Please Note: I have transcribed this to the best of my ability. Sound bites of parties speaking simultaneously and those which were inaudible to me have been deleted from the transcript. If I guessed at a word, it was followed by a ()? A___ (blank line) indicates I could not understand the word or phrase and three periods ... indicate an interruption in the dialogue of one party by another. Thank you for your understanding. MK

Good evening and welcome to Yada Yahowah. It was an interesting week. Kirk and my wife both sent me today an article by Seymour Hersh, arguably the foremost investigative journalist of our time, and if it hadn't been by him, I would have discounted it. Seymour Hersh is the fellow who ended the Viet Nam War, and I congratulate him on that. He was the one who investigated the Mai Lai Massacre during the Nixon Administration, which showed that we were entirely out of control, that we were manufacturing enemies, not killing them. You have to value his work on the Mai Lai Massacre. He was the one who destroyed the artificial credibility that was afforded to the George W. Bush Administration, including Condoleezza Rice, when he exposed Abu Ghraib where not only was America torturing prisoners when someone discovered that we were torturing prisoners Condoleezza Rice and the George W. Bush Administration had those who had followed their orders imprisoned while they accepted no responsibility; they later on bragged about the benefit of torture.

Seymour Hersh is the one that demonstrated that Pakistan was complicit in the killing of Osama Ben Laden. He is second to none in investigative journalism. I think yesterday he published one of the most stunning articles I've ever read. I write every day for at least ten hours and am adept at evaluating who can write and present facts well and who writes poorly and lacks evidence and reason. Seymour Hersh is brilliant. The case he makes for America engaging in the act of war against Russia is overwhelming. It is a mountain of evidence that he marshals from an inside source that names names, and talks about the dates, places, and people involved and what they said. Of course, the Biden Administration that made the decision that Seymour Hersh exposed says, "It's all fantasy; it's just not true!" And yet he has cited Secretary of State Blinken and Biden declaring that if Russia invades the Ukraine, the Nord Stream pipeline will be over and done with one way or another. We bombed it.

Usually, I would say that the evidence indicates, based upon a very comprehensive article on who did what to whom and how it was brought apart, but I've been doing this now for 22 years. I'm pretty good at noticing when people are lying; in this case, he is not.

America knowingly and deliberately, under the orders of the President of the United States, Biden, committed an act of war against Russia. We bombed their leading income source, the pipeline they had built under the Baltic Sea, to provide an inexpensive and efficient means of fueling Germany and Europe with natural gas. We blew it up. It's astonishing!

I've been talking about this not from the beginning because it was in May of 2008 that George Bush, someone that I knew personally and disrespected enormously, (told)? all that would listen that we were declaring war on Russia when he announced that he intended to make the Ukraine, formerly part of Russia, and other nations bordering Russia part of NATO. It was a declaration of war.

Around 2013, two of the Republican Party's most extraordinary military acts of propaganda, one again who I knew personally, John McCain, and Lindsey Graham, are on video in the Ukraine telling the Ukrainians that their war will be our war, that we will arm them, stand behind them and fight with them until they achieved victory over Russia. This was sometime right after America overthrew by riot the popularly elected Democratic government of the Ukraine so that we could make them part of NATO. Ten years ago, the United States declared war on Russia through a proxy in the Ukraine. If you're a patriot and think that's a great idea, shame on you because I have said, and will continue to say, it's going to end in a nuclear war. Thousands, maybe hundreds of thousands, have died, but soon millions will die because this is what we have deliberately and knowingly brought upon ourselves and have blamed it on Putin, who did what he had to do.

It was a fantastic read to discover what Seymour Hersh found. We taunted the Russians saying we would do it; we taunted the Germans and said we were going to do it, and right before what has turned out to be the coldest winter on record, we cut off the natural gas supply to Europe by bombing a commercial pipeline.

What are the Russians going to do in retaliation? Will they destroy the American cables over the channels to Europe? Will they take out America's satellites? Will they bomb America's naval shipyards, air force bases, or the White House for making that decision? What are they going to do? We declared war on Russia and bombed their primary source of revenue, so why wouldn't Russia be justified in bombing the refineries in Houston? Think about it; what would stop them from doing so, particularly as we give tanks, long-range missiles, and all manner of weaponry to the Ukraine by the hundreds of billions of dollars to kill Russians, all because we were too stupid to recognize that this was the Cuban Missile Crisis all over again, and this time we were the antagonist. This is unbelievably stupid.

And now to learn that America engaged its military to bomb an essential Russian target. It's stunning. You read the article, Kirk. What's your impression?

KIRK: I was stunned. The only thing I can think of it can't happen right away. I'm surprised it hasn't already been launched. That's an act of war. We're confronted by China; this is not saber-rattling, this is serious stuff. This war in Europe as we have come to conclude recently will lead to a nuclear war. The only thing I think that is saving America right now is that 40% of Yahuwrym are living in this country and this is not the way it plays out yet, and we have a mission to at least reach them with the truth and what they do with it is what they do with it. I think that's the only thing keeping it at bay. I don't know what else to say; I was horrified by this article.

YADA: It's embarrassing to be an American. The saddest thing about it is that perhaps 99.99% of Americans have been naively and perhaps willingly beguiled into believing that America is right; that it was right to sanction and taunt Russia and to claim that the Ukraine should be part of NATO, that's it right to send hundreds of billions of dollars of weapons to the Ukraine to fight Russia. It is astonishing that we are that easily beguiled that we could create a boogie man with the best of them. That's how we engaged in WWI, it's how the Spanish American and Viet Nam wars began; we created artificial boogie men. We lied as a nation to justify war and we're doing it again. But we're doing it now against a country with the largest stash of nuclear weapons, and there is no prevailing. Russia will either conquer the Ukraine against US and European weapons and not stopping there will use conventional warfare to invade Poland and other nations bringing Europe into war, that's the best we can possibly hope for because if that clown Zelenskyy gets his way and continues to con western countries and they are provided with more weaponry and Russia were to lose, that is the worst possible scenario. It's not that we give a damn about Russia, we don't. We don't care about Putin, and we could care less about the Ukraine based upon their history of anti-Semitism and graft. As Putin's lead ally said this week, "The world has never experienced what happens when a nuclear armed country is faced with its own survival." And what it likely means is that this war will go nuclear. It's inevitable and we brought it upon ourselves.

I sent to you, Kirk, an astonishing article on Zelenskyy, which the leftist media would have you believe was debunked, that Zelenskyy said back in September or October of last year that there needed to be a "preemptive strike" against Russia's nuclear forces. Now, there's only one way you can have a preemptive strike against Russia's nuclear forces. That would be a preemptive nuclear strike against Russia. He's on video; you can watch it. He's on video calling for Europe to take out Russia's nuclear capability with a "preemptive strike" as he calls it. That would mean he is calling on Europe and the United States to launch a nuclear war against Russia. That's how insane this man is. And yet we as a nation are so grotesquely immoral we don't have anybody with a backbone to call him out and condemn him. The best the media could do was try to debunk the story by saying, "He didn't actually call for nuclear war, but he called for a preemptive strike against Russia's ability to launch a nuclear war." What in the hell do you think that is? Are you that stupid that you don't know what that means? The Conspirators are saying it was reason and it wasn't really reason, it was at the Lowy conference in September of 2022. Yeah, it was. So, there we are five months ago, and no one is talking about it in the mainstream media.

Seymour Hersh has a brilliant mind. He clearly figured out what should have been obvious to all of us based upon the rhetoric out of the Biden Administration that we deliberately took out the Russian Nord 1 and 2 pipelines and then blamed the Russians for it just like we have engaged in this war against Russia and then blamed Russia for it. But why is it that a man this bright is missing the story of the century, that we started this damned war, that we wanted this damned war and that we will do anything to continue this damned war? The pieces and evidence are all there, why can't he do that? We don't know the answer to that, I'm sure he doesn't either.

Last week there was the face of this clueless, Progressive Liberal saying, "I'm embarrassed driving my Tesla now Elon Musk is not a Progressive. Look what he's doing with Twitter." Good grief. Elon Musk is a Liberal; he voted for Biden. He's just not clueless like you. So, you want to condemn your pretense of being environmentally honorable when in fact the electric cars are far more disastrous to our economy than our gasoline-powered cars because you will only associate with that which mirrors your Progressive and Liberal view. That's spectacular. But nonetheless that's the way the world is.

There's an article from Israel this week that says that less than one-third of Jewish Israelis trust the rabbinic. Two-thirds, almost 70 percent of Israeli Jews know that the least trustworthy people in Israel are the rabbis. The only people that support them are, of course, the Haredim who control them. It's damning, is it not?

Here's another article I thought was fascinating. When you translate the Towrah, particularly the Creation account, very early on Yahowah says that the nursery for the emerging stars is water vapor. You think, there's some water vapor in the nebula by why would He say that water vapor was so prevalent? As the Webb telescope appears deeper into space and has clearer views of galaxies and nebula, has shown that water vapor is everywhere and is particularly prevalent where stars are being formed. Yahowah was right.

Another story from India, the Hindu religion is really screwed up. A young Indian girl after being raped by her uncle was sold to a religious facility in India where she became a sex slave to one of their goddesses. She was eight when raped and ten when she became a temple prostitute. You would have thought that as the world progressed a little that somewhere along the way the religious idiots would learn temple prostitution is probably a bad idea. Raping our children and selling them as sex slaves is probably not the most wonderful thing we could do, and yet it is exceedingly prevalent in India among the Hindus.

We don't talk a lot about Hinduism on this program because, frankly, the Hindus are so lost in space and are just not all that damning of Israel, and Yahowah is focused only on those who attack Israel. So, this is just a contingent that is immoral and grotesque out there that we should report on from time to time because they do some despicable things.

There was a bombing of a police mosque in Pakistan (which is 99% Muslims) this week that killed 150 people and wounded 28. It was perpetrated by Muslims against Muslims. When Muslims are left alone, they kill Muslims. When someone tries to help them, they kill those trying to help them. What's the best answer? If you try helping them, they kill you; if you withdraw from them they kill one another.

DEE: You leave them alone.

YADA: I think you just leave them alone. An exception to that is what happened recently in Northern Syria and the southern part of Turkey. It is clear that Erdoğan has made a mess by turning Turkey back into an Islamic nation as opposed to an independent secular one. Hopefully he will be booted out of office because of grotesque handling of the earthquakes. In southern Turkey there was a 7.8 earthquake followed by a 7.5 and a swarm of 5s and 6s. It's true that there are very few if any places that can withstand a 7.5 or a 7.8 earthquake. If it happened in California, it would be rubble. There are some things that I noticed in Turkey that I want to share.

Prior to an earthquake, to live in Turkey would be my view of Hell. If you look at the cities that were devastated and turned to rubble you would see that every building is the same; the same height, width, length, the same color and roof, and all have the same apartments set side by side. They are all the same and hideously ugly. They are all built by one architect, one builder for all. Whoever the architect, he does not care about life or ethics because there is very little rebar but an enormous amount of cinderblocks in these buildings. The floors are pancaked upon one another. When you look at the edge of these pancaked floors you see that rebar is missing. Concrete without rebar is a rock. It is stunning that people live in those conditions; it's like a prison camp. It's astonishing that people constructed buildings without any inspiration. That's what Islam does to a culture.

Another interesting thing about watching Turkey in the aftermath is where in the hell is the Turkish government? You see people trying to move blocks of concrete with their bare hands throwing blocks in the streets, which does more harm than good, but you don't see the Turkish military. You see the Israeli military there and the Israelis building field hospitals, the IDF is there in spades doing wonderful work. People from all around the world came to help the Turks except for the Turkish government. You see a few trackhoes there but no dump trucks. What good is a trackhoe if you don't have a dump truck to move the rubble out of the way? If you simply put it in the street, you've accomplished nothing.

Interestingly, you don't see caravans of food, blankets, tents and things that people need. It's freezing there and people are completely unprepared to take care of their own. It is exceedingly sad. The death toll is now well over 25,000 and growing. The agony that people have been trapped under this rubble and have died because of poor quality in workmanship and because the government had no ability to marshal the kind of equipment needed to save these people makes this a deadly and horrific situation.

The Ukraine this week is pleading for two things beyond a preemptive nuclear strike against Russia; that ought to work out really well. They say they need in addition to the tanks they received they now want fighter aircraft and 17 billion dollars in additional financing to repair the damage that has been done by using them as a proxy for war in addition to the 15 billion they need to resolve the graft problem that has existed for years making it the least moral nation in Europe.

The last news item is that the Roman Catholic, ever the loyal beacon of the world, signed an accord with the Communist government of China this week. The deal is that China will accept their presence within the Communist country so long as the Communist government gets to determine who is ordained as a priest. There were 250-some priests that the Communist government ordained that the Catholic Church said, "Wait a minute. They are just Communists," that the church agreed could be priests so long as the Communist government gave them a license to operate. Boy, that's taking the high ground, isn't it?

That's enough news for one program.

This was the passage in Howsha' 5:1 that we were still discussing when the time ran out last week.

“Hear this (shama’ zo’th – listen to this and process the information), those who are priests and have become religious leaders (ha kohen – ministers tasked with explaining and facilitating participation in the Beryth and Miqra’ey via the Towrah).

Pay attention and be attentive to what you are hearing (wa qashab – listen diligently and accept this information as true, then respond to it), Family of Yisra’el (beyth Yisra’el).

Household of the king and extended family of political leaders (beyth ha melek – home of government rulers), open your ears to hear as tools to evaluate and consider (’azan – broaden the scope of what you are hearing, give ear and listen; from ’azan – to weigh, test, prove, and consider, ’azen – implements and tools, and ’ozen – ears).

For this (ky) just assessment (ha mishpat – this rational evaluation and reasoned conclusion using sound judgment leading to a justified condemnation) applies to you (la ’atem).

So, religious leaders, common people, political leaders, all this applies to you.

Indeed (ky), you have become (hayah – you exist as) a snare,

You are your own worst enemy.

a dangerous means to control others (pach – you are plotting a calamity to trap and restrict) la Mitspah | with the means to be observant (la Mitspah – approaching the way to be watchful, to explore and examine, to focus upon and consider; from my – to consider the implications of tsaphah – being observant), in addition to (wa) a net (resheth – a means to capture, control, and confine, a network designed to impoverish and dispossess others; from yarash – to disinherit) spread out (parash – scattered around) upon (’al) Tabor | a broken and confused world (Tabor – the confounding abominations of the Earth; from tabar – broken and tebel – perverted and confounded world).” (Howsha’ / He Liberates / Hosea 5:1)

That’s a blanket indictment of the three factions of Israeli society.

Rather than pontificate their agenda, God wanted those guiding His people to “perceive, ponder and consider, even prove the validity and efficacy,” of His Towrah | Instructions. They would do well to “weigh and test” the Towrah and Prophets when shepherding God’s flock.

The mishpat | which is the just means the Yahowah provided to evaluate His method of exonerating His people would serve as His justification for condemning the whole lot of them – the religious, the political, and those they sought to control.

Control is the operative word. That's the basis of religion. The Haredim do it as well as anyone. They control the people's access to information. We don't have to worry about the Haredim; they are not listening to the show, they can't because they don't have access to the internet. Their phones won't even make a call to anyone who is not on the Haredim approved list. It's the most control the religious has ever been imposed on other religious people. They tell them how to dress, where to live, what to eat, what they can and can't do, what they have to read and what they can't read, and they control their access to information outside of their community. They are stupefied. They are so stupid they will fight to maintain their subjugation. Ultra-Orthodox Judaism is the worst thing that ever happened to Israel.

Make no mistake, Israel is not like the rest of the world. In the rest of the world Reformed Judaism which is Judaism light and Conservative Judaism which is Judaism medium are much more prevalent than Ultra-Orthodox | Haredim Judaism. In Israel because they don't have a constitution, a deal was made to give rabbis control over society. They get to control who gets to emigrate, who is married and divorced and what you eat. They have enormous say and under the Netanyahu government they are bribed to get what that government wants for it to function. In Israel Reformed, Conservative or standard Orthodox Jews collectively make up less than five percent of the population while the Ultra-Orthodox Jews having nothing to do but bore themselves with their Talmud and make babies, because they don't work, are growing rapidly. And now the Haredim want to control the agenda of Israel even further and certainly are not willing to listen to Yahowah's declaration in Shamuw'el where He said that you ought not be political because this is all the negatives of politics, but nonetheless their current agenda is to criminalize any practice of Judaism that doesn't comply with their own and to not allow anyone to emigrate into Israel who doesn't acquiesce to their control.

Control is the nature of politics and religion. The method of those who deploy these approaches to governments is to mislead and snare their prey. Those who succumb do so out of ignorance and once trapped the masses discover that there is no escape. If you try to get out of the Haredi order, it's grotesque what they will do to you. Other than dying at the hands of their tormentors there is no escape. As the Twentieth Century demonstrated the onslaught of poligious doctrines such as Nazism, Imperialism, and Communism the lives of over one hundred million people were sacrificed to the schemes of men. We're not becoming more civilized; we are becoming less so. And it's only going to get worse as we move deeper into this century and enter the Time of Ya'aqob's Troubles. The deadliest nets will be cast upon Tabor | a broken and confused world. We've already shared that the world is heading directly to nuclear war.

I don't think nuclear war is going to be the worst of it. I think we're headed to absolute and total economic collapse. Saudi Arabia even made overtures this week saying they are beginning to consider taking currencies other than the US dollar for gas and oil. When BRIC prevails in replacing the petrodollar the US economy is over and the whole charade collapses. A simple and yet devastating concept.

We began this program some 20 years ago talking about the US deficit of a few billion dollars as being out of control. Now it's 30-35 trillion. It was salvageable 20 years ago; it's not salvageable anymore. It's all an illusion. You combine the dilemma of war with economic collapse and that with starvation, famine, and the growing menace of pandemic disease, it's going to be very bad out there.

Mizpah's gruesome tale begins in Shaphat / Judges 19:10 and runs through the end of the book. The Yisra'elites were gathered together, including chiefs and clerics, "to consider, take counsel, and speak up" about "the wickedness that had taken place."

It's a gruesome story. In fact, Presbyterian students taking ordination to receive their Doctor of Divinity and to be frocked in the Presbyterian Church were told to write an essay on how they would give a sermon over the lessons that could be learned by this story. They said it was traumatizing to them and are suing the Presbyterian Church.

A woman had been raped and murdered by a mob of Benjamites. "As a result, they took an oath concerning those who did not respond to Yahowah at Mizpah, saying, 'He shall surely be put to death.' One tribe is cut off from Yisra'el today."

By contrast, Tabor is cloaked in victory. This is where the great Judge and Prophet Dabowrah lured Sisera to the mountain to end his oppression of God's people. Mitspah and Tabor are Tragedy and Hope. And they are both used as bait to trap and control the religious and political.

That's another exceedingly graphic tale as how the women prevailed against Sisera and what Sisera and his men were doing. They were involved in human trafficking of virginal Israeli women as sex slaves. When God says, "We've got a problem, folks," He's not kidding. We have a problem.

In translating Ezekiel, the inspiration for Ezekiel is the serpent | Satan. After thirty-some-odd chapters being devoted to twenty-five ways to kill Jews you realize this is not going to work out for me and I have to lure Jews into my company because if Jews are not willing to worship me as God and perceive that I am Yahowah, then my whole gig is up; I've lost. One of the things he promises them as he tries to lure them to his side is that he will return them to the glory days. I said, "Excuse me.

When was Israel glorious?" They certainly weren't glorious during the time of pre-Israel with 'Abraham; he was a scalawag or during the time of Ya'aqob who became Israel; the dude had his issues. They were not glorious as they were fighting amongst each other scared to death, or during the Exodus; they were at their worst, they were despicable. They weren't glorious under King Sha'uwl or even under Dowd during that brief moment when he unified Yisra'el. It was civil war, infighting and nations attacking them and Dowd occasionally even tripping on his own tongue. It wasn't glorious. And after that as they became divided with Yisra'el violently opposing Yahuwdah we find Yisra'el in 722 BCE bludgeoned into submission and hauled off into historic obscurity by the Assyrians. There's nothing glorious there. And after that there is no Israel, only Yahuwdah, and there wasn't much glory there. They had to endure the Assyrians again, then the Babylonians, then the Greeks, three attacks and invasions by the Romans, then the Byzantine Christians, then the Muslims and then the Europeans. It hasn't been very glorious.

"The rebellious insurgents who are openly defiant (wa set – those who swerve to-and-fro, turning aside and falling away) are intensely and deeply ('amaq – are profoundly and cunningly) murderous, even genocidal (shachatah – deadly to the point of sacrificing humans), so I (wa 'any) will judge and punish all of them, inflicting the appropriate penalty upon each of them, which is to incarcerate the totality of them (muwsar la hem – will shackle and constrain every one of them to rebuke them all)." (Howsha' / He Protects / Hosea 5:2)

God is not pleased with the condition of Yisra'el. Rebellious, openly defiant, murderous, genocidal; what's He talking about? The fact is that for Israel's entire history it was rebellious against God, openly defiant against Yahowah. They never ever embraced Yahowah. Most of Yisra'el's problems with its neighbors was there was always a group within Yisra'el that thought they were hot stuff, that their way was the right way, and they could use terror tactics to overcome the larger empires. What they did with Egypt when Egypt was an overlord and trying to stop Egypt from engaging in a battle against Assyria caused them to be bludgeoned by Egypt and made them susceptible to Assyria. Then when they couldn't make up their mind if they wanted to bribe Babylon or Egypt to protect them, the Babylonians came and whacked them. Look at what happened with the Greeks; that's the whole Maccabean thing where they became guerrilla fighters and terrorists.

Look what happened with the Romans. There's no question that the Romans were bad. They were horrendous no matter what country they occupied but there was no country that the Roman legions sought to wipe out three times, and a lot of it was brought on by a genocidal rage of Israelis. I'm not trying to justify the Romans and Greeks; they were despicable as were the Assyrians, Babylonians, Muslims, but Israel has been her own worst enemy for a long time.

The proponents of religion who are overtly hostile to Yahowah and His people, who deliberately pull the unsuspecting away from the proper path, are genocidal from Yahowah's perspective. Religion is mass suicide.

And for that, they have earned their express ticket to Hell. God is going to judge and punish them all, inflicting the appropriate penalty on each insurgent, which will be at the very least, to incarcerate them in She'owl. To be just, recompense is required to be fair to those they deliberately killed.

We don't know what percentage of Jewish people will end up in She'owl verses their souls dissipating into nothingness. I personally don't think She'owl is a punishment. It's an odd thing to say. Clearly the dissipation of one's soul - you don't know Yahowah, Yahowah doesn't know you, you were misled but didn't actively mislead others and at the end of your mortal existence your soul simply dissipates; that clearly is no penalty. It's not a reward nor is it a penalty. You were given the opportunity to live your life and make your choices; you just didn't make good ones.

But for those who were belligerent, who deliberately led people astray, who attacked and harassed Jews, something else has to happen. Based on what we read, primary punishment will occur during judgment when they receive what they dolled out. So, I think a lot of recompenses we're going to witness is a means to leave those they victimized whole. I think their punishment is at that time, and the black hole they will spend their eternity in is designed for a simple thing – a quarantine, eternal separation. There's no god there to torture anybody. We've found enough black holes in the universe so that everyone can have their own private black hole. A black hole (is a singularity)? It is precisely the way Yahowah describes She'owl. It is a place where there is a complete absence of light, nothing escapes, and time is eternal. The only dimension that exists in a black hole is time, and it is eternal. Once you even approach the (event)? threshold of a black hole, time simply stops, and in the center of a black hole, time is.

I have been watching several programs recently about the nature of space-time. Interestingly, when you are in the proximity of energy like that of the life of a star, time is. They talk about this precisely like we talk about the Hebrew language, like we speak of light and where Yah is taking us, that in the fourth dimension where we are stuck in the ordinary flow of time where it only moves in one direction at one pace for us as a four-dimensional construct rather than a three-dimensional construct time will be as navigable as is the three dimensions that we understand and can maneuver in. They talk about how time will exist.

An interesting thing about time maneuverability is that you cannot change things as you go back in time. You can observe them because they have already happened, but because they have already happened, you cannot change them; that is an astonishingly vital fact to know that you don't get a redo by going back in time because of the catastrophic effects of that. The fact that it has already happened is assured that you're going back in time; you can witness it, you just can't change it. It's a fascinating study. They talk about the things that we have been talking about, how these things are dimensional, and how somebody can understand time and space in this way.

“I, Myself, am aware of (‘any yada’ – I have noticed and so I am familiar with) ‘Ephraym | Ashes (‘Ephraym – Worthless Specks of Carbon; from ‘epher – useless ash [describes the ten tribes of the Northern Kingdom]).

And Yisra’el | those who Contend and Struggle with God (wa Yisra’el) is not hidden (lo’ kachad – is not concealed) from Me (min ‘any).

For now (ky ‘atah), ‘Ephraym | Worthless Specks of Carbon (‘Ephraym – Ashes) is an unfaithful, immoral, and disingenuous religious whore (zanah – is a prostitute, a harlot feigning affection to many for monetary gain).

And Yisra’el (Yisra’el – Individuals who Strive and Struggle Against God) is defiled (tame – is unclean and impure, improper and desecrated, polluted and sullied, dishonorable and deplorable). (Howsha’ 5:3)

Their cultural traditions, social customs, religious practices, and political dealings (ma’alal hem – their actions and activities) do not allow (lo’ nathan – preclude) a return to (la shuwb ‘el – restoration with (qal infinitive – the intensity and genuineness of a continuous and demonstrable return)) their God (‘elohym hem).

Indeed, it is certain that (ky) an illegitimate and duplicitous spirit (ruwach zenuwnym – a disloyal and immoral, an unreliable and whorish, religious spirit akin to a prostitute acting under false pretenses) is within them (ba qereb hem – is within their midst and inner nature).

Therefore (wa), they do not know or understand (lo’ yada’ – they are not familiar with and do not acknowledge, they are unaware of and do not respect) Yahowah (יְהוָה – a transliteration of YaHoWaH as instructed in His towrah – teaching regarding His hayah – existence).” (Howsha’ / He Delivers / Hosea 5:4)

That is true today. It would be hard to find even a handful among the seven million Jews living in Israel who know Yahowah’s name, who understand His nature, who appreciate what He is offering, and have any understanding of what He is expecting in return. Those who know and understand Yahowah are almost universally in this position because they have read Yada Yahowah.

Ezekiel is Satan's autobiography and playbook all laid out for us to consider. I just finished the Valley of the Dry Bones which is a hoot. The resurrection in the Valley of Dry Bones is for a single purpose. Satan must, to prevail, claim every Yisra'elite that has ever lived. For a draw he just has to keep anybody from attending Yowm Kipurym in year 6000 Yah here in 2023, but to win he needs every Yisra'elite. So, the Valley of the Dry Bones is supposedly every Yisra'elite who has ever lived all being assembled together, all resurrected and yet among the tens of millions of them there's not a single soul and there's only one spirit, Satan's. It's a very frightening thing.

So, we're looking at this and saying, "Alright. Satan is – listen, you don't see this in the English translations because they do not translate ruwach as spirit but that's what ruwach means. He repeats it 20 times that "I'm giving them my spirit. I'm claiming them as my own. I will be their god. They will acknowledge me." Of course, once he says that he just leaves them to rot and erode back into the dirt because he doesn't give a crap about their lives, he just needs their profession, for them to acknowledge that he is God.

He claims he has every Yisra'elite. So, he's allegedly got tens of millions of Yisra'elites in his dream that are resurrected. To give them all a spirit, and at one point he talks about spirits being called from the four winds, or the Four Spirits, it's unclear if he's saying he is comprised of four spirits, or if he can command spirits from all over the universe, or if he is a singular spirit. Normally you would say it's Satan and he's probably lying to us. This idea that Satan drug a third of the heavenly host with him is a Revelation concept; it's not said anyplace else, so we really have to discard it because we don't know how many, or if any, mal'ak may be unified with Satan. What we do know is that Satan claims he can possess every Yisra'elite that has ever lived. He's claiming he can resurrect them, he can give them temporary life, he can cause them to bear his spirit which is to damn them to She'owl. So, when God says,

Indeed, it is certain that (ky) an illegitimate and duplicitous spirit (ruwach zenuwnym – a disloyal and immoral, an unreliable and whorish, religious spirit akin to a prostitute acting under false pretenses) is within them (ba qereb hem – is within their midst and inner nature).

He is speaking of ha Satan. He is not saying spirits, plural; it is spirit, singular, a duplicitous spirit, singular. So, there appears to be a way, based upon what Satan is claiming himself and what we read here that ha Satan can leverage his spirit and imbue many people with him. Two of his victims we know for certain were Paul and Muhammad and my guess is that you would find the same thing is true of Akiba, Maimonides, Adolf Hitler, Hadrian, Titus and a few other special individuals. We are fighting a spiritual battle. The thing that was so humorous about Ezekiel is that this is Satan's game plan; he has never been held accountable for it. Not a single person in 2,500 years has held him accountable for it. This is Satan's stand; this is what I'm going to achieve. He's been done in by a dumb gowy. I'll tell you what. He did not see that one coming. He can and has read Yirma'yah which speaks of what we do and Yasha'yah which is prolific about what we're doing, but he didn't seem to be able to put together those pieces.

Therefore (wa), they do not know or understand (lo' yada' – they are not familiar with and do not acknowledge, they are unaware of and do not respect) Yahowah (יהוה – a transliteration of YaHoWaH as instructed in His towrah – teaching regarding His hayah – existence).” (Howsha' / He Delivers / Hosea 5:4)

We've looked at yada' from both sides now, from up and down, and still somehow, it's illusions of yada' Yisra'el recalls, because they don't know yada' at all.

There are many revealing verbs in the Hebrew lexicon, but when it comes to Yahowah, yada' is best of all.

Yada' means to “know in a familial sense,” “to be aware of, to recognize, to acknowledge.” When you put those concepts in association with Yahowah's name, persona, His nature and purpose it doesn't get better than yada' Yahowah. And that's what this text just said.

Yahowah was aware that Yisra'el | those who were contending with God had become 'Ephraym | Worthless Specks of Carbon. Their religion had defiled them, making them unacceptable. Judaism had taken its toll, sullyng a now hopelessly polluted, dishonorable, and deplorable people.

If you are listening and are a religious Jew and not, obviously a Haredim because if you were you would not be able to listen, you might say, “It's not fair. Judaism wasn't created until the first century CE, you can't pin this on us, this was written in the eighth century BCE.” Oh yeah? What do claim as the basis for your Talmud? Do you not claim the basis of your Talmud is the Oral Torah which would have been delineated in 1447 BCE? No, you don't get off. Hebrew is a timeful language. It's true past, present and future. When God is condemning political, religious and common Yisra'elites it was true then, it is true now. Nothing has changed.

I understand the Haredim have a different wrinkle, their religion was created by Baal Shem Tov in the beginning of the 18th century CE. It's not as new as Mormonism or Scientology but it is equally wacked and fairly recent.

Yahowah was aware that all this would happen, that Yisra'el | those who were contending with God had become 'Ephraym | Worthless Specks of Carbon. Their religion had defiled them, making them unacceptable. He knows Judaism has done this. Judaism had taken its toll, sullyng a now hopelessly polluted, dishonorable, and deplorable people.

As a consequence of ma'alal hem | their cultural traditions, social customs, religious practices, and political dealings, there would be no right of return, no homecoming, no means to restoration or reconciliation.

That's another thing that Satan gets wrong. He realizes that the end date for him is Reconciliations in year 6000 Yah, at sunset at 6:22 p.m. in Jerusalem on October 2, 2033; it's game over. The moment Dowd returns the Adversary is cut down and dispatched. The moment Yahowah reconciles His relationship with Yisra'el it's over for him whether there are seven or seven thousand people there. He will do everything he can to try and preclude that from happening.

Ezekiel doesn't have the same Mow'ed Miqra'ey that are in the Towrah. He has Passover but what do you get? You get eternal life, but he skips a few. He has no Shabu'ah, for example, there's no enlightening, enriching or empowering of God's children. They ... forever. There is no Taruw'ah which is the very definition of what we are doing now. Ezekiel has also seen as no consequence Kipurym, the very day that is the last trump card for him, that it is over for him, that Dowd returns with Yahowah. But no, we can't have Kipurym. There can be no reconciliation, or I'm done. The eighth day of Sukah is also missing. Why? Because there can be no eternity of everlasting life of camping out with God in 'Eden.

But he has handy replacements: There is an annual celebration of Shabat because from his view of Shabat is the day that God and man do nothing. Then there is the celebration of the "New Year." It's interesting when I was ... timeline in Daniel, as Dowd was talking to Daniel, was trying to beat some sense into the idiot, he gave him a timeline. If you look at that timeline it is apparent that Satan's appearance in Yaruwshalaim, for his crowning achievement, to stay on top of Mount Mowryah to be worshiped and acknowledged as God happens to be 'Abyb / Nissan what we will observe as 2030, just fourteen days before the arrival of the two witnesses. His holiday of holidays is New Years Day, the very day that he instead of Yahowah arrives in Jerusalem, beating Yahowah by some 40 months trying to preclude His return on Kipurym. It's an interesting story as Satan would have us believe how things will play out.

When God is precluded from speaking to a people, they cannot hear Him, they cannot know Him, or exist anywhere near Him. This is why the ten tribes have long been considered lost. They had lo' nathan | negated the gift of life in a relationship with Yahowah.

To be invited by God to proceed along the Path to know Him, to be invited by Yahowah into the Covenant, which is clearly how it happened, Yahowah didn't tell us the stories of these interesting individuals that He worked with along the way and give the details of how it all began for nothing. There is a common trait; they all walked away from religion and politics before Yahowah knew and called them. The Covenant says you must do this, that it is a prerequisite. Yahowah won't even reach out to someone to invite them to know Him until they have done these things. So, if you are religious or political Yahuwdim or Gowym, you have put up a giant wall that says God is not welcome here and He is not going to break it down. Until you walk on the other side and put that wall between you and religion, that's __ God.

I will be bringing up Ezekiel a lot because it is such an eye opener in terms of what Satan intends. One of the things you learn is just how insistent he is on convincing every Jew to know him. This very thing we are doing which is exposing Yahowah to people is going to thwart him. But understand that the Serpent, the (lowy tan)? the title Yahowah loves to give him (it's from Yasha'yah), this serpent needs a clean sweep; to win he needs every Yisra'elite. He's playing a very different game than Yahowah is. His game is numbers, "I gotta have them all." Yahowah is not playing that game; His game is quality. He was happy with 'Adam in the Garden, He was happy with His relationship with Dowd, He was delighted with His relationship with Moseh, He loved Sarah and tolerated 'Abraham. He managed to get along with Ya'aqob, which took some doing. Yisra'el was initially a tiny group. Yahowah is not looking for numbers. If there are seven people at Kipurym, wonderful if they are wonderful people. We win if there are seven people there and Satan loses if there are seven because he plays a game of numbers and Yahowah plays a game of quality.

The verb, shuwb | to return and be restored, was presented in the qal infinitive, affirming that the obstacles in their path were daunting and enduring. Over the next twenty-seven centuries, Yisra'elites would identify with their customs, traditions, and religion, but not their God.

About 40% of Yisra'elites living in Israel are Progressives and are incapable of thinking. They are marching by the hundreds of thousands in Tele Viv because they think by reforming the judiciary in Israel and having the jurors appointed by the people who are actually elected that they will be destroying democracy, that democracy is somehow based on somehow having a judiciary that is completely outside the reign of people's management. They are so stupid they will march by the hundreds of thousands in Tele Viv to say that they won't tolerate the death of democracy that would occur by having political and judicial reform and making the judiciary under the control of the elected officials.

I'm certainly not a fan of the Netanyahu government nor am I endorsing what he's doing, but I can tell you the arguments that are being made by United States, France and others against Israel that they are foregoing democracy as they make the judiciary accountable to elected officials is stupid. I mention this because that is the nature of Progressives. They flat out can't think. Forty percent of Israelis are outside the bounds of people that we have any chance of reaching for Yahowah. They will not be among the seven or seven thousand.

Then on the other side the Haredim, the fundamentalist Jews, soon to represent 40% of Israel today and rapidly growing are not reachable either. No amount of evidence or reason is ever going to cause them to embrace Yahowah. So, now you're dealing with only 20% of Jews in America, Israel and throughout Europe. And that 20% has to give up on the customs, conspiracies, politics and any form of their religion, be willing to open their minds to Yahowah and open these books to read about what Yahowah has said that He's offering and what He is expecting in return, and what percentage of that.

The first person to join the Covenant family was Joe Page, my good friend for so many years, who was so essential to getting these books initially online; he's Jewish. We have Dr Jeff, who is I'm sure listening to us in Florida tonight. He was among the first handful of people that read Yaha Yahowah and became a Covenant member; he is Jewish. My wife is a Covenant member, and she is Jewish. We have many members of the Covenant who have done the DNA test and found out they are in fact ethnically Jewish. We have already won, and Satan has lost. And there will be thousands.

While it is interesting that most Jews would identify with their customs, traditions, religions and not their God, that is clearly what occurred, and it is heartbreaking, it isn't the worst of it. It is one thing to reject Yahowah and another altogether to accept ha Satan | the Adversary. And yet, that is precisely what God is revealing through His prophet: “It is certain that (ky) an illegitimate and duplicitous spirit, a disloyal and immoral spirit, an unreliable and whorish, religious spirit akin to a prostitute acting under false pretenses (ruwach zenuwnym) is within them (ba qereb hem).” As a consequence, “they do not know or understand, are unfamiliar with and fail to acknowledge (lo' yada'), Yahowah (YaHoWaH).” And it was all because they were acting like zanah | unfaithful, immoral, and disingenuous religious whores. It may have been the oldest profession, but it is not the most desirable.

It's so bad that Jewish religious leaders now for 2,500 years have studied, written upon and incorporated what is found in Ezekiel, extolled it, and yet the book dehumanizes, demonizes, seek to obliterate Jews and it's so obviously satanic and yet they write glowingly of it. I feel a sense of satisfaction for being the first person in 2,500 years to point this out and to prove it, but I really shouldn't. Yes, it's technical writing, yes it requires a person to know Yahowah to be able to differentiate between Yahowah and the Adversary, but it should have been done a million times. It wasn't all that difficult; if a dumb gowdy can do it anybody ought to be able to do it.

Fortunately, they were left with a glimmer of hope. The negation of yada' was scribed in the perfect conjugation which means that it would not have to remain that way forever. In that prior statement that we read, that they do not know Yahowah, that means that they did not know Yahowah then. It doesn't mean they would never know Yahowah. If it were so, it would have to be written in the imperfect. Thankfully, it was not.

Perhaps by juxtaposing yada' and Yahowah, God is suggesting that Yada Yahowah may contribute to the awakening of a remnant such that they dispense with their customs, traditions, religion in addition to that illegitimate spirit and give Yahowah a chance.

Between now and then, we can be assured that it is religion which has separated Yisra'el from Yahowah. Nothing has been more harmful to Judaism. Rather than bringing people and God together, religion is the greatest impediment to God the world has ever known.

Religion isn't just a trap, a means to control the unsuspecting, it precludes believers from knowing or reaching God.

I find it fascinating in Ezekiel that the 38th chapter is this fanciful tale of the Valley of the Dry Bones. I'm sure that those listening to this program, when you have a chance to read it, will agree. It is grossly untrue and yet so unbelievably revealing. The two chapters that precede it were really a surprise to me. I had thought that Satan would adore Islam because Allah is modeled exactly after him, spends all his time in Hell, hates Jews, despises women, endorses lies; it's perfect for Satan. Put a shrine right there on the top of the Temple Mount as a trophy, it couldn't be better. It's written at the same amateurish level as we read in Ezekiel as we read in the Quran. I would have thought he would have loved it and certainly for a long time I'm sure he's been tickled pink with it. But what Ezekiel says is that Satan is going to turn on Islam. He's going to eliminate it. And that's not all.

In the next chapter he says he is going to dispense with Christianity. You might say, "Why? Paul was demon possessed, the Christian New Testament is like Ezekiel, it has all the same themes." Why would God give up on these two religions that have served him so well? These two religions did everything Satan needed to obfuscate people knowing Yahowah by name, by reputation, they negated his Towrah, they replaced it with satanic gibberish. You would have thought that would have been his crowning achievement and yet in Ezekiel he says he's going to eliminate both. Would you like to wager as to why?

The answer is pretty simple. The thing that opened my eyes to what Islam was all about is when I learned that Satan the Adversary must destroy the title of being the Adversary if he is going to be worshiped as if he were God. So, the single most important thing is that Satan has to destroy that myth that he is the Adversary to be perceived as God and to be perceived as the god of religion which he is. Well, he used those religions to do that and then he used Judaism to eliminate the name of God so that it wasn't spoken by the people that he was soliciting. Satan knows that Allah is not God; he knows that Jesus is not God. He doesn't want to be worshiped.

In Yasha'yah 14 where it talks about what his goals are he doesn't say, "I want to be worshiped under the name of a false God Allah. I don't want to be worshiped under the name of a false god Jesus." No. He wants to be above the Most High Yahowah. Well, Islam and Christianity would have him be worshiped as Jesus and Allah. That's not what he's trying to achieve. He wants to be worshiped as if he were Yahowah. Can't achieve that with Islam, can't achieve that with Christianity and so he has to destroy them; he has to be accepted by Jews as Yahowah, and then by going against them he is presenting himself as their savior so that they come to know and accept that he is Yahowah. It's fascinating.

Yada' is such an interesting word here and it's used ubiquitously through Ezekiel as well. It means far more than just "to know and understand," although, when associated with Yahowah, to know Him and understand what He is offering and expecting from us in return is sufficient. But since yada' is the purpose of our quest, every possible rendering is worthy of our consideration. According to the New American Standard Hebrew Dictionary, yada' is translated the following ways (and times): to acknowledge (6), to be acquainted with (6), to be aware of (6), to choose (2), to comprehend (1), to be concerned with (3), to consider and discern (6), to discover (3), to experience (5), to be a familiar and intimate friend (4), to find (6), to have knowledge of (13), to have relations with (10), to be informed about (5), to investigate (2), to know and to be known, knew and knows (700), to know for certain (8), to learn about (8), to make someone or something known (40), to notice and observe (6), to perceive and realize (10), to recognize and regard (4), to teach, instruct, and declare (17), to understand (12).

Yada' is used nearly 700 times as a verb.times in the Towrah, Naby', wa Mizmowr. That is an impressive number, at least until we recognize that Yahowah's name is spelled out 7,000 times. So, it all comes down to who you know, what you understand, and how you respond to it.

“Moreover (wa), the pride and arrogance (ga'own – the unwarranted perceptions and constant agitation, the presumptuousness and haughtiness, the self-adulation and glorification) of Yisra'el (Yisra'el – those who struggle with and contend against God) testifies (anah – bears witness as a conspicuous pronouncement, and it is the answer to the response (qal perfect)) against his presence (ba paneh huw' – against his face, his very appearance).

Therefore (wa), Yisra'el | those who Contend and Struggle with God (Yisra'el) and (wa) 'Ephraym | Worthless Specks of Carbon ('Ephraym – Ashes) will falter, stumble, and fall, and they will be overthrown (kashal – will stagger and will not succeed as a result of being feeble and weak (nifal imperfect – the Northern Kingdom consistently stumbled and so their fall is not only their fault, the consequences will be enduring)) in their perverse corruptions and libelous errors (ba 'aown / 'awon hem – in their depravity, wrongdoing, transgressions, and resulting guilt). Yahuwdah | Beloved of Yah (Yahuwdah – Related to Yah) will also waver and succumb along with them (kashal gam 'im hem – will falter and fall in addition to them, staggering and failing to succeed as a result of being weakened, even overthrown following them (qal perfect – while they will actually be overthrown, this condition will not prevail forever)).” (Howsha' / He Protects / Hosea 5:5)

When it comes to Yahowah pride and arrogance only works in one very narrow way and is appropriate in one way, and that is we should be proud of being the one in a million who come to know and understand Yahowah. That is a worthy achievement. We should be pleased that we're doing his work, sharing His word, reaching out to His people calling Israel and Yahuwd home. We ought to be prideful having a sense of esteem over the realization that for the first time in a very long time, probably thousands of years, that someone is providing an accurate and more comprehensive translation of Yahowah's word and isn't afraid to say it. Look on the shelf at yada yah.com. It stretches from end to end across the home page with 30 volumes. We've done a lot and we should be proud of what we've accomplished because we've done the right thing for the right reason.

Yet if your pride is in thinking that you're smarter than God, that you can outmaneuver God, that you are a god then that's going to get you into a lot of trouble. That's kind of the problem that Israel had. So, you can be proud of your relationship with Yahowah, you could be proud that Yahowah is your father, you can be proud that you know and use His name, proud of His name but don't be prideful in testifying against Him, which is what this does.

DEE: I like to think of it as confidence, security and self-esteem in what we're doing because we trust Yahowah.

YADA: I've got to tell you if you're not confident in what you're doing you really ought not be doing this because when you're claiming that rabbinical Judaism is the single greatest obstacle in the long history of Jews you better know what you're talking about, you better be right. When you say that Ezekiel is Satan's autobiography and his playbook for all to read when the three Abrahamic religions all cherish his words as if he were a prophet, you better be right. You better have confidence in what you're doing. When you're going to do a program like this and do it extemporaneously, you better understand who you're speaking for, why you're doing it and what you're talking about. You better be right.

It's very important that you understand what Yada Yahowah actually means. It's not just the title of this program and of these books that we have written and what we have done on Yahowah's behalf for His people these past 22 years. It's a sentence, it's a declarative statement, the single most important thing in the universe.

It is a curiosity here and I don't really suspect that I know the answer to this one, but Ephraim was the son of Joseph along with the Messiah, and the two became part of the 12 tribes because Joseph actually is eliminated from amongst the names of the 12 tribes and his two sons that become double what he was, because he got a double portion when Reuben walked the narrow and short plank off the deep end of the pool after getting caught fussing around with one of his father's concubines. So, Ephraim has become in many ways a synonym for the breakaway of Israel.

Israel can mean "one individual" and "Ya'aqob." Ya'aqob is Israel. It can mean "many individuals" and it describes the descendants of Ya'aqob. So, those who would be ethnically related to Ya'aqob, all of Israel, would be all of his descendants. Yisra'el is also descriptive of the Northern Kingdom when they separated from Yahuwah shortly after Solomon's death, and when Israel is used to describe the Northern Kingdom, it's often mirrored with the synonym of Ephraim. In this there seems to be a distinction between Ephraim and Israel when in this breakaway period you'd think they'd be reasonably synonymous because what God is talking about here is really there are two entities. The Ephraim Israel is an entity and Yahuwah is an entity. That's interesting of course because that leaves one tribe out: Benjamin. Benjamin may be left out because Benjamin was the tribe of Sha'awl, King Saul, that was so devastating to the relationship between Yahowah and His people. Benjamin was the tribe that was responsible for the rape of that woman that turned all Israel against them. And Benjamin is the tribe from which the wanna be apostle Sha'awl / Paul the founder of the most popular religion in human history emerged. Interesting, Benjamites along the way. But it appears that Benjamin has essentially been overshadowed by Yahuwdah because of Dowd.

KIRK: I was going to share my Benjamin story. I'll show you how you'll bring things and how smart I thought I was once. I got on the show and I said you know I finally figured out why Benjamin is in the same location as the Southern Kingdom is not in the Northern Kingdom because maybe he's a thorn in the side to Yahuwdym. I thought I'm clearly thinking I'm really trying to think and just like Satan in the Garden of Eden and then you immediately turned around and said, "Kirk, who's He coming back to save? Yahuwdah / Israel. Where's Benjamin? He isn't coming back. That doesn't mean somebody Benjamin descendant could not do the same thing that we do as gowy and be part of the family. He's not coming back for that tribe. He absolutely detested that child."

YADA: Yes, He does. He is the wolf that rips apart the ... people that is the ... forecasted blessing, if you will, about him and then Paul of course became the wolf in sheep's clothing, but you also look at the location of Benjamin. They are the beginning of what you find after you leave the northern frontier of Yahuwdah you get to Benjamin and then to all of Ephraim and Israel. So, that's where they sit in terms of their land. It's an interesting story. I am curious and would love to hear the contributions of our family as to how Ephraim can both be synonymous with the Northern Kingdom Israel, Israel divided and against Yahuwdah and against Yahowah and somehow slightly distinct from Israel. They are condemned under the same breath here so there's obviously not much separation, but he says that, "therefore Israel and Ephraim will falter, stumble and fall." They'll be overthrown, they have exactly the same fate, they're both in this situation because of their perverse corruptions and their hideous errors as they have led people away from Yah, so they're being tasked together but yet still listed as if there was some distinction between them. Maybe the distinction is that while Israel does represent the Northern Kingdom and it represents either 10 or 11 of the 12 tribes and everybody other than Yahuwdah, Ephraim is exclusive to that reality where Yisra'el is not exclusive to that casting because Yisra'el is inclusive in its origins, inclusive of Yahuwdah and exclusive when they became part of the Northern Kingdom and rebelled. But they were they were born inclusive, and reconciliations will return with them being inclusive of Yisra'el. He says, "I'm going to reconcile My relationship with Yisra'el and Yahuwdah.” That relationship will be reconciled and then the next time He speaks to them He only mentions Yisra'el because Yisra'el is inclusive at that point of Yahuwdah. So, that's possible.

The other interesting thing is that when King Sha'uwl's rebels against Yah were killed the last tribe to accept Dowd as king of United Israel was Ephraim. When the Northern Kingdom of Israel declared their independence not long after Solomon's death the first king of the Northern Kingdom was from the tribe ... Ephraim.

KIRK: Is it because they were kings in Egypt and is it a lingering thing that they just don't want ...

YADA: You hear Yahowah talking about hubris. The Towrah presents Ephraim as arrogant, as fixated on self, as jealous of the positions of others. Ephraim is presented just as Yahowah was presenting the Northern Kingdom here, self-serving, jealous, conniving. Is that not the same attitude that we find in the serpent in ha Satan, jealous and absolutely manipulative? The Towrah presents Ephraim exactly as we find the characteristics of the serpent. The rabbis present Ephraim as sweet, humble and selfless. He's their favorite; isn't that interesting?

There are some insights here, I'm not saying that I have all the answers. I think that sometimes the beauty of a program like this is that you can admit that you don't have all the answers, that you're a fellow student along the way, that you're interested in the input of others and then you can share what you think might be pertinent. The more we share the more you say well yeah that does make a lot of sense doesn't it.

KIRK: Ephraim and Manasseh were both Egyptians coming out of the chute half Egyptian; he didn't marry a Yahuwdym.

YADA: Yes. He didn't marry her; it's interesting they married Egyptians, didn't they. Although it would have been pretty hard to at this point.

It's interesting also that very early on what we would consider to be Yisra'elite or Yahuwd DNA is of course a mix of nations. 'Abraham and Sarah were from Ur | Sumer which was incorporated into Babylon. They send their son off to marry somebody who is from a tribe of people and a family that is really pretty lecherous. So, you start off and have nothing that you would identify uniquely with Yisra'el. Then the first generation you have that and the next generation Ya'aqob went off and did the same thing. He went to the same place, to the same people so you're at a quarter and you're only two generations in. So, it's interesting.

While we will claim that there is a racial ethnic DNA bond, for Yahowah this Covenant relationship is a whole lot more than one's DNA because it is divided in half, quarters and eighths right at the beginning under Yahowah's most direct supervision, so it's an extended family that is far more inclusive than the rabbinical Jews now who are trying to constrain the right of return to only those who profess Judaism. It's very difficult to say a person is Jewish because you could have a Jewish mother but your father might be a gowly and your mother might have only been half Jewish because her father was a gowly. Now you're at a quarter and soon to be an eighth. So, the old DNA test is only going to get you so far. They have redefined what it means to be Jewish by your adherence to the most fundamentalist form of Judaism which is one of the great tragedies of all time. So, anyway it's just an interesting study. I'm not quite certain how Yahowah is going to figure it out other than He obviously created DNA as a three-dimensional language, and you can clearly read it. He will make His determinations that way because the natural descendants of Ya'aqob who became Yisra'el are the people with whom He affirmed the Covenant and whom He is calling home to this day. They are His people, and it is our privilege and honor to be able to call out to them on their behalf and on behalf of our Father Who will enjoy His Day of Reconciliations with them.

Well Kirk, it was fun. I'm glad you sent me that article. I owe my wife an apology because this morning she talked about a big news story that had broken and I said we have to discount that because it's a hundred percent hearsay. I explained to her that when you have evidence where you can Google the video on John McCain and Lindsey Graham promising to support the Ukraine in their war effort eight years before there was a war, and you can listen to them talk to the Ukrainians and tell them about this proxy war that we intended to fight against Russia through them, if you have overwhelming evidence that we orchestrated this and people don't give a hoot why would you talk about the hearsay evidence of the US committing an act of war in blowing up the natural gas pipelines from Russia into Europe?

I read the article and said, "I know why you do it. Because of the foremost journalist of our day and the details that he musters to condemn the United States in this act are overwhelming." He is a brilliant, logical writer who has earned our respect based upon what he has done previously and the way that he presents this case. That's why you do it. So, I was pleased to be exposed to it doubly today. Thank you for doing that.

Alright, we wish you a wonderful Shabat. We're going to have a quiet one here. All three of my fur face friends are Shabbating around my feet, all sound asleep. Yes, it's a peaceful and simple life we live here, I will tell you that. There's something to be said for a peaceful and simple life and we will have one tomorrow.

Thank you all so much. We look forward to celebrating this Shabat with you. Have a wonderful day celebrating your relationship with Yah. May Yah bless you all.

Good night.
