits, you are not looking at freedom. You're looking at subjugation. When you see them bobbing their heads and worshiping in prayer, you're not looking at liberty, but oppression. When people are afraid to speak out, when the leaders are afraid to give access to information to people, you're not looking at deliverance, you're looking at enslavement. When your country has a Department of Disinformation, when they declare war against a country that could destroy the world 100 times over on behalf of the most undeserving country in the world, you have a serious problem. It's all about control, misinformation, about the empowerment of the few over the many.

The battle between religion and relationship has always been a matter of subjugation vs liberation. And where there is oppression, there is a Lord lurking behind the scenes.

There we are folks. We enjoyed being with you this evening, particularly speaking to those in the United Kingdom, which is we reached out via Twitter I think.

I'm so delighted the Elon Musk was able to buy Twitter not because of anything about Elon Musk other than he is an advocate of free speech, and free speech is something Yahowah cares deeply about. He wants you to know Him as He reveals Himself and He doesn't want anyone getting in the way of what He has to say corrupting or twisting it. He wants people to be free to know and to choose Him. While I'm not a fan of social media I must say I am delighted that we have those in the Covenant Family that know how to use it, how to reach out through it and to reach Yahowah's estranged and wayward family so that more Jews might come home.

May Yah bless. I look forward to being with you next week, Kirk. May Yah bless you all. Shabat Shalom everybody.
