

Shabat Study by Yada, January 20, 2023

Please Note: I have transcribed this to the best of my ability. Sound bites of parties speaking simultaneously and those which were inaudible to me have been deleted from the transcript. If I guessed at a word, it was followed by a ()? A___ (blank line) indicates I could not understand the word or phrase and three periods ... indicate an interruption in the dialogue of one party by another. Thank you for your understanding. MK

Good evening and welcome to Yada Yah Radio. It's my pleasure to be here with Kirk and Dee this evening. We have a couple new items.

Israel's high court by a 10 to 1 margin, with the 1 margin saying, "I'm against this too, but I think there's a different jurisdiction body that should be making the decision," said that Gary (Mond)?, the Shah's head that signed an agreement with the Supreme Court on his tax evasion sentencing said that he would remove himself from politics; he wouldn't serve in the Knesset or in a ministerial position because of his previous conviction of robbing the nation of Israel as a minister in the Israeli government. He decided, "Oh, what the hell. I've lied and cheated myself to stardom, the agreement I made with the Justices is irrelevant, I'm going to be a Knesset member again." He demanded two what we would consider cabinet posts in the new Netanyahu government, and of course, Netanyahu is so desirous of being Prime Minister that he would give Genghis Kahn a seat if he thought it would enshrine him in office. The Supreme Court 10 to 1 said, "Absolutely no way. You can't sign an agreement that says you won't be in politics to get a lenient deal and then renege on that deal."

Netanyahu is a very bright man; he's an able statesman – he just has no morals and has an ego the size of Texas. After he got the news, the brown noser went to Gary's home and said, "I'm so sorry. We'll make it up to you somehow. Don't leave the coalition." Of course, the Shah's leadership said, "How dare they do this, it has annihilated and wiped out the votes of 400,000 people." Can you imagine the Shah's ultra-religious faction? They are all Haredi and they knowingly voted to put a man twice convicted, served prison time, is a con and a thief, and they have elevated him to the head of their party thinking that they are being righteous and that the court is taking advantage of their poor little votes. Of course, they cite the Torah (I guess they never read Shamuw'el where Yahowah says, "Here's the 13 ... that you should not be political in addition to all ... could not be religious.")

For ten years I have been telling all who will listen that America has been and will be responsible for the war in the Ukraine, that the handwriting was on the wall ten years ago of what we were trying to achieve, and the media and politicians have done their utmost to blame Putin for the war that America has caused. I have said this war is going to cause two devastating things to America and to the world: 1) It will end in a nuclear confrontation because you cannot continue giving hundreds of millions of dollars of advanced weapons to a proxy, like the Ukraine, to kill Russians who have the second largest military and the largest nuclear weapons arsenal on the planet without the Russians eventually resorting to deploying nuclear weapons into the United States. It is a certainty; it is going to happen, and we will have brought it upon ourselves.

I also said that backing the Ukraine is a disaster. The Ukraine is the most unethical government on the planet. They are known parasites that do not pay back international loans. To place the burden of the Ukraine on the shoulders of the American taxpayer will be devastating to the American economy. I, of course, at the time had no idea that we would impose sanctions that would be devastating and force nations around the world to form BRIC, the alternative to America sanctioning them because we decide we don't like something. That alternative is going to create an alternative to the American dollar being the foreign reserve currency. When that happens, our economy will crater; there will be a deeper and more permanent recession than what the nation experienced in 1929 and through the 1930s. Both are inevitable and the length of time that we will endure between both is certainly less than ten years could be less than five. That's the situation we've put ourselves in.

Unfortunately, all the while the country we care about the most, Israel, is annihilating itself. About half the country opposes judicial reform and about half support it. It is split Right and Left, Religious and Secular. Israel is in a tough spot because it can't claim a reliable constitution because there is none in Israel. All that exists is a letter of agreement between the rabbis and Israel's secular founders to allocate certain levels of control to each group and with the Netanyahu government the religious crazies are gaining more power which is a fundamental disaster for the country.

Let's return where we left off last week. By way of recap, we are covering Howsha' because the prophet spoke more clearly about the separation between Yisra'el and Yahuwah and ultimately the separation of God's people from Yahowah. There is no book similarly dedicated, from start to finish, to this singular subject of religion and God's issue with it and His people. Religion is what had and what still separates the people of Yisra'el from Yahowah. The book's single premise is, "Because you are religious, I will have nothing to do with you. You're going to go through an enormously long timeout." In this case the timeout was 2,700 years.

“They feed upon (‘akal – they are fed and nourished by, even prey upon) the wrongdoing and sin offerings (chata’th – the iniquity and propitiations, the errant ways and misguided beliefs) of My people (‘am ‘any – My family).

God is accusing Yisra’el / Yisra’elites of literally devouring religious wrongdoing.

These souls (nepesh huw’) lift up and accept, promote and honor (nasa’ – they elevate and advance, forgive and even respect), their perversity and wrongdoing, even their depravity (wa ‘el ‘awon hem – their wicked ways and resulting liability, their iniquity and injustice). (Howsha’ 4:8)

And so (wa) likewise, it will be the same (hayah ka – it is identical) for the people (ha ‘am) as it will be (ka) for the priest (ha kohen).

This accountability, if you will, this condemnation is being leveled strictly at religious behavior and beliefs and God is saying, “It doesn’t matter if you are the rabbi or the constituents paying for the rabbi. It doesn’t matter if you’ve written the Talmud or you’re reading it. It doesn’t matter if you’re the one deciding what’s “kosher” or eating “kosher.” It doesn’t matter if you’re the fool that’s tied up in knots over the thousands of things you cannot do on the Shabat or you were the idiot making those rules. If you are a religious Jew, God will have nothing to do with you; He views you as perverse, depraved and wrong. God’s not going to grade on the curve. You can’t be a little bit religious and form a relationship with Yahowah. You can’t be a Haredim or even Reformed from a religious point of view and engage in the Covenant. Judaism is the single most restrictive institution relative to God’s people and their relationship to Yahowah.

Make no mistake; Yahowah is condemning religion and in Israel and among Jews there is only one religion - Judaism. That does not mean He endorses Christianity or Islam. He thinks Christianity is about the dumbest thing ever invented and Islam is a religion for idiots. Allah is clearly modeled after Satan and Paul was maybe the single worst person who ever lived; he either wrote or influenced almost all the Christian New Testament. The reason God speaks so much about Judaism is that while Christianity harassed and Islam has terrorized His people, no institution has been as overtly demeaning and degrading of Jews than Judaism.

We had a Jewish person a couple of weeks ago that stumbled into these sites and the first question was is the writer Jewish? Yahowah has gone out of His way to say that the only witness to My people during the last days, and as we approach them, will not be Jewish; he is going to be a gowy. It's time for some humble pie. There was not a single Jew open and willing to listen to Yahowah, so God decided I'm going to work through the only person I've got available to work through and that person is a gowy. I would ask the Jew who isn't willing to listen to a gowy, what has the last 2,700 years done for you? You've told each other that you're righteous, that you're better than the rest of the world, that your religion is spectacular and the mother of all religions and what has it done for you? Can you give me a single highlight in 2,700 years? Look what happened with the Assyrians, the Babylonians, the Greeks, the Romans, the Roman Catholic Church, the Muslims, with Europe and particularly the Nazis, and now with the Progressives. You've managed to turn the entire world against you, and that would be okay if you were with Yahowah. You've not only turned the whole world against you, but you have also alienated yourself from Yahowah in the process. You don't know or use His name; you are clueless to what He is offering and expecting in return. So, what positive can you tell me about the 2,700 years of listening to Jews tell Jews you're wonderful that is a success story because really all you've done through the rabbis and rabbinical Judaism is to alienate the world while turning Yahowah against you. And that's why we're here; it's time to stop that, it hasn't worked.

The definition of insanity is continuing to do the same thing and expecting a different result. Anti-Semitism is on the rise again and it's going to get much worse. Israel itself is disintegrating embroiled in the precursor to a civil war. You have the least democratic of all governments followed by the most crazed of all governments back-to-back. You have the majority now of Jews that don't want anything to do with Israel and the fastest rising conspiracy theories against Jews probably in the history of humanity in America. Don't continue making the same mistakes.

There was a glorious moment in time, not for Israel because it was gone, but for Judea. When was it? It sure as heck wasn't The Exodus. Mighty miracles, Yahowah walking with His people protecting them, but you could barely even get across the Red Sea before you were making idols. You did nothing but bellyache and complain the entire way; you did everything you could to alienate yourselves from Yahowah, so it sure is not the Exodus.

While there was a marvelous moment with Dowd, there's not much known about average Yisra'elites and Yahuwdym during that period other than there was a lot of infighting. Dowd was spectacular. He wrote the most beautiful songs in the Psalms and the most beautiful word pictures in the Proverbs; he demonstrated what it's like to be not only the shepherd, the advisor, leader, the anointed Messiah of God's people and the son of God, but what it's like to live in the Covenant. The man fought 50 - 60 battles and won them all. That was a glorious moment in time at least for that individual even though his own family turned against him.

So, we find a glorious moment in time when we also know that the people of Yahuwdah, Yahuwdym / Jews, participated in a marvelous revival during the reign of Hezekiah, and it wasn't even during the whole tenure. He started off badly, he ended badly, but he had a period of time where someone in his inner circle stumbled upon a copy of the Towrah and brought it to him. He read it and said, "Oh my God, we have 185,000 thousand Assyrians that are coming to destroy us. They've already destroyed the Northern Kingdom, they've controlled everything within maybe a thousand miles of where we are, they even came to conquer Egypt (the Babylonians, couldn't do it but they sure did) and they've got 185,000 armed troops for one prize, us, Jerusalem. There is a zero percent chance that with human means we can resolve that." After reading the Towrah Hezekiah realized the answer was not coming up with an army, the thickness of the walls, not some strategy, it wasn't paying tribute and certainly not finding a new ally but instead it was getting rid of all the religious artifacts and every trace of religion, cleaning house and then starting to observe the Towrah, particularly Chag Matsah, and understanding what Chag Matsah represents. It was because of the appreciation of and the celebration of Chag Matsah that Yahuwah was saved. It wasn't because they figured out the right date because they didn't even celebrate it on the right date. It wasn't because they had plated the perfect meal or because the priest / kohen were on their job knew what to do because they were lost in space. That's why they were late in celebrating; they weren't trained and equipped to serve the people by explaining what these things mean because they understood the purpose and they understood that the first step towards capitalizing on a relationship with Yahowah is foregoing your religion. That was the glorious moment when the 185,000 Assyrians all died the next day. It was so wonderful celebrating Chag Matsah they said, "Let's do it again." And rather than that being the national symbol of Israel, it's the godforsaken nine-candle Menorah based on a stupid myth about some light that was to have burned longer than somebody anticipated while they were fighting a civil war against themselves and the Greeks. What a waste, what a joke! It's time to stop doing the same thing and creating the same result. Stop listening to the rabbis, stop trusting in your politicians, stop paying attention to Jewish law and the godforsaken Jewish Babylonian Talmud, stop pretending that the Talmud and the Towrah are the same, stop being religious, stop pretending that it's G – D. Yahowah has a name and if you don't know it you don't know Him.

Somebody wrote me asking why I pronounce Yahowah the way I do. I have 26 volumes on it; it's not hard to figure out and not hard to explain. You say Towrah, don't you? Where do you think you get the "o" and "ah" sounds in Towrah? Is it not a wah and a hey? When you greet one another do you not say "Shalowm?" Where do you get the "o" sound in Shalowm? Is there any question as to how to pronounce Yisra'el? Isn't that the y? And so, you now know how to pronounce the hey and the wah and of course the final hey. How tough can it be? And you have to be a complete nincompoop to pretend like you can't pronounce YaHoWaH and yet you can pronounce Towrah and Shalowm and 'Elohym? Come on! It's not that difficult.

I'm now past the 600th page of the book on Ezekiel. Some of it's posted on either the yadayah.com or yadayahowah.com sites; either link takes you to the same place. Y-a-d-a means "to know," Yah is the familial form of Yahowah's name. The book is about the complete denunciation of Ezekiel. Rabbis, Imams and Christian priests have placed that book right in between legitimate prophets as if it was the word of their G – D, and the source of it is demonic, sadistic and has every single statement wrong. It's not that he doesn't pass Yahowah's Dabarym 18 test of one mistake and you're done; he got them all wrong. You can't get them all wrong by chance. It's like he's thumbing his nose at you saying, "I'm going to prove to God just how worthless you are." Ezekiel is a complete and utter fraud inspired either by Satan or someone possessed by him, and it is blatantly obvious. So, why is it sitting there in the midst of the Prophets? Why is it among the most cited books in the Quran with the Magog War? Why does Revelation cite Ezekiel more than any other book just proving that it's an absolute waste? I think there's 38 citations of Ezekiel in Revelation and since Ezekiel is a complete fraud that makes Revelation a complete fraud.

I have said probably two or three times over the past 22 years that ha Satan brought a third of the malak from Shamaym down with him. There is no evidence for that; its' from Revelation 2. Revelation is a fraudulent book. There is no basis, and we really have to be ever more careful that we don't allow anything that we see in Revelation to taint our view of Yahowah. There's a lot in Revelation that's true because Revelation is an amalgamation of Prophets that are actually truthful so there is a fair amount of information that's accurate. But unfortunately, Daniel was not a legitimate prophet and Ezekiel is an absolute complete and utter fraud. So, we must be really careful.

There are advantages of doing things like this because Ezekiel's had such a horrible effect on Jewish women and Jews in general. It has demonized and dehumanized Jews which is why Christians and Muslims love it so, and to a large degree why rabbis love it. They've based the Zohar off it and proves my point that the single greatest threat to Jews is Judaism. To be a Jew and to endorse Ezekiel is insane. In the 30th chapter the Lord of Babel lists 25 different ways to kill a Jew. And you're going to incorporate that into your "holy book" to say that you're just not discerning.

These things are not difficult. Like I wrote to the individual that asked if I have an article on how I pronounce Yahowah's name. I said, "Start reading the first volume of An Introduction to God. Understand this is not hard; there's nothing here that is difficult. It's very easy to know Yahowah."

“They feed upon (‘akal – they are fed and nourished by, even prey upon) the wrongdoing and sin offerings (chata’th – the iniquity and propitiations, the errant ways and misguided beliefs) of My people (‘am ‘any – My family).

These souls (nepesh huw’) lift up and accept, promote and honor (nasa’ – they elevate and advance, forgive and even respect), their perversity and wrongdoing, even their depravity (wa ‘el ‘awon hem – their wicked ways and resulting liability, their iniquity and injustice). (Howsha’ 4:8)

And that’s the problem. The Babylonian Talmud corrupts and perverts Yahowah’s message in the Towrah.

And so (wa) likewise, it will be the same (hayah ka – it is identical) for the people (ha ‘am) as it will be (ka) for the priest (ha kohen).

Of course, there aren’t any priests in Israel anymore because during the Maccabean period the group that emerged and now are known as rabbis stole their power. Men coveted power and they didn’t like the idea that Yahowah had determined by birth who was going to be a priest. Yahowah said, “If you were assigned to be a Lowy, if you were born into the Lowy, the Levites, you have the responsibility of serving My people as a priest and explaining the intent of the seven Mow’ed Miqra’ey to them so they understand them; you were not gaining power and wealth by doing so.” You were not going to own land, for example. He precluded them from accumulating wealth. And what are the highest paid clerics in the world far and away? Rabbis. So, the elitists in Judea under the Greeks had a revolution not just to preclude the incorporation of Greek thought into the Jewish religion, it was so that a different group of people could choose to be empowered and not follow Yahowah. It’s laughable because the synagogue that religious Jews enter on Shabat is a Greek word. There is no Hebrew root in the Greek word synagogue.

And so (wa) likewise, it will be the same (hayah ka – it is identical) for the people (ha ‘am) as it will be (ka) for the priest (ha kohen).

I will hold both of them accountable (wa paqad ‘al huw’ – I will take stock of them, judging and punishing them) for their ways (derek huw’ – for their conduct).

I will repay them, bringing back upon them (wa shuwb la huw’ – I will require restitution, seeking retribution for) the foolish, beguiling, and cruel things they have done (ma’alal huw’ – for their oppressive practices, malevolent deeds, and malicious characterizations; from ‘alah – to act foolishly and wantonly).” (Howsha’ / He Delivers / Hosea 4:9)

This is a slap in the face with some cold water. God is going to hold people accountable by giving them what they have done. If you have been religious you will spend your eternity particularly, if you promoted your religion, with the religious in a place called Shield, also known as Hell. Don't do it. If you've been stupid enough to promote religious myths, then you will be convicted of them. Think of the stupidity of it. The most overwhelmingly popular form of Judaism in Israel, and the only form that is accepted now, is that of the Haredim. And yet that religion wasn't created until the 18th century in the Ukraine. It's unbelievably stupid, stunningly restrictive, giving no rights to women. It is so restrictive that Haredim / Ultra-Orthodox Jews don't even have access to a program like this. They can't search the net, they can't find the truth, they are literally kept in the dark on purpose so the rabbis can continue to control and fleece them. They played them for fools and they play their part exceedingly well.

So, this is God's quid pro quo, if you will. This message is a killer. Because Jews and Gentiles have disassociated themselves from Yahowah, either by ignoring Him or by replacing Him with a god conceived by men, they have been spurned by Yahowah and are crippled spiritually. Oblivious, they have been forgotten. Despicable, they have been rejected.

It is Divine justice, but it is also deadly. And believers have no one to blame but themselves. The truth is available, but most choose to ignore it. Yahowah stood at the door and called us home, but too few paid attention, particularly the Jews, that God had no choice but to work with a gowym. Most have not even bothered to ask our benefactor His name. Very few even know the name of the door (Pesach).

Normally that would be exceedingly painful for God to continually say through the Prophet Yasha'yah, "I looked for thousands of years since the last Prophet, Malaky, to find a single Jew with whom I could relate who could serve as a Prophet by listening to Me and then reporting what I had to say and there was none." And while that is enormously frustrating, I don't think that God was finally frustrated by having to choose a gowy. I think that after 2,500 years He said, "Enough is enough. If I've got a gowy that's willing to listen to Me, is willing to devote his life to learning from Me and sharing what I have to say, that's what My people need most of all." And that's where we are and that's why it's time for you to listen. Divine justice is why we're in this position. Most people have not even bothered to ask our benefactor His name. When was the last time you heard Yahowah's name proclaimed in Yisra'el, when was the last time you heard it proclaimed anywhere? The only people that I know outside of the Covenant family are the nincompoops that forlorn my translations and transliterations and try to make a buck by peddling the nonsense of the Black Hebrew Israelites which is a complete and utter fraud. They have no intellect or game; people are stunningly easy to fool, so they go off on marches and claim they have replaced the Jews.

What's so unbelievably stupid about it is that if you read something like this in Howsha' why in the world would you want to claim to be Israel? Are you stupid? What part of this are you not able to perceive? Did you pay any attention to where 'Abraham and Sarah came from? Was that not Ur at the mouth of the Tigris – Euphrates, ancient Sumer became Babylon became Persia? That's their bloodline. Have you ever seen a colored portrait of the Egyptians and seen their coloring? They are Caucasians. I'm here to tell you skin color doesn't mean diddly squat to me and doesn't mean a tinkers damn to Yahowah, He does not care, and I don't care. But there is an ethnicity, the descendants of 'Abraham, Yitschaq, and Ya'aqob that Yahowah chose to reveal Himself through to all humankind. Those are His people, that's never going to change and unless you can do a DNA test and determine that you are a descendant of 'Abraham, Yitschaq, and Ya'aqob, then you are not Israel.

Now that's okay because there's a provision for gowym to become part of Israel and of the Covenant and to be adopted into Yahowah's family, but you cannot be anti-Israel and be adopted into Yahowah's family. And let's be clear. While Pesach, Matsah, Bikuwrym, Shabuw'ah and Taruw'ah are for Yahuwdym and Gowym alike, the fact is God says it's the same whether you are Yahuwdym or Gowym. On Pesach, Matsah and Bikuwrym the same rules and the same opportunity applies. Bikuwrym is literally being adopted into God's family as a result of being perfected on Matsah, having the religious fungus removed from you. On Pesach you become immortal so that on Shabuw'ah Yahowah can enrich, empower, enlighten and liberate us, and then Taruw'ah, which is when this program began 22 years ago and the first of these books began to be written. Taruw'ah is not even understood by religious Jews, they don't have a clue what Taruw'ah is. If you look at Yahowah's testimony Taruw'ah, what you have misnamed Rosh Hashanah, is a time to do what we are doing to draw your attention to Yahowah's testimony, to tell you it's time to stop being religious, to stop making the same mistakes and come to know Yahowah.

As we approach Yowm Kipurym, particularly its fulfillment in year 6000 Yah, which will be sundown on October 2, 2033, at 6 p.m. in Jerusalem, just a little over 10 years from now, Yowm Kipurym is only and exclusively about Yisra'el and Yahuwdah. It is a time of reconciliation with God's people. The Mashyach / Messiah Dowd / David is returning wearing the headband of the High Priest and will anoint the Mercy Seat of the Ark of the Covenant / the Kaporeth on Kipurym in direct affirmation of this day to reconcile the relationship between Yahowah and His people, and that date is just over 10 years away. So, our entire mission these past 22 years has been to draw your attention to this day. It is your day, it is Yahowah's day. It is the Day of Reconciliation, the day of homecoming, of returning to the fold. Our role as gowym is simply to direct your attention to Yahowah's invitation. We want you to be part of His family, we want Yahowah to be pleased with the attendance on this Day and, of course, it all leads to the beginning; that's what Sukah is all about. Sukah is a return to Eden, to being back in the Garden celebrating a perfect union with Yahowah without religion, politics, hierarchy, and we'll do that for a thousand years prior to having the opportunity to create a new universe. That is our calling, that is your calling. We want you to accept Yahowah and understand what He is offering and expecting in return.

Rabbis have come to promote countless rites and rituals God views as perverse. They advance their arguments over Yahowah's instructions. And if that was all there was to it, by doing away with the rabbis, Yahowah would be able to resolve Yisra'el's problems. However, as for the priest, so it is with the people. By accepting the rabbinical lies, and by defending and financing this attack on the word of God, everyone is culpable.

If you're eating "kosher" as it relates to rabbinic instructions, you are estranged from God. If you are observing a Shabat based on halakah, Jewish law you are estranged from God. If you are wearing that stupid mourning suit and have the curly cues and black hat, if you're a woman and you're shaving your head to fit in ritualistically with the religious, you're estranged from God. And, of course, if you're a Christian or Muslim you are really estranged from God.

You have to first stop being religious. Yahowah didn't reach out 'Abraham and Sarah because they were particularly smart people or because they were particularly moral. God chose them because they walked away from Ur of the Chaldeans, from Babylon. At a time when people were flocking to the birthplace of religion, institutionalized religion and its integration into politics, they walked away.

What made Moseh the one person on the entire planet that Yahowah was so desirous of working with that He begged him to do this with Him? Why did God beg Moseh? He was the only person who had actually walked away from Egypt, who knew it, was repulsed by it and left it.

When Yahowah chose amongst Yshay's / Jesse's sons they were all there all integrated in the life of the family except one; he was down there tending sheep in Bethlehem. That's the one God chose. Are you witnessing a pattern here?

Now, realize that God sees rabbis as advancing their arguments over His instructions. It's much worse than that because they have convinced generation upon generation to trust them over God. When you read through the Babylonian Talmud every rabbi that ever lived seems to get an honorable mention. Their name is emblazoned with a whole pedigree, but Yahowah's name is never mentioned. Their names are irrelevant; His is meaningful.

Therefore, to be fair, Yahowah is going to and must hold all Yisra'el accountable. He will judge them individually and collectively and will be hard-pressed to find an acceptable soul.

Look how far we are away from Him. As politicized and religious as Israel is becoming and it's now divided right down that fault line with the secular on one side who have no interest in Yahowah and the religious on the other who have completely corrupted his testimony.

Without recompense, there can be no justice. Without retribution, life is not fair. Even if the majority would like God to forgive and forget, it is not in His character to be immoral.

I had a very rough morning today. My wife and I have all but adopted and treated like sons three young men that have worked with us here for a long time. One of these young men said that his stepdaughter had been raped by her biological father. To see the pain on his face and to talk to him about what he should do, how he should respond, how we would respond but not necessarily how he should respond, and then to counsel him on how to have his daughter overcome and rise above this horrible act and turn it into the greatest triumph of her life, that's part of growing up with scars.

My father was abusive; I grew up with scars. By overcoming a hellish childhood, I got grit, some character and a little backbone. When I was finally able to prevail over him and made living a life worthwhile, as my form of retribution, then I can attribute a significant amount of my success in life to the very fact that I was usable to Yahowah by having turned a horrible situation into something that defined my character. We could all do that. We should never allow the horrible behavior of a misguided soul even if they are our parents, because we didn't choose them, to define us.

I made a horrible mistake in my life by choosing to marry the wrong woman. I was married for 34 years to someone with a horrible psychological psychosis. She did everything she could to make my life miserable. I look back on it now and I say I stayed there too long, having endured it, having literally won my freedom away from it, having stayed there long enough to protect my sons through it until they were independent, then having left it and now have the joy that I have in a real, genuinely loving, intellectually stimulating relationship, I appreciate it all the more. So, if you have been a religious or political Jew and you're considering freeing yourself from those things so that you can come to know Yahowah I'm here to tell you that by leaving them you will grow stronger, you'll develop backbone and character and a depth of personality that you could never have imagined when you are part of the cult. These are things to look forward to. Allow the worst things in your life to refine who you can be. This is what Yahowah wants of us – to overcome.

If you look at all the people who ever lived and those that Yahowah was closest to, Moseh and Dowd for example, both men had very traumatic things happen to them in life, and both were tough as nails, courageous and uncompromising. That’s what God finds attractive. Both had to overcome; neither was perfect.

The victims of the worst of human behavior would be those who endured the Inquisition and the Holocaust, and we speak of retribution, the life experience could not be fair. God could not be just unless it is assured that their tormentors are held accountable. Vespasian and Hadrian must suffer for the harm they inflicted on God’s people, and they are but two among many. No one ultimately perpetrated a more sinister anti-Semitic doctrine than Paul. Second to him would be Muhammad. They are going to be judged, be held accountable and will suffer a horrible penalty, deservedly so. And it must be so for all the souls who were tormented because of what they did. Everyone who was part of the hierarchy and execution of the Roman Catholic Church as it for the better part of 2,000 years harassed and tormented Jews will be held accountable, and to the degree that it's possible for Covenant members to stand up for Jews and demonstrate this so much the better.

And while that is in death, for the rabbis, in life, it isn’t much better...

“They will eat (wa ‘akal – they will consume food (qal perfect)) but never be satisfied (wa lo’ saba’ – not be full or have their needs met (qal imperfect)).

They will act like prostitutes (zanah – they will be as unfaithful as whores (hifil perfect)) without ever being productive (wa lo’ parats – without satisfying urges) because (ky ‘eth) they have neglected to observe (‘azab la shamar – they are derelict in their consideration of (qal perfect)) Yahowah (YaHoWaH – our ‘elowah | God as directed in His ToWRaH | teaching regarding His HaYaH | existence and our ShaLoWM | restoration). (Howsha’ 4:10)

Engaging in religious infidelity, immorality, and unfaithfulness (zanuwth – through harlotry and whoredom), coupled with intoxication (yayn – drunkenness and inebriation) of even barely fermented wine (thyrowsh – being dispossessed and impoverished by being disinherited), seizes and takes away (laqach – grasps hold of) good judgment (leb – rational thinking and a proper attitude).” (Howsha’ / He Liberates / Hosea 4:11)

God's people are fed rubbish. You can eat rubbish until your eyeballs pop out of your head and you will never be satisfied. Try eating a salted potato chip or peanut, or an M&M, and see how many it takes before you're satisfied. It’s the same thing as feeding people religious lies; they never find satisfaction. They pretend because in their community if they don't pretend to be super religious then they're ostracized. It's all a fake and a fraud.

It's like the Haredim in Jerusalem that rioted, threw rocks at buses, had their children block cars in the street, tried torching a cell phone store because they were selling a normal smartphone which would give people internet access and therefore knowledge. These numb skulls protested that and tried to burn it down.

Engaging in religious infidelity, immorality, and unfaithfulness (zanuwth – through harlotry and whoredom), coupled with intoxication (yayn – drunkenness and inebriation) of even barely fermented wine (thyrowsh – being dispossessed and impoverished by being disinherited), seizes and takes away (laqach – grasps hold of) good judgment (leb – rational thinking and a proper attitude).” (Howsha / He Liberates / Hosea 4:11)

And that's the problem. If you can't exercise good judgment, you can't be moral, you can't be rational, fair or just, and for darned sure you can't know Yahowah. We think our way to Yahowah, we do not believe our way to Him. It is through knowledge and understanding that we approach the Almighty, it's not through religious rituals.

Faith without knowing, sex without love, and observing without purpose are unfulfilling. Prostitutes are continually engaged in intercourse, and yet, there is nothing to show for it. Prostitutes are paid for sex, and they are all poor.

Over the past twenty years, I have found an axiom which has rung true without exception. The overtly religious and political are incapable of exercising good judgment. No amount of evidence is sufficient, and no rational argument is ever compelling – even if both come from God Almighty, they cannot process it. While intoxication slows judgment, religion debilitates it. That's why you have to walk away from religion if you're going to approach Yahowah.

KIRK: That's such a horrible lie; it is so true. I spent 15 years trying to share things with people and they just shut down, they just can't do it. Even when they admit to you, you're probably right but I just I can't do this because my mother's dead and I won't ever see her again. So, just throw your life away too then.

YADA: It is overwhelming that you can cite directly from the Towrah to a religious individual, and they will reject the word of God. But look at God himself, we shouldn't be surprised. Yahowah, during The Exodus, told Moseh, “I'm going to speak directly to the people. Grab them all together. I'm going to do this so that they know for certain that I am the One who is inspiring you. We're going to get them all together and we're gonna talk.” And what did they say? “No, no, no, no, don't do that. We don't want to hear that big booming voice. We don't want You peering down on us. Go away!" That's where we are. We don't want to listen to God. It gets in the way of your religion, I guess.

That was a lot to process. But such is the essence of Yahowah's revelation through Howsha'. It's a fire hose. The subject material is not appealing to God. He is pressed for time, so He's opening the floodgates of instruction. He wants to elicit a different response, but He knows that it isn't going to happen – not for a very long time.

Perhaps now God is turning to the Progressives, to the Jewish environmentalists of our day. He may be chiding them for worshiping nature to the exclusion of its Creator. Or, maybe this is nothing more than a swipe at the Christian Christmas tree or His people's affinity for worshiping 'Asherah within groves of trees...

“My people ('am 'any) question (sha'al – ask inquisitively and intently, pondering the possibilities of) the trees (ba 'ets huw') and their branches, staffs, and walking sticks (wa maqel huw') as if they are going to impart information and speak to them (nagad la huw' – are going to convey a message to them).

Indeed (ky), the spirit (ruwach) of religious infidelity (zanuwnym – of prostitution, of feigning affection, of pretending to be devoted, and of whoredom) has led them astray and caused them to wander away (ta'ah – has misled them).

And they act like whores and religious prostitutes (wa zannah – performing like unfaithful harlots) in relation to a succession of their gods (tachath 'elohym hem).” (Howsha' / He Saves / Hosea 4:12)

Three Divine attributes are displayed in this statement. God understands human nature. Nothing we do surprises Him. God has endured His people for 4,000 years now. From the time of 'Abraham 4,000 years ago He's pretty well got them down and their behavior hasn't changed much in 4,000 years; nothing we do surprises Him. Unimpaired by time, He knows our past and sees how it relates to our present and future. And He is bold and blunt when it comes to exposing deceptions.

That's the thing I don't think most people understand about Yahowah when He's speaking through a prophet like this. God is not predicting the future. He's not saying, "I've got a really good feeling about this that if you continue this kind of behavior this is where it's going to lead." It's not what He's saying at all. That's true if you continue this kind of religious behavior it's going to lead to exactly what you have experienced over the last 2,700 years, even I could have predicted that. However, that's not how this works.

Yahowah is very likely a seven-dimensional being. The universe is very likely six dimensions and we are a three-dimensional construct that is stuck in the ordinary progression or flow of time. For us, time marches like a river with us in it and we can't go back in it to where it was, nor can we go ahead faster than it is flowing. Yahowah, however, as a spiritual being akin to light has the opportunity of being able to go forward in time. He can even witness all time at any time and because He can go forward in time, because time is highly maneuverable for a four-dimensional being and light is liberated in time, because He can do that, He is not predicting the future. Yahowah has seen everything that is meaningful that's going to transpire pursuant to the health and well-being of His people, Yisra'el and Yahuwdah, between today and His return in 2033 in year 6000 Yah. He's seen it all and He has reported in our past in writing what He witnessed. That means that He's reporting future history; there's no guessing, no predicting. He knows what's going to happen and He's told us what's going to happen so that two things are possible:

We're prepared. If He's going to return, and He is on Yowm Kipurym in year 6000 Yah, October 2, 2033, we can be ready. That's a real advantage. If He has told us that it's going to be hellish between now and then and man is going to do everything he can to make life difficult, particularly for Jews, then we can be prepared. That is the advantage, but there's a bigger one. By using prophecy and getting everything right God proves that He inspired the prophetic writings of folks like Moseh and the Towrah, like Dowd in the Psalms, like Shamuw'el in the book bearing his name, in Zakaryah and Malaky, Yirma'yah. These are all examples of prophets who prove that they were speaking for Yahowah by getting it all right. Trust them.

Religious cults have long worshiped nature the same way Progressives do today. The Earth reveals its concerns to them as opposed to revealing God's nature.

They actually think that they're responsible for the planet, that they can save the planet, that if they protest something that is in their view a threat to the environment that they're being righteous. That's their definition of being holy, pure and enlightened. The fact is we're just wearing pants that are way too big for our britches. We're not going to change the outcome of this planet we're. just not We have no effect on the sun, we have no effect on mega cycles of our orbit and axis, solar flares, etc. If we turned 100% of our resources to trying to reduce this natural cycle of ... we would have negligible effect and we would consume all of our resources in the process where life for everyone would be miserable. Why not instead acquire the ultimate Life Assurance Policy and spend one percent of that time one, one percent of that effort coming to know Yahowah, appreciating and acting upon the conditions of the Covenant and benefiting from the gifts of the Covenant, then it wouldn't matter if the Earth heated up to a billion degrees; your life is assured. Why are we focused on the trivial?

Mortally afraid that they cannot defend their positions, Progressives seek to control what people can say, write, and read. The left has unleashed a mighty horde of Thought Police especially on social media and the internet. Read this while you can – while they will allow it because they don't want you to know the truth, they only want you to know, believe and act based upon what they think is important.

So many people have recently been Progressives and left institutions like the Washington Post or the New York Times or some other very liberal, political or societal institution; they all say the same thing - that thought is monolithic, no derivation in it at all and even if you are exceedingly liberal but don't endorse everything that is exceedingly liberal they will conduct a witch hunt, discredit you and throw you to the curb. There is no allowance for variation in thought, there's no room for evidence and reason. If you break in and say, “Well our conclusions are wrong. Two plus two really is four, it's not one,” they will drum you out of the corps and humiliate you. Evidence and reason matter not to the Progressives.

KIRK: I saw the beating they're taking in Germany now, the Progressives and the Save the Planet people. The Germans when they cut off the oil and the gas from the pipelines in Russia, in 200 days they dismissed everything and went back to coal and they refused to shut down any of the atomic plants and now they're going to be self-sufficient because we, by the way, are supplying them tons. They built the pipeline to take the natural gas, when you turn it into a liquid form it can be piped, so they set all that up. In 200 days they've absolutely become, they'll be fine this winter without oil and everybody's just going, “Well, you can't do that, you're cutting up the land.” And they said “There's nobody living there. We're going to dig up some of the coal and we're going to fire up the things.”

YADA: If we just had decided that weaponizing the Ukraine and making it part of NATO really wasn't that smart, in fact it was stupid, we wouldn't have these problems, but we aren't that smart. The people who played the Cuban Missile Crisis a long time ago were much more intelligent than today's politicians.

The religious are moved by a different spirit. Ignorant of what Yahowah has revealed, they are readily misled. Believing that they are pleasing God, He views them as a loving wife would perceive a prostitute chasing after her husband. If he succumbs to one, there will be more. And indeed, this was true with Yisra'el, where one misguided adaptation of Judaism would lead to countless more.

What God describes next must be seen in context. The subject of His ire is still singular – religion – at this point they were more copycats than inventive. Yisra'elites were unfortunately emulating the ways of the goway...

“On hilltops and summits (‘al ro’sh ha harym – on the tops of mountains), they offer sacrifices (zabach). And so upon the hills (wa ‘al ha giba’ah – upon the knolls and hilltops), they join in and are bound together to blow smoke (qatar – they fumigate the area to shut out others, burn incense and aromatic wood, and make a smoke offering to appease their concerns) under (tachath – beneath) prominent trees like red oaks (‘alown) and white poplars (libneh), with any large tree serving as an inappropriate goddess (‘elah – a massive tree, cursed, unfit, improper, feminine of ‘el – god), because her shadow, the object blocking the light in lesser dimensions (tsele hy’ – the imposition of her presence diminishes illumination as a two dimensional representation of the three-dimensional object), is perceived as pleasant, desirable, and beneficial (towb – is deemed good, useful, and pleasing).

Therefore (‘al ken), your daughters (bath ‘atem) are acting like religious prostitutes and disingenuous whores (zanah – are behaving like harlots selling a feigned impression of love for security and money), and your brides (wa kalah ‘atem – your spouses) are unfaithful and adulterous (na’aph – are cheating on the relationship by being religious). (Howsha’ 4:13)

I will not take this into account and record it (lo’ paqad – I will not count this) against your daughters (‘al bath ‘atem) when (ky) they are acting like religious prostitutes and disingenuous whores who are pretending to be adoring for money (zanah) nor against your brides (wa ‘al kalah ‘atem) when (ky) they are unfaithful lovers cheating on the relationship (na’aph – dishonoring the marriage by being religious).

This is because (ky) they, themselves, are cavorting with (hem ‘im parad – they are selfishly and continually open to, causing divisiveness, disassociation, and isolation with (piel imperfect)) religious prostitutes (ha zanah).

They are doing themselves in, in other words. “I don’t have to intervene; they’ve already done this to themselves.”

They are with the cult and temple prostitutes (wa ‘im ha qadeshah – with the holy whores, the women who have sex with believers in religious shrines as part of the worship service) and they offer sacrifices, slaughtering animals (zebach), as people (wa ‘am) devoid of understanding (lo’ byn – incapable of comprehending by evaluating the evidence and testimony in a rational manner, being discerning by making all of the proper connections and associations) which is ruinous and debilitating – thrusting them away (labat – which is catastrophic and degrading, also depressing).” (Howsha’ / He Delivers / Hosea 4:14)

“I don’t need to judge you; you’ve done a really good job of condemning yourselves.” You don't have to be a rocket scientist to know the Haredim are wrong. Look at them, what a miserable life; no inventiveness, no love, no contribution to society, no growth, no enlightenment, just a billion rules of “You can't do this, and you can't do that.” It’s like a mushroom living in the mud and the worst of that shut up in the dark. What a horrible life. And, of course, the only way they can keep people being ultra-religious is to attack them when they leave so that others will be dissuaded.

This prior statement of Howsha’ 4:14 affirms one of the many insights we can also derive from the Garden. While Chawah was misled by Satan’s misappropriation of Yahowah’s testimony, the reason she was susceptible is that ‘Adam was derelict. He neglected their relationship, and he did not teach his wife what he had learned from Yahowah – at least to the extent needed to rebuff Satan’s miscasting of God’s message.

To be sure, Chawah went rogue. She wanted to be a goddess. And she carried her animosity toward Yahowah and ‘Adam outside of the Garden, harboring it for a long time. But none of this would have happened had ‘Adam contributed more to the relationship and spent more time talking with his wife. He is responsible.

The Women of the Wall is a religious organization that tries to give Progressive, Reformed and non-Ultra-Orthodox women (not that they represent any significant part of Israel) access to the Western Wall. Of course, rabbis don't want women anywhere near the men or near the wall. Who knows why they even revered the damn wall. Hadrian, who was a scumbag, built this wall; it’s a wall for crying out loud. It's as stupid as me banging my head against a fence around my property and saying, “Oh wall of walls can I pray to you? Oh, wall let me keep my wife away from the wall because well this is a man's wall. I want to wear my black hat to the wall.” It’s just stupid. It’s a wall. You don't even want to go up to the Temple Mount because you've created a religion to ignore what occurred there. I'm not sure you could muscle yourself up the stairs because you're so feeble from not doing any work.

But here we are, and we've got these idiots making all the exclusions of only they can have access to the wall and only they represent Judaism and only they represent what it is to be a Jew and all others must be condemned and kept away from the holy of holies that is the wall.

So, this woman was writing and saying that half of the Haredim are women who have no rights. What's wrong with them? Why are they sacrificing their rights? That's what God's saying here that the women are into this as deep as are the men. If the women weren't into it the men wouldn't be into it and it would all go away. Of course, the rebuttal of all the little trolls that cried was, "How could you criticize our religion? We're speaking for God, we're the ones that are Torah observant. The Haredi women are women are happy to wear tents, they are happy not to have any rights, they are living fulfilled lives to be used as nothing but baby factories, they're happy with us waking up each day and proclaiming thank God I'm not a woman." What a thrill for them. Muslim women are thrilled too to be wearing the hijab, to be treated like crap. That is the world that we have created, that is the consequence of religion. Religious women are deep into it. I remember back in the days that I was defending Prophet of Doom. I received more letters of hate from women than men. The marriages of these women who are as broken as the Covenant. They were all in it together with men setting the poor example that the women followed.

This may seem as if this is déjà vu all over again. But clearly, God does not want us to miss the message. Religion is whorish according to Yahowah – a form of prostitution where devotion is feigned for a false sense of security and money. Further, as has been the case from the beginning, na'aph | adultery is being used as a metaphor to denounce being unfaithful and disingenuous to God. It has nothing to do with having an affair while married or having more than one spouse.

Satan puts on a show, Yahowah never does. For a token of their appreciation, religion had sex appeal. Truth be known, most every religion exists to give men power over women. That's certainly how Islam was formed. If it hadn't been for Muhammad saying, "Men, you can control women, they have no rights. You can beat them, feed them, keep them naked, whatever you want to do because you own them. And by the way, every time we go to war as jihadists / terrorists, the women are yours to rape." That was very appealing to these thugs. If it wasn't for that Islam would not exist.

What did Paul do? "You can lord over your wives." Women cannot even get a divorce in Judaism without their husband's written approval. In Pauline Christianity, men lord over women. And in Islam, women are possessions and prizes to be won.

Women have no rights and cannot even get a divorce in Judaism. When a Jewish woman wants to divorce her Jewish husband, she must first obtain what's called a gett, which is a folded decree placed in her cupped hands by her husband. The husband's release (gett) before a rabbi is all that matters. There are tens of thousands probably hundreds of thousands of Jewish women who are kept hostage by abusive men because rabbis have given men 100% control over women such that a woman can't even get a divorce. They can't escape. From Yahowah's point of view in the Towrah if you want a divorce, write them a letter. Don't be miserable, don't make the other person miserable, simply leave.

I tried that with my ex, and it worked out better for me than her, but I can tell you one thing. If you're willing to talk to the individual and say, "These are the reasons we've talked about for some time why I am leaving. I recognize there is no hope for this relationship at this point, and we're both going to be better off." If you follow up with a well-written letter conveying that same information so that it can be processed, dissected and remembered, it is a vastly better way to communicate than words alone and somebody saying he said, she said, this is how I interpret it. That combination is exceedingly powerful and that is the power of the Towrah.

In Dabarym there were all speeches and yet we have this written record that we can go back and analyze and ponder every single letter that comprises every single word of God's message. This program we do for an hour and a half once a week yet I spend ten hours a day seven days a week contributing, along with our team, to the written word. The written word is vastly more powerful.

We're doing this program on Howsha' hoping that those who are listening go to yada.yad.com and pick up Volume Eight of the Yada Yahowah Series entitled "Separation." On the cover is a picture of Jews forced into slavery holding the Manowrah on Hadrian's Arch which sets before the Coliseum which the Romans built by plundering the wealth of the Temple and using Jewish slaves. The most glorious building on Earth was turned into the most sinister and evil one. God's way verses man's way. Read it.

The Towrah was written and exists for you to observe. These books that are written are the basis of this program. The written word is much more effective when it comes to prophecy. God can memorialize a statement that He's made about our future 3,000 years ago and we can find written confirmation that He said those very things long before their fulfillment. It's a marvelous too.

KIRK: Why is there such a disconnect? Yisra'el becomes a state in 1948. In 1947 they discovered the Dead Sea Scrolls. These are translations from the Dead Sea Scrolls deities, the oldest stuff that we have and way beyond anything that's before the vowel pointing. Do they really think that's a coincidence or do they just dismiss it? We can see exactly what Yahowah was saying.

YADA: Yes, it's as close as you're going to get because it is a translation of the oldest surviving text. But mostly the difference here is that we will take every word and we will ... a bit of a diacritical markings that were created in the 11th century CE by rabbis with an agenda and we'll go back to what were the actual letters and what words were formed with those letters that are pertinent in this particular statement and render them in a way that's not only consistent with the message of that statement but overall consistent with the Yahowah's message. Every single word is stripped of the diacritical markings, we present it phonetically as it would sound in Hebrew in the genitive form within the translation itself. So, if you're reading the book online you can copy and paste into your favorite web search tool to verify every word in every translation and every translation itself until you've done it a thousand times, and after a while you say, "I've done this now a thousand times, that's what the word means. Maybe my time is going to be best spent now by going forward reading what this says because obviously I'm not being misled here and I have the ability to validate it myself," and read Yahowah's name as it was written.

Learn all the tools that you have in Hebrew, these marvelous relational stems, the conjugations about ongoing and completed activities, the moods; particularly volition, the fact that this language that the Towrah and Prophets was revealed in that didn't have tenses, it was not stuck in time because it was shared by a dimension who could maneuver in time, so every statement was, is and forever will be true.

Hebrew grammar is very much like light – it simply is. It's not timeless, it's timeful, so it's just this marvelous language where Yahowah has so many words to describe the things that are important. Look at Yahowah. While He has one name He has so many names for man: ish / male individual and 'isha / female individual, 'adam, 'enowsh / (mortal man)? Gerber / strong man with backbone, character and strength, (bakowr)? / Firstborn, zakar / a person who remembers, and it goes on and on. Yahowah has many terms for these kinds of things because it's important to know these distinctions. In some places we're rather impoverished with words.

My wife and Dee have been studying what is the extent of spiritual beings. They each have a viewpoint and together they are trying to ascertain what we can know about a subject that has limited information.

Yahowah speaks of a saba' which is typically translated "host," but it's a command-and-control regime of spiritual implements that does what Yahowah wants done. The ranks of the saba' appear to be comprised of the only term that Yahowah uses to describe them which is malak / spiritual messengers, heavenly envoys. And then He mentions a variation of what I think is the malak, the cherubim which flanked the sides of the Ark of the Covenant, they are depicted in the Tent of the Witness and were the guardians of Eden; they seem to be protective malak. He doesn't call them so, but they seem to have the same kind of abilities of the spiritual beings, and they all seem to be part of what's called the saba', this command-and-control regiment which is an important concept because it appears that these spiritual beings do not have free will, that they're created to do a job. And it appears that they're eternal, by all we can learn, and that since they can't be destroyed She'owl was invented for them which is akin to a black hole where their life / light goes and is trapped forever. So, there's some insights we're given. The most famous of all spirits, other than of course Yahowah, the Set-Apart Spirit / the Ruwach Qodesh, is haSatan.

He never says that haSatan is a malak; we're not given a lot of choices here. We know he lives forever; he was active in the Garden 6,000 years ago, so he's not an ordinary dude by any stretch of the imagination. He was in Heaven and was kicked out. He clearly is comprised of the same substance in the sense of an energy-based light being that he can endure through time as Yahowah because he's capable of being perceived as God by the religious. It's not very hard to fool the religious, but nonetheless he has that capability.

Having translated Ezekiel these last two months I can tell you he's a dunderhead. He is no one to fear, but he's not very smart. He's a lousy communicator and he doesn't play poker worth a damn; he will just lay it all out and say, "I was in Eden. I did it. I'm ruthless and sadistic. I've got 25 ways to kill a Jew. I am who I am." That's an example of we're not given a lot of information because I think what are we going to do with it? I'm not capable of being a malak, I'm certainly capable of benefiting from them, they provide protection services. The spirits of Yahowah are capable of enlightening us, we can benefit from them. I'm delighted to be protected, enlightened and empowered by the Ruwach Qodesh, our spiritual mother. I realize that Yahowah is a spiritual being. But we're not told a lot because this whole concept of existing beyond the three dimensions of geometric space that we are familiar with blows our mind.

God communicates who He is in very simple terms, Satan proves who he is in very certain terms and 99% of the people confuse one for another. How in the heck are we going to understand what it's like to be a spiritual being akin to light? We can't because we're not given a lot of information; we don't need it; we can't process it. But we know a lot about humankind and so there's like 12 words for man and woman including brother, sister, child, mother, father. These are human terms and variations of names for humankind and how we humans differ from animals which is very significant but not substantial. The only difference is really we were given a neshamah / conscience. We were designed to be upright so that we could walk without groveling and be able to use our hands, given opposable thumbs so that we can write and use tools. We're given the largest brain for our body size so we can think and understand. Then we were born into a situation where as babies we are totally dependent upon our father and mother for protection and nurturing. So, we have this opportunity to raise our children as God perceives the Covenant family. We need shelter, we don't do well without it. That's what God provides in the Covenant home. The way that we mate and conceive children, sensuality, romance and love are all designed to reflect aspects of the Covenant. We've talked about the symbol of the Covenant. You can say it's circumcision but what is left after you've tossed away that tiny bit of undescribed skin?

DEE: An upright pole.

YADA: The male member. It says that God does not have all the sexual hang-ups that we people have because of our stupid religions and that the place where men and women become one and conceive children to raise them as part of a loving family is celebrated. The very point of our union when we're loving one another is celebrated.

Covenant is a feminine term meaning "family." The sign of the Covenant is the male member. God celebrates it and so should we. There are so many useful insights that we just trash because of religious stupidity. We put women in tents rather than celebrating their beauty, we make sex taboo and we get it all screwed up. Why do you think there's this tragedy that happened in this young girl's life, why do you think men rape women? Do you think that if we had reasonable, loving sexual values and expressions that men would find it's somehow necessary to hurt a woman in that way and that they would trade the love and joy of a sexual union where you're with somebody that you genuinely love being with or causing pain hurting and degrading someone? I don't think so. Do you think that Islam would exist with its men dominating women if people had a healthy appreciation of the contribution of men and women in the creation of a family and loving home? I don't think so.

Anyway, we've reached the end of the broadcast portion of our show for tonight. The book of Howsha' gives us so many marvelous things to think about, to share, to know, to be enlightened and guided by, and the reasons that we should celebrate our relationship with Yahowah, His devotion to His family and His frustration with religion that it's hard to speak about Howsha' without sharing all the ways that it influences our lives.

It's interesting also that when this all began 22 years ago on Taruw'ah, the first book I translated was Howsha'. Since then, I've re-translated it eight times but even the feeble attempts were still, I think, the most accurate and complete translation. And, of course, each translation of Howsha' has been improved.

Just having an open mind and a real desire to know what the words say was such a refreshing change. The book has transformed many people's lives and it will transform more and more people's lives. This is the book that is most responsible for correctly labeling Judaism as the single biggest enemy of God's people, but it does not leave them estranged. It leads them to reconciliation.

KIRK: Howsha' 4:6 has been on my desk since I first started Yasha'yah 15 years ago.

YADA: It's still one of our all-time favorites. “My people are destroyed for lack of knowing.” It doesn't say My people are destroyed because they aren't religious for lack of faith, because they don't observe the Shabat with a thousand rules, because they are not bowing down and praying to Me or a stone wall. He doesn't say that My people are destroyed because they're not wearing their curlicues, black hats or mourning suits or they are not paying the rabbis enough money. No. It says, “My people are destroyed because they're stupid. My people are destroyed because they are ignorant and irrational. I've given the information to be really smart and to know the answer. It is an open book test.” And they don't give a crap. Open the right book. “My people are destroyed because they're stupid. You have neglected the Towrah teaching and guidance of your God. I'm gonna avoid your children. I'm a dad and it's a Covenant family. If you're not going to raise your children under the guidance of that family, then your children aren't going to be part of My family and you, for crying out loud, are not going to serve Me as priests, or as rabbis, you aren't going to serve Me period. It's going to get so bad that I'm going to have to call a gowym to get this message across to you.” Howsha' 4:6 paraphrased.

By the way, paraphrasing the Towrah is a fully in acceptable thing to do; what do you think the book of ... is or Dabarym? It's Moseh's paraphrase, expose', explanation of and commentary of the Towrah. This is what God said, this is what it means. While he's more articulate and brighter and was inspired as a Prophet there really is very little difference between Howsha', Dabarym and the Yada Yahowah series. Howsha' began: God said this, this is what it means, this is how it applies to your life. The 26 volumes of Yada Yahowah are all the same: this is what God said, this is what it means, this is how it applies to your life; there's no difference. The message is the same, the same Source is providing the message, the requirements and benefits are the same, it's the same process that you use to capitalize upon it, the language is the same, it's all the same.

It isn't the same, however, if you choose to call your Talmud the Towrah. It isn't the same if you choose to call your God Hashem or G – D, Jesus Christ or Allah. It isn't the same if you're reading from the Christian New Testament. It isn't the same if you're going to treat women and Jews in a derogatory manner because of what is revealed in Ezekiel. It isn't the same if you don't know that Dowd / David is the Son of God and the Messiah. It isn't the same unless you understand why Yahowah picked Moseh, why God begged him to go with Him, why Yahowah didn't go alone and why that 80-year-old broken down shepherd was the only person on the planet that God could have succeeded in accomplishing that mission with. The only one.

Why? If you don't know the answers to those questions, if you don't even know you should be asking those questions you are light years away from Yahowah, but it is resolvable.

Kick your religion out the door and stop being political. Open your mind, devote the time and begin Volume One of An Introduction to God and don't stop reading until you have read every book on that shelf at yadayah.com or yadayahowah.com. When you're done, you'll know Yahowah, and you'll be part of the Covenant. When you're done you will live forever. When you're done, you'll be enriched, empowered and you'll be adopted. You'll be perfected, liberated and you'll be as happy, satisfied and as excited about tomorrow as we are.

Well, that brings us to the end of our program, and I thank you all for listening. Thank you, Dee and Kirk, for participating. I look forward to being with you at this time next week; we'll continue with our mutual friend, Howsha' as if he were right here in the room with us sharing a message that is even more pertinent today than it was 2,700 years ago. I wish you all a wonderful Shabat.

Goodnight and Shabat Shalom.