Mizmowr 89:3

Please Note: I have transcribed this to the best of my ability. Sound bites of parties speaking simultaneously and those inaudible to me have been deleted from the transcript. If I guessed at a word, it was followed by a ()? A ___ (blank line) indicates I could not understand the word or phrase and three periods ... indicate an interruption in the dialogue of one party by another. Thank you for your understanding. MK

Good evening and welcome to Yada Yah Radio. I'm here with Kirk and Dee this evening. I'd like to start with Israel where our social media outreach is this evening. This past week a very sad situation took place in Israel. Two hundred thousand Haredi gathered this week to bury a rabbi. The Haredi are the ultra-Orthodox variation of Judaism and is the only significant strain of Judaism observed in Israel today and the second largest in America with Reformed being the first. They are the ones that wear the black mourning suits and curlicues on the side of their heads. Can you imagine not one of them knows Yahowah?

This rabbi is destined for She'owl. He has received congratulations from everybody from the Secretary of State of the United States to the Prime Minister of Israel, Netanyahu, as a "great spiritual leader" I'm telling you his soul is probably already in She'owl. How can you be an honorable leader and shepherd in Israel if you don't know or use Yahowah's name? How can you claim to observe and teach the Towrah if you don't know that God hates religion, if you don't even know one of the conditions and benefits of the Covenant much less all five? None of them do because in Judaism there is no salvation. He doesn't know any one of the benefits and conditions of the Covenant, doesn't know Yahowah's name, didn't know any of these things, has no idea who the Messiah, the Son of God, or who our Savior is. It's blatant. When you read the Towrah and Prophets it's obvious that everything revolves around Dowd, yet all he could come up with was a damned star which is more identified with the false messiah bar Kokhba than it is with anybody else.

Israel is completely lost religiously. The Orthodox Jews are nothing but parasites and the people of Israel know it. Israel right now is a house divided. On one side are the Progressives (40% of the population) that gender confused and have no idea what it means to be parents, raise a family, be productive in a free enterprise system. They don't understand the value of work, or family and are utterly confused sexually. Progressives have trashed evidence and reason. The ultra-religious make up another 40%. Both sides are lost. Yahowah is within ten years of returning and there aren't a hundred people in Israel that know and use His name or that He is returning with Dowd. They even call Dowd "David," as if there was a 'v' in Hebrew or as if there was an 'i' in his name in any of the books written within two hundred years of his life or of any of the Psalms he wrote with his own hand. They don't know what the 22nd or 89th Mizmowrs or the entire book of Shamuw'el have to say about Dowd. They can't process it. They will deny that he is the Son of God even though God says it multiple times. They will deny he is the Messiah even though God says repeatedly that, 'He is My Messiah.' He even came to Babylon of all places and told Daniel, 'This is the day I'm going to show up in Jerusalem to be cut off but not or myself as the Messiah.' Dowd delivered that message and then he lived it by becoming the Passover Lamb and then serving to take Yisra'el's guilt into She'owl and depositing it there. This rabbi didn't know that and didn't share it with his people.

Things in the Ukraine are continuing to get much worse. America is now bragging that Russia has the second strongest military in the Ukraine and continues to beg the world for all sorts of additional armament. We ran out of TNT so we couldn't even give them the ordinance that we wanted for their offensive; we had to beg Japan to provide it. All the while nuclear weapons are now being proliferated. The Belarus leader invited anybody who was part of the Russian alliance to "partake in nuclear weapons for all." We have really made the world a much safer place.

Lindsey Graham may have made the most disgusting statement in the history of elected American officials, yet no one seems to care. I'm flabbergasted that Lindsey Graham could look into the camera lens and say, "Russians are dying. It's the best money the United States ever spent." What in the hell is wrong with you and what in the hell is wrong with our country? Lindsey Graham is a lost cause; he is a disgusting human being. It's Lindsey Graham who went with John McCain to the Ukraine in 2016 way before there was any talk of Russia taking the bait that America laid where America said we're going to arm the Ukraine and make it part of NATO and told the Ukrainians, 'Your war will be our war; we will fight with you to the bitter end against Russia.' And we want to tell one another that Russia started this war and they should be sanctioned because they are the bad guys when Lindsey Graham went with John McCain to Ukraine and declared war on Russia almost ten years before it materialized? And then he says, “Russians dying is the best money the US ever spent?”

This conflict will end in a nuclear confrontation. America will continue to squander its resources providing all manner of weaponry and force all our allies to do the same to the point that Russia has no other option but to use the nuclear alternative. At this point the Ukraine has the Patriot missile system which Americans are operating, F-16 aircraft, long range cruise, and other forms of missiles that they're shooting now into Moscow and other places in Russia. I don't think it's possible to be more insane than we have been in this regard; it's going to end exceedingly badly for the world.

Back in February and March of 2000 I went way out on a limb by making two statements that were completely counter to what everyone was saying and if you said either one of these two things you were labeled an ignoramus. Both turned out to be true. It's very common for us to be able to do this; we do it on almost every subject. In 2000 the first thing I said is that the COVID -19 virus is an artifact of a lab accident in the Hunan Institute where they were deliberately contaminating bats with multiple strains of viruses so that they found a combination of Ebola, HIV, and SARS, and that it is that escaped animal from the lab that began the COVID spread. But they did far more than that. They were actually paid millions of dollars by the United States to do gain-of-function research that had been banned around the world. We paid the Chinese to do it in a substandard lab. Gain-of-function means that you develop ways that the virus is more effective in attaching to a human host so that it spreads more effectively, and now it's more deadly because it has three different types of viruses built into one. I said, “It's obvious that it came from the lab.” We did show upon show explaining the reason why that was the common denominator through it all. There was no other viable option and yet anybody that said that was labeled a racist and the like. Well now the top Chinese scientist has finally conceded it came from the lab. The research America just completed in Congress said it came from that lab. The saddest thing about that is that because it came from the lab, because there were so many research papers on it, and because it actually came out of the lab in September of 2019, had the Chinese been forthright it would have been contained, vaccines would have been developed much faster, and it never would have spread around the world multiple times killing people in such quantity.

The second thing I said about COVID in the very early spring of 2019 is that the lockdowns depriving people of their liberty and livelihoods was going to be grossly counterproductive, that the places where the states that locked down their citizens were going to find that they had a higher mortality rate not only from the disease, but the consequence of the lockdowns was going to be catastrophic thereafter in terms of supply lines, food supplies, people's livelihoods, the economy, the value of your currency, and of course, it was going to radically increase suicides, radically increase drug dependence and drug deaths and domestic violence which it has done. Every one of those things turned out to be true across the board. It is surprisingly easy when you study the Towrah and Prophets to know what's going to happen before it happens, and you can look at human malfeasance and say this is what they're doing that is wrong and as I say we have over these years broadcast this message and have continually been right.

I continue to be appalled at the American judicial system. A man that served 21 years in prison for the deaths of two Michigan hunters was released this week. He wasn't even in the same county when these two men were killed. Even though there was no evidence of any kind to tie him into the murders, a prosecutor prosecuted him, and a jury convicted him. That's one of the problems today. You are being judged by people who can't think. He was finally released because the district attorney deliberately and knowingly withheld information of a mass murderer who was at the scene of the crime who later confessed to the crime. But because he wanted high prosecution rates, he withheld that information and caused this man to spend 21 years in prison for a crime he did not commit because of a prosecutor and a jury.

Regarding how stunningly irrational people have become, FOX recently agreed to pay Dominion Voting Machines almost 800 million dollars as a settlement for besmirching their reputation. It's a privately held company, but it is very public in its reference because they are one of the three leading manufacturers of voting machines used in the United States. Because Trump said, 'These voting machines were tampered with. They're made in China; they're made to spit out erroneous data.' There were reasons to suspect that the vote count in America was manipulated, but it wasn't because of the voting machines. Fox News ran the story Dominion bad because they were rabid Trump supporters then. Tucker knew what he was saying was untrue, and he even had private texts saying, 'Okay. It's not true, but you know they're paying the bills. I'm going to go ahead and promote this.' So, he said things about Dominion that were not true. There's a consequence of doing that. It's very difficult to prove that you have criminal libel or slander because we're dealing with two very public entities, so the burden of proof is very high. Then you have to show damages. So, here's the big issue: How in the world did nearly 800 million dollars harm Dominion?

Do you know the valuation of Dominion? Staples Capital, an investment company, purchased Dominion. They were valued about four years ago on the acquisition. The company founders sold the company to, I think it's called Staple Street Investors. What do you think the value of this company was that somehow was harmed 800 million dollars? Eighty million. So how do you do 800 million dollars to a company that's worth 80 million? 60 Minutes, who are Liberals and hate what Trump was saying, did a puff piece with Dominion Voting Machine's CEO that had to be worth 25 million. So all the hubbub made them a household name, their name identity went through the roof, they have all this positive press from 60 Minutes and other major news stories, and yet FOX was stupid enough to give them a company whose value was 80 million dollars 800 million? We've lost our marbles as a nation.

The Sisters of Perpetual Indulgence, a comedic group of transvestites is in the center of a controversy at Dodger Stadium. The Catholic Church says, "They are making a mockery of us. It's blasphemy what they are doing. I represent the nation's largest linked Catholic advocacy organization." If you are a Catholic and you're admitting it shame on you with all of the abuse of little children. It is the most abusive organization in the world in terms of the torment that has been perpetrated on little boys by their priests. He says, "We believe in time-honored values of life, family, and freedom, and the right of priests to sexually abuse little boys. How dare you have this comedic group that will make fun of us. We are therefore going to boycott Dodger baseball, Dodger Stadium, and we will not allow this anti-Catholic bigotry mocking our religious sisters or celebrating a perverse activist group which has blasphemy and mockery of Catholics." It is just disgusting. Now the drag queen, anti-Catholic group says it is not even anti-religious. He said, "We're just trying to be funny."

The Roman Catholic Church rather than spending a million dollars trying to help the little boys that they molested will spend a million dollars advertising to encourage the Catholics to boycott the Los Angeles Dodgers. They said, "It's obvious that the Dodger organization has no respect for the altar of God." I guess we ought to be laughing, but Yahowah is not laughing; He's just disgusted at this whole thing.

They have ten years to play around. You can pretend to be your virtuous Catholic and hide from the fact of the hundreds of thousands of little boys that you have molested in your church, or you can pretend to be family oriented and have been the most anti-Semitic organization in world history with two thousand years of abuse of Jews or pulling what you knew was the ultimate fraud on the people of the world to empower your organization. Good luck with that when it comes judgment time.

Kirk, you said you had something on AI before we get into our Psalm.

KIRK: Yesterday Sylvia was talking to one of her friends at UC Davis and Davis where her husband is a professor. They were talking about the UAI news. They asked an AI to gather information and tell us whether the Nazis were justified in their attempt to exterminate the Jews. You have to remember AI is a program based on gathering information from 99% of the world which is not friendly to Jews to begin with and number two they don't have a neshamah; it's a machine. It came back and it said yes, they were. I was stunned.

YADA: Yes, it's amazing. I had a friend that put my name into one of the public AI engines and it took a completely religious point of view to criticize what I did. The good news is that my conclusions are not accepted in the theological community, and I have extreme positions against Islam in particular with Prophet of Doom and the mainstream scholarship does not agree with my positions. All I did was put the Quran in chronological order into the context of Muhammad's life and showed that he was a pedophile, a rapist, a ruthless terrorist and mass murderer and that somehow doesn't pass muster with an AI program.

The reason why AI has just non-plussed me, it doesn't bother me one way or the other, is that they're simply programmed by people who have a political agenda. It's like science today. Science today isn't science; it's highly political. Even doctors are now called scientists. Doctors are not scientists. That has nothing to do with science. Science used to be a very disciplined regiment where you would do research with strict rules about how you would conduct your research, and then you would publish your findings based on what you had studied. Medical doctors go to school a lot exploring the human body, but they're not, per se, scientists. It's astonishing how we have come up with the idea that AI is spectacular. AI can probably outthink the average human because most people have given up the whole concept of thinking; reason, logic, and evidence don't mean anything. The rules of debate, fallacies. We have generations that are entirely ignorant of these things. They have been so indoctrinated with all manner of political correctness and Wokeism they can't think.

I was listening to a debate today between two very bright people about how this transgender experiment has been one of the most calamitous events to take place in the world and that the suicidal deaths associated with it are catastrophic. They said if somebody says I identify as a woman, this gentleman who had done considerable research into this said, "I decided when I began this all you can do is use sarcasm because their positions are so inane and stupid that sarcasm appears to be the only thing you can do. And when you see the mutilations, suicidal deaths, and complete emotional destruction of these individuals, it becomes too sick to use sarcasm anymore. I couldn't get through to them, so I finally realized we could do only one thing. When a man says I identify as a woman, what does that mean? What is a woman? Not a single advocate of transgender can tell you what a woman is. I identify as a woman. What's that? What do you mean? They can't answer the question." He says, "If you can't answer the question, what in the hell are you doing, and why are you trying to push this on me as if I have to agree?" He also said, "If we don't affirm their gender choices for this alphabet soup, it's catastrophic for them, we're going to see this rash of additional suicides, and it's grossly unfair; we're violating their rights." So, you say, "All right. If that's true, and they say that these tendencies have been around forever, why aren't there any suicide notes from frustrated transgender people in the past saying I tried to come out, but Society wouldn't accept me, so I had no choice but to commit suicide? There aren't any, and yet today, it's an epidemic.

DEE: We don't treat other mental disorders the same way. Imagine validating schizophrenia or bipolar and say yeah there really are nine people inside of you and you're all of them and formatting society to embrace this way of thinking where we all change our reality to suit the insane, I mean they need help. That's not validation.

YADA: I'm not sure they need help. I watched a documentary while having dinner a couple nights ago. This very compassionate and articulate man in his 40s has devoted his life to the inner cities and drug addiction. Something catastrophic has transpired here in the last year and a half that started in Puerto Rico. We have zombies now in our cities. Fentanyl has a very short life within the person using it. Within two to three hours its effect on a person wears off. The more you use it the more you need to get to the same level. It was found that if you mix Fentanyl with either horse or elephant tranquilizers the effect lasts longer but unfortunately it renders those people zombies. These are not people that you can help. They are gone. They are the walking dead, and are all over cities like Philadelphia, San Francisco, Portland, and Seattle. It's not just that we have cities filled with people living in their own feces where the inner cities are like sewers, it's all the people that had businesses there, a hair salon, a market, etc. Those businesses are all boarded up. Then you have the liberal politician saying that you just leave them alone. You can't help them unless they ask for help. No. We've gone so far beyond the pale that there's nothing you can do now.

Before we move on to the 89th Mizmowr, Leah and Dee have begun to use an AI program to create marvelous videos and animations. If you go to their social media at yadayah.com, Twitter or Facebook you'll see many of them. They are really first-rate and gorgeous while directing the viewer's attention to the yada.com site. So, there is some benefit from AI ...

KIRK: I think it's a great idea, but you don't ask it moral questions.

YADA: But it is a very nice tool in making these videos and animations and I've been dazzled with the quality of the product they have able to produce.

All right, we are returning to the 89th Mizmowr. For those who may not know, the 89th Mizmowr is the Cornerstone of the Covenant and Yahowah's home. It's probably the most important piece of literature after the Towrah itself. It was revealed in 968 BCE | year 3000 Yah, the year that construction commenced on Yahowah's home, called the Temple, in Jerusalem. It was written by a man we didn't even consider a prophet until you realize that everything he says in this is prophetic. 'Eythan | Constant and Eternal Productive and Established his 'Ezrachy | the Beloved Native-Born Strong Arm (I don't know if you want to call him the Scribe of Prophet behind it) was a contemporary of Dowd who also became the wisest of Solomon's advisors. So, someone who knew Dowd and Yahowah lived when Yisra'el was integrated and united, when Jerusalem was the capital, when Dowd built his wonderful home, the city of Dowd, and now the Temple was being constructed. This is this timing, and it has a singular message: The single most important person in the world, your Savior, your Messiah, your King, your Chosen One, the Exemplar of the Covenant, the Son of God is Dowd | David. Everything falls into place when we recognize his place in God's plans and our lives. We understand the Covenant, the Father and Son Father and daughter nature of the Covenant family, how the Miqra'ey were specifically fulfilled, what benefit they provide, how they integrate with the Covenant, and how Yahowah chooses to work with the best among us, and that certainly is Dowd.

So, so this is Yahowah speaking as He does throughout much of this Mizmowr | Psalm. He says:

“I have established, cutting through separation (karat – I have created, making a resolution by cutting off (as is the case with circumcision), a solemn agreement between parties with stipulations, responsibilities, and benefits (qal perfect)) the Beryth | Covenant for the Family and Home (Beryth – the Family-Oriented Relationship Agreement which brings individuals together with action, commitment, and engagement in accordance with the stipulations required of both parties to the agreement), through My Bachyr | Chosen One (la bachyr ‘any – on behalf of and for the individual I have personally decided upon, having preferred and selected under the auspices of freewill, the one I favor for a special relationship and affection; from bachar – to choose and decide and bachan – to test, examine, and scrutinize).

I have sworn an oath, and I will affirm this promise seven times over (shaba’ – I have made a binding commitment and I will always uphold the truth of this vow (nifal perfect)) to Dowd (la Dowd – concerning the Beloved; from dowd – the one who is loved and who loves in return), My ‘Ebed | Authorized Agent and Coworker who serves on My behalf (‘ebed ‘any – My coworker, associate, and servant; from ‘abad – to work).” (Mizmowr / Lyrics to Sing / Psalm 89:3)

If you didn't go any further and you just processed the implications of those words, then you would have obliterated the foundation of Christianity and Judaism. You would understand the link between the Miqra’ey and the Covenant, between Dowd and the Covenant, you would understand the Covenant is a family, you can understand the concept of free will that underlies it, and you would understand that it was through Dowd that Yahowah affirmed the promise that He made to ‘Abraham and Yitschaq on Mount Mowryah when the Covenant was confirmed. You would also understand that Yahowah chooses to work through us and with us. Now He doesn’t choose to work through and with all of us typically, not even with some of us; He usually chooses to work with one of us and the person that He was most active working with and through was Dowd. It’s not just that He anointed Dowd to be the Messiah, that He called Dowd His Son and I am His Father, not just that He appointed Dowd to be the King of Yisra’el, not just that He is coming back with Dowd and that Dowd is going to anoint the Mercy Seat, the Kaporeth, of the Ark of the Covenant so that he can fulfill the Towrah and that Yisra’el can be reconciled with Yahowah on the Day of Reconciliations in year 6000 Yah, October 2nd, 2033, it is that Yahowah agreed to support Dowd’s choice to fulfill each of the seven Mow’ed Miqra’ey.

In Judaism they don't even know they're fulfilled. They're still celebrating Passover as if it were an historic event as if Passover represented freedom from Egypt. That's actually freedom from Mitsraym and it just opened the door to life is what it specifically did in Mitsraym | the Crucibles of Religious and Political Oppression.

The rabbis don't even acknowledge that Chag Matsah exists or that there is a Miqra' of Matsah, a Chag of Matsah, that Matsah is the most qodesh | set apart. From Yahowah's point of view the single most important day every year is the Miqra' of Matsah and in Judaism it's not even acknowledged. Passover lasts seven days. Not from Yahowah's perspective. From Yahowah's perspective Matsah lasts seven days and Pesach is really the first day of those seven. That's how badly Judaism has it screwed up.

Dowd volunteered to serve as the Passover Lamb. Dowd volunteered to take his people's guilt with his soul into She'owl to fulfill Matsah which is the doorway to perfection, the threshold of perfection, this opportunity to distance oneself from the corrupting effect of religion and politics and Dowd volunteered to do that the most courageous and compassionate act in all human history. As courageous and compassionate as it was to volunteer which Dowd did to serve as the Passover Lamb and to have the Romans torture him to the extent that they did, fulfilling UnYeasted Bread to remove the sense and stigma of religion from his people was a far greater sacrifice and Yahowah made all this possible because Dowd wanted it. Dowd chose to do this because he was a student of the Towrah. He looked at Moseh and realized that Moseh was the most exemplary human being who had ever lived. He started off right. Look what he did. He lived in the lap of luxury and yet when he saw the taskmaster beat a Hebrew he went after the taskmaster to save the Hebrew who he didn't even know. He risked his life and put his reputation on the line to do the right thing, to protect an innocent man. But his people immediately turned on him. They were ready to rat him out to the pharaoh.

So, Moseh having the courage and character to do the right thing leaves Mitsraym and becomes a shepherd. The first week he's out there he sees some young ladies come up with their flock and a band of bad guys comes to attack them, threatens to steal their sheep and to do who knows what to them. Moseh, unarmed, stands up on behalf of the women that he didn't even know against those who would plunder them. He risked his life for no gain. He did it for the right reasons. He's a man of exemplary character.

Then Yahowah approaches and introduces Himself to Moseh on Mount Choreb and tells him He wants Moseh to accompany Him back into Mitsraym to liberate the Hebrews. Moseh argued against doing it, but Yahowah said, "You are going to do it because there's nobody else I can choose. You're the guy." So, Moseh agrees. And for 40 years Moseh is the epitome of perfection as he's herding the most disgruntled, embittered, pig-headed people in the history of the world. I can't understand how a religious Jew can celebrate Passover and the Exodus when they were jerks the entire time. Read the story. There isn't a moment where they're exemplary; they are just absolutely rotten. And here's Moseh and Yahowah doing everything for them protecting and feeding them, teaching and nurturing them, everything. They are in the presence of the Creator God of the universe, and they say, 'Oh no. We don't want to hear from You again. Can You just please go away? We'd much rather build a golden calf over here; we're more comfortable with that. We want to go back to Egypt. Life was better in Egypt than it is around You. We're not going to the Promised Land. There are scary people in the Promised Land. Did you take us out here to die?' They were miserable and Moseh was as good as they come.

So, Dowd is looking at this. He's a student of the Torah and realizes he doesn't measure up to Moshe. 'How in the world are You going to make me king forever over these people?' Then it dawned on him. If I volunteer to provide life, become the Savior of my people, if I volunteer to fulfill Passover and I open the doorway of life for Yisra'el, then I take Yisra'el's guilt with my soul into She'owl and become the firstborn of Bikuwrym | Firstborn Children such that I become the Exemplar of what it means to be enriched and empowered by God on Shabuw'ah, if I do those things and then return for them and anoint the Mercy Seat of the Ark of the Covenant on Reconciliations such that the remnant of Yisra'el is renewed in their relationship with Yahowah, I think I'll garner my people's respect, enough respect that at that point they'll follow me as a shepherd and I can lead them. That's why he did it. And Yahowah said, "You're right. My purpose of creation was to work through exemplary individuals; you're the most exemplary of them all. We'll do this together as father and son, and they did. That's what they're announcing here. And they reconfirm it throughout the Mizmowr. It's the single greatest treasure in the history of the world, the greatest archaeological find, the Fountain of Youth, the Grand Unification Theory, the answer to salvation, the identity of God, all of it in this simple recognition of this relationship between Yahowah and Dowd, Father and Son, as they would fulfill the promise of seven together; they chose each other.

'I have established, cutting through separation (karat) the Beryth | Covenant for the Family and Home (Beryth)

This home is separated from the popular and common things of man; religion, politics, conspiracy, and militarism.

'I have established, cutting through separation (karat) the Beryth | Covenant for the Family and Home (Beryth)

And I have done so not independently, not through Jibus, not through Allah or Muhammad, and for God's sake not through Akiba, Maimonides or Edelman, Edelstein or whatever his name was. No. I did it, through My Bachyr | Chosen One (la bachyr 'any – on behalf of and for the individual I have personally decided upon, having preferred and selected under the auspices of freewill, the one I favor for a special relationship and affection; from bachar – to choose and decide and bachan – to test, examine, and scrutinize).

I'm just translating now in my rewrite of Coming Home Two the 18th Mizmowr. Dowd is talking about Yahowah taking him away from the anguish and burden of fulfilling Pesach and Matsah __ this great expanse of the heavens together. He said, 'The reason that Yahowah did this for me is that He enjoys my company, because He likes doing things with me.' He could have said because He thinks I'm courageous, I'm really smart, I volunteered to do this tough job, or I'm His son, because I'm the King and Messiah, because I'm a prophet. No. He said, 'He did it because He likes to do stuff with me.' That's what this means, bachyr | the Chosen One.

Just in case you weren't with Him on the fact that He established His Covenant, the Covenant is established with Yahowah's Chosen One. And just in case you don't understand that the Covenant is the centerpiece of creation, that it's not just the centerpiece of the Towrah, the Covenant family is the entire reason that creation occurred. Yahowah wanted to experience being a dad. He wanted to raise children and do stuff with them. The Covenant is the centerpiece of creation and God just said I established it with My Chosen One; I didn't do it by Myself, I did it with him. And just in case you don't get who "him" is He says,

I have sworn an oath, and I will affirm this promise seven times over (shaba' – I have made a binding commitment and I will always uphold the truth of this vow (nifal perfect)) to Dowd (la Dowd – concerning the Beloved; from dowd – the one who is loved and who loves in return),

To Dowd. Not to Jesus, HaShem, Rabbi Akiba, Maimonides or Edelman or Baal Shem Tov.

'I swore an oath that I was going to affirm this promise seven times over of establishing My Covenant which is My family and My home through Dowd.' That's his name – Dalet Wah Dalet – Dowd | Beloved.

Just in case you're still not putting the picture together that Yahowah chooses to work through those whose company He enjoys, those who He finds the experience of associating to be productive and rewarding He says that Dowd is,

My 'Ebed | Authorized Agent and Coworker who serves on My behalf ('ebed 'any – My coworker, associate, and servant; from 'abad – to work).” (Mizmowr / Lyrics to Sing / Psalm 89:3)

If you understand that statement then you know what the Covenant is about, you understand how to approach it, you understand Yahowah's desire to have a father child, father son, father daughter relationship with us, you know how it's established, you know that it's based on seven steps, you know that God has made very specific promises regarding it and that Dowd is the person that He is working through to accomplish it, and that Yahowah likes to have us work with Him. Then you can take it one step further and say why was Dowd the one person and only person that Yahowah says is My Chosen One, he is My Son, and I am His Father? When you can answer those questions, when you understand what it was about this man that caused God to fall in love with him and wanted to do stuff with him you will understand the very nature and heart of the Almighty. You'll understand the reason we exist and the purpose of life.

Yahowah's opening declaration of Dowd's song, Mizmowr 89 is as inspiring as it is profoundly important.

“I have established, cutting through separation (karat – I have created, making a resolution by cutting off (as is the case with circumcision), a solemn agreement between parties with stipulations, responsibilities, and benefits (qal perfect)) the Beryth | Covenant for the Family and Home (Beryth – the Family-Oriented Relationship Agreement which brings individuals together with action, commitment, and engagement in accordance with the stipulations required of both parties to the agreement), through My Bachyr | Chosen One (la bachyr 'any – on behalf of and for the individual I have personally decided upon, having preferred and selected under the auspices of freewill, the one I favor for a special relationship and affection; from bachar – to choose and decide and bachan – to test, examine, and scrutinize).

I have sworn an oath, and I will affirm this promise seven times over (shaba' – I have made a binding commitment and I will always uphold the truth of this vow (nifal perfect)) to Dowd (la Dowd – concerning the Beloved; from dowd – the one who is loved and who loves in return), My 'Ebed | Authorized Agent and

Coworker who serves on My behalf (‘ebed ‘any – My coworker, associate, and servant; from ‘abad – to work).” (Mizmowr / Lyrics to Sing / Psalm 89:3)

This declarative statement in God’s voice reveals His nature, describes how He works, and presents what He is trying to achieve. It affirms that the Beryth | Covenant is foremost on His mind. This means that Yahowah’s priority is to be our Father and raise a Family in His Home by working through His Son.

The realization that the Beryth is karat | cut and established through separation is relevant because God’s Home is distinctly different. It is unlike human renditions, particularly those portrayed by religion, popular culture, and politics. And because it is unique and, therefore, uncommon, to be part of it one must disavow the perceptions which have become universally accepted.

Karat beryth implies that there are some guiding principles associated with God’s Family. This highlights the fact that there are requirements for entry that must be met and benefits that are assured to those who accept them. It is a relationship, after all. And as such, the Covenant is a mutually beneficial agreement and participatory partnership. The recognition that the Beryth | Family Home is being established through Dowd means that the Messiah and Son of God was instrumental in the process. This means that every Covenant Member accepts the conditions and receives the benefits of the Beryth, Dowd’s life and lyrics exemplify the path to inclusion and, more importantly, he was instrumental in delivering the rewards. Further, the benefits of the Covenant are derived from the first four Mow’edym – Pesach, Matsah, Bikuwrym, and Shabuw’ah – Dowd has already fulfilled them all.

I had begun this process 22 years ago and I recognized that the Covenant was established, or so I thought, with ‘Abraham. Once you open the Book of Bare’syth | Genesis there’s a mesmerizing creation account that turns out to be precisely true and I would encourage you to read In the Beginning in the Yada Yahowah series just to see how accurate it is. Then there’s a marvelous depiction of Gan ‘Eden which the story becomes exceedingly relevant because that’s where God is taking us back to, where we are returning. Then comes the brief story of the Flood which is scientifically proven that it happened in that way and a very interesting account of why God interacted with Noah in this way at this time. From that point on throughout most of the rest of the book of Bare’syth | Genesis it’s the establishment of the Covenant. You read through it and find there are five conditions that Yahowah laid out to ‘Abraham and along the way he offered ‘Abraham five benefits. Then you find ‘Abraham and Yitschaq on Mount Mowryah equaling the examination that Yahowah had placed to define whether or not they were sincere or just giving lip service, because He's a fairly compelling fellow; He happens to be God and so if God's going to be engaging with you most of the time you're going to go along. It's just He is God. He and I had our go at it 22 years ago on Taruw'ah in 2001 and after you figure out it really is God there's not much you can say at that point. So, He wants to make certain that 'Abraham and Yitschaq understand it so He sets up a test on Mount Mowryah to do this.

Somewhere along the way I lost all respect for 'Abraham; I don't like him at all, and I particularly didn't like the fact that 'Abraham pimped out his wife not just once but twice for personal wealth. I thought it revolting and I thought the way he approached the Sodom situation was also inappropriate, I thought even lifting the knife with his son was inappropriate. He knew that Yahowah was going to provide the lamb. A blind man would know that's going to occur. I think he's dumb and I think what Yahowah tries to explain to him what He's offering and expecting in return 'Abraham is an exceedingly slow study. But Yahowah didn't see it that way. Yahowah calls him His friend and Yahowah is pleased with the results.

I look at Ya'aqob and I see a very troubled soul. I think Yahowah likes to paint these people the way they really are so we're not intimidated and say well those are really other-world kind of people. We could never measure up to that. Well, you better be able to; they are really not so hot. Yahowah has a way of enveloping people in the Set-Apart Spirit so all He sees is the beauty of them in everything that shines about them. I'm telling you this story because once I learned that 'Abraham was a real scallywag, that while I really appreciated the terms and conditions of the Covenant because I think each of them are for our benefit and of course the benefits of the Covenant are things like eternal life, perfection, adopted into God's family empowered, emancipated and enlightened, this is really good stuff, I realized that 'Abraham was it. Even at that time there weren't a lot of people walking away from Babylon. It was actually called Ur of the Chaldeans, but it was Summa that he was walking away from that was a derivative of first Babylon. So, there weren't a lot of people to reach out to that would have been receptive and would have listened to Him, so 'Abraham got chosen. Long story short. God is telling us that the Covenant is really established through Dowd.

Now, Dowd isn't perfect either. But Dowd is larger than life, he should be. He had three lives. Dowd is the most brilliant person probably in human history, probably the most articulate. He is full go intellectually and emotionally, he is a man's man, he is a lover, a fighter, a songwriter, a leader. In every way you could look at it he is extraordinary, and God is saying, 'That's My guy. I established the Covenant with him.' The Covenant wasn't established by Yahowah articulating to 'Abraham here are the five conditions. The five conditions are that you walk away from your country, from religion and politics, particularly from the influence of babel, “confusion and intermixing.” You walk to Me and become perfect which is to accept the invitations to attend the Mow’ed Miqra’ey and you take advantage of Matsah. You trust and rely upon Me. You come to observe, closely examine and carefully consider the terms and conditions of this very Covenant. That you raise your children so that they choose to be My children by helping them remember and you remember by circumcising your sons on the eighth day. These are the conditions of the Covenant. Karate becomes really important in this regard because that separation of circumcision is the word that He used right here in terms of cutting the Covenant.

The Covenant is actually established through the first four Mow’ed Miqra’ey because the benefits of the Covenant are eternal life. The doorway to eternal life is opened by the Passover Lamb. Perfection is provided by Dowd having taken our guilt with his soul and depositing it in She’owl never to be seen again. To be born into Yahowah’s royal family as sons and daughters of God which Dowd enabled when he was released from She’owl, reunited with he Set-Apart Spirit, and returned to the Father where the Firstborn became the Exemplar of firstborn children and more than anyone he was enriched, empowered, and enlightened by Yahowah on Shabuw’ah. But he is even more than that because he’s the subject of Taruw’ah where we herald his message and his return with Yahowah. He is the feature of Kipurym. It’s not about twirling chickens above your head. It’s recognizing your Messiah, Savior, and King is returning. It’s not a day of affliction, it’s not a high holy day. It is the Day of Reconciliations. Look up kipor. Kipurym is just the plural because it’s the reconciliation of Yisra’el and Yahuwdah and then both with Yahowah by the actions of Dowd who will be returning. And then five days later we camp out with Yahowah for all time where Dodd becomes the ultimate Shepherd and King of Sukah camping out with Yahowah. So, Dowd is the one that Yahowah established the Covenant through. That is what He said here.

So now we have an extraordinary individual that we can look up to is our guide in this regard and say he’s our Savior, our Messiah, our Shepherd, Yahowah’s Chosen One, the Son of God.

One of the many ways that Yahowah’s Beryth differs from the human paradigm is that our God gets to choose His children, and His potential sons and daughters are afforded the opportunity to accept or reject Him. While men and women can decide to conceive children, there are no auditions and no checklists for preferred attitudes, attributes, or abilities. We get what comes out.

The huge difference is that Yahowah set this up and He gets to choose His own children, and don't think for a moment that God doesn't initiate contact – He does. Every important story is God reaching out to that individual. He gets to choose His children after He already witnesses what their attributes and attitudes are like and that's a good thing because He's going to spend eternity doing stuff with them.

By contrast, as bachyr | chosen affirms, Yahowah selects, makes contact with, and introduces Himself to those with the character and personality traits He prefers. Further, while we cannot choose our birth parents, we are blessed with freewill when it comes to engaging in God's Family. We can choose our Heavenly Father.

Volition is fundamental to all loving relationships and mutually respectful and beneficial partnerships. It is a gift of God and given for this reason so we can reciprocate. He chooses us and then we are given the opportunity to choose Him.

Yahowah makes a number of promises throughout the Towrah, and He is committed to honoring all of them. The first were shared with 'Adam and then Noach, but the most vital of these were presented to 'Abraham during the Covenant's inception. And now, God is affirming that He intends to honor those promises through Dowd, who will serve as His 'ebed | coworker in fulfilling them. Therefore, since the benefits of the Beryth were demonstrated during the Yatsa' | Exodus and delivered through the Miqra'ey | Invitations to be Called Out and Meet, Father and Son fulfilled them together.

By opening with karat beryth, Yahowah has affirmed the purpose of creation and the reason for our existence, why we were conceived the way we are, the very nature of how humans come together as men and women to conceive children, to create a home, to shelter and provide for our family, to raise, nurture, guide and mentor them; it is all designed to demonstrate what God intended. And the fact that most families are terribly fractured on many levels demonstrates to us just how rotten we have been to our God. God wants to enjoy life's greatest blessing – raising a family and interacting with His children, starting with His favorite person, His Son and our King.

Since it is so essential to our understanding, please bear with me while I underscore the full implications of karat. There are, I think, very few things that God could share that are more essential, if you will, to our understanding. Karat as a verb speaks primarily of separation, letting us know that the Covenant would be uncommon – separate and distinct from the popular religious rhetoric. When 200,000 people show up to bury a rabbi, you know that God is not there. There is no Covenant there because the Covenant is separate and distinct from everything that is popular; it is set apart. God says specifically that it is set apart, so it is different than the rhetoric and platitudes of men. To become part of the Beryth, political platitudes, if you will, have to be discarded. One has to cease being party to anything which competes with it or contradicts Yahowah's instructions – and therefore, we must disassociate ourselves from the things that are popular, Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Progressive politics, and conspiracies.

In that the primary definition of karat is “to cut,” it exemplifies the sign of the Covenant which is circumcision. And it demonstrates that we are to be set apart.

Here and elsewhere, the Beryth | Covenant Family is singular. That is also essential. There is no place where it is plural; there aren't two of them. There is no such thing as a “New” or “Renewed” Covenant, therefore the notion of a Christian New Testament is hogwash. The same thing would be true with the Talmud. We are either participants in the one Yahowah created by communicating it with ‘Abraham and enabled through Dowd, or we are estranged from God. In spite of rabbinical protestations and Christian proclamations, there is no covenant with Judaism nor is there a new covenant.

Also, we should remain cognizant of the context in this case. God preceded this pronouncement about the role Dowd plays in His Covenant by inspiring the psalmist to affirm that He had conceived the Heavens to proclaim and procreate the restoration of His Family. He explained that His Home was predicated on love. And then He inspired His lyricist to say that we would be wise to trust and rely upon Yahowah's testimony in this regard. This then leads to the bold declaration about Dowd being Yahowah's Bachar | Chosen One through whom He would establish His Family and bring His people Home.

By stating, “la bachyr 'any – with My Chosen One,” Yahowah has affirmed the paramount importance of freewill. He also confirmed that it works both ways. God can choose to include or exclude whomever He wishes, and we are free to express our desire to be adopted or to remain estranged. We can't choose to change His condition, however.

In harmony with this paradigm, our Heavenly Father is reinforcing something about the relationship we have long known but few appreciate. In almost every case God initiates contact, choosing the individuals He wants to be part of His Family. One way or another, Yahowah reaches out to individuals along life's way that He wants to meet, and He introduces Himself. In today's world you might hear it on a podcast and say, ‘I want to get to know that God. He sounds interesting. A non-religious God sounds pretty cool. Once you have that introduction, it’s up to you how you want to respond. How we respond and reciprocate determines our future.

Since we know that Dowd very early on was off tending sheep in Bethlehem and walked to Shamuw’el | He Listens to God when called, he had left his father’s house, just as ‘Abraham had walked away from the cultural, religious, and political milieu of Babylon. Therefore, those seeking an introduction should now be aware: we can confidently extrapolate from Dowd, ‘Abraham and even Noach what we should do in advance if we want God to offer an invitation to us. Dowd separated himself from the community of man and from his father’s home. ‘Abraham left Ur of the Chaldeans, and Noach was out there living on his own; he chose not to be part of the community. This was why Yahowah was in a position to reach out to him.

This is the same Covenant with the same conditions and benefits that Yahowah presented in Bare’syth | Genesis, devoting much of its text to how it was developed with ‘Abraham, Sarah, and Yitschaq. It’s the same Covenant Yahowah codified over and over designating His stipulations and allowances in His Towrah | Guidance presented to Moseh. It is the same Covenant that was affirmed with Ya’aqob. Therefore, our Heavenly Father is acknowledging that Dowd holds a special place within His one and only Family. Through this affirmation, Yahowah is saying that Dowd personifies the qualities that God values. As a result, we can enhance our standing with God, indeed our value to God. That’s important because God does want to do stuff with us. He wants us to work with him by applying what Dowd wrote and what he did through our lives.

More than this, it is Yahowah’s universe, and the heavens are His as well. He is not only entitled to choose who lives within them, He has chosen the person through whom our inclusion is possible, Dowd; he is our Savior. What this means for us is that we are not free to replace His choice with another, as in “Jesus,” Rabbi Edelman. There is no other gatekeeper; you’re not going to find “Saint Peter” anywhere near Heaven much less the keys to gate to life. Judaism and Catholicism are wrong. Yahowah's declaration eliminates the possibility that He has any association with Judaism or Christianity. He did not choose any of the individuals responsible for these religious deceptions, which may be why they fail to acknowledge Dowd’s contribution to our lives.

When you understand what God just said naming Dowd and you are an advocate of the world's most popular religious cult, Christianity, shame on you. What you're saying is God is so stupid that He doesn't know Dowd's name from Jesus, that He made all these promises to Dowd and yet they were really for a person that He never ever speaks about, Jesus. There's not a single prophecy about a "Jesus." So, what do you do? You steal them all from Dowd. A thousand predictions on Dowd so we'll take all of them and we're going to apply them to our myth, this "Jesus" fellow, as if God is so stupid that He doesn't know one name from the other, that God is so disingenuous that a promise made to one can be taken from him and given to another. Shame on you. It's a reprehensible, disgusting and degrading thought and yet Christians will steal his title Messiah, they will steal his relationship with God as the Son of God, they will call their "Jesus" who is nothing but a misnomer and a myth their savior when Yahowah clearly states that Dowd is our savior. There is no excuse for the stupidity of these things.

Christianity does not stand exposed and condemned alone because the only reason that rabbinic Judaism exists is to refute the popularity of Christianity and to continue to be able to control Jews in the Christian era. The reason that Akiba came up with the false messiah, bar Kokhba, the reason there is a star of David, the reason that there is a Talmud was to refute and to respond to the rise in popularity of this new religious cult which robbed everything God said about Dowd to create this myth of "Jesus." All the rabbis had to say if they were actually honest and cared for Jews is there was no person named "Jesus," the Messiah is Dowd and only Dowd, the king who is returning is Dowd and only Dowd, and God clearly claims that Dowd is the Son of God and our Savior. You are idiots to claim that these promises were made to someone else. That's all you have to do, and the religion vanishes. Instead, the rabbis denied the fulfillment of Pesach, Matsah, Bikuwrym, and Shabuw'ah. They denied Dowd was the Messiah, that Dowd was the Son of God, that Dowd was our Savior, all of those things which were every bit as egregious as Christians creating a myth and ascribing all these things to their religious myth. God is not humored by any of it. He is genuinely disgusted. Every religion fails to acknowledge Dowd's contribution to our lives.

If we want to be part of Yahowah's Covenant, we do so through Dowd or not at all. And that is as monumental a pronouncement as exists from the moment of the creation of the universe.

While it is fairly uncommon for God to swear an oath to men, when He says, "shaba' Dowd – I have sworn an oath and I will affirm this promise seven times over with Dowd," (there is no way to distinguish in Hebrew between shaba' – I have sworn an oath and I will affirm this promise and the number seven). They are written identically. So, we ought to convey both concepts if we are going to be honest in our translations and pay attention so that we come to understand the dynamics behind

His calculus and benefits He's offering us. For example, our acceptance of the Covenant's terms will lead to its benefits because they were all enabled by Yahowah working through Dowd to fulfill the Mow'edym. And that explains why Yahowah delivered upon His promise seven times. Yes, Dowd's non-descript body served as the Passover Lamb, and he fulfilled Matsah by having his soul accept the guilt of every Covenant member and took it into She'owl. Then Yahowah celebrated what he had done by reuniting with His Son on Bikuwrym and then enriching and empowering him on Shabuw'ah. But none of that is possible by Dowd alone, and Dowd fully recognized that. He volunteered to serve in this fashion to work with Yahowah as His Son to accomplish these objectives, but it's still Yahowah's doing. He's the enabler throughout this process.

Clearly, with all seven affirmations of this vow they are working together to fulfill Pesach, Matsah, Bikuwrym, and Shabuw'ah in the Yowbel year of 4000 Yah and they are going to work together as Father and Son to fulfill Taruw'ah, and then thereafter Kipurym and Sukah in year 6000 Yah. They are a Father and Son team.

We don't have to look beyond the next word to appreciate the fact that Yah's favorite Son is special. Yahowah presents Dowd as 'Ebed 'Any | My Associate and Coworker who serves with Me.

He also uses the term in conjunction with Moseh. Dowd being the Exemplar of the Covenant, the Exemplar of Israel, our Savior, the Son of God, those are all spectacular accolades. They don't diminish what Moshe did; they are hand in glove. They are the two most extraordinary people in history, the two people that Yahowah accomplished the most with.

This in turn reinforces something which should be obvious to all of us. Rather than imposing Himself upon His creation, God searches out individuals who will respond to His invitation, allowing Him to work through us for our mutual benefit. Patiently and parentally, He prepares His children such that we can be about our Father's business. It is one of the most remarkable and endearing aspects of God's nature.

It all goes back to an experience where Yahowah said to Moseh, 'I'm going to make an announcement to the Children of Yisra'el. Gather everybody together. The purpose of My announcement is that I want the Children of Yisra'el to know for certain that I am speaking through you and that I gave you the Towrah so I'm going to provide absolute proof that you're my guy and that I'm working through you. That's the purpose of this meeting.' So Moseh gathers everybody together, God makes His announcement, and the people cry like spiritual children. 'Don't do that!

You've got too big and scary a voice. We don't want to ever hear from You again. Tell Him to go away.' God says, 'Okay. I get it. When you are who you are and you're grumpy, bitter, and everything else, you're embarrassed. To have God looking down and speaking directly to you is embarrassing to you, so I get it. You want Me tone it down. To do that so that I can relate to you at a level that you're capable of being comfortable I'm going to tone it down by working through one of you and the person I choose to work through is Moseh.'

The same thing is true with Dowd. Moseh and Dowd are God's dialing it down so that we're comfortable in approaching Him so that He's not so imposing that we fear Him or that we worship Him or that we get down on our knees or pray to Him or any of that kind of stuff. He didn't want any of that. He wants to do stuff with us. He wants us to approach Him as sons and daughters and to do that He communicates through individuals like Moseh and Dowd.

And while all that is important to us, and especially so with Dowd, during the most important acts in human history, particularly pursuant of the relationship with God, Dowd was there. He fulfilled Passover with his basar | corporeal body serving as the sacrificial lamb. During UnYeasted Bread, Dowd's nepesh | soul carried the guilt of every child of the Covenant into She'owl | Hell depositing it there, never to be seen again. That's how we were perfected. The result was Firstborn Children, with Yahowah's Bakowr | Firstborn Son leading the way. Having paid the price to redeem us, Dowd's perfected soul was reunited with the Ruwach Qodesh | Set-Apart Spirit and escorted back home to Heaven where he became the first to receive the benefits of the Promise of Seven during Shabuwa'ah. As a result, we are sufficiently enriched and enlightened as Covenant members to trumpet his return calling for His people to come back to Yah and to embrace Dowd on Taruwa'ah, calling Yahuwdym Home. Our focus is on heralding the Chosen One and proclaiming his role in our salvation so that God's people are prepared for Dowd's return on the Day of Reconciliations to be King of Shelters.

That is what Yahowah has just shared with us. It's the fulfillment of His seven promises, it is the enablement of His family, the building of His home, and it is all through the one that He chose to work with and through, Dowd.

That's God's story. We are going to hear Him regale about Dowd and He's going to go so far before we're through here Yahowah is going to call Dowd the equivalent of God; He's going to use 'Elyown to speak of His Son. 'Elyown is used throughout the Towrah to describe Almighty God. It's going to be used in direct association with Dowd. It's kind of funny in a way because the rabbis will say David can't be the Son of God even though God says so because they're different species. So, God says, 'Okay. I've got an answer for that.' They hate God too. For Dowd to say I can't become God. Yes, we can. That's the whole purpose of the Covenant. God's going to enrich, empower, enlighten, and emancipate us so that we go from being stuck in a three-dimensional construct as we are now with still lots of capabilities and a wonderful opportunity, but we go from this 3D physical deteriorating body and our soul within that body to being liberated not just in the fourth dimension of time, which would be pretty spectacular, but in the fifth and sixth dimensions of this universe and all the way into the seventh dimension of the spiritual realm, each increase being Infinity.

DEE: I don't want to derail your train of thought, but it just struck me that's like the lie that haSatan presented to Chawah in the beginning, to be like God but not the right way.

YADA: Yes. Most people don't know why haSatan (who was one of the Karuwbyrn | Cherubs guarding and keeping safe the boundary wall of 'Eden) appealed so effectively to Chawah which means "To Speak Ones' Mind, To Speak Out and Make a Declarative Statement," which she most certainly did by declaring she wanted to be like God. Chawah declared she wanted to be like God. Chawah was jealous of God because she was created to be 'Adam's bud and here 'Adam was more interested in God than her. 'Adam did a rotten job of bringing her along so that she would be just as interested in God as he was. He also failed her by not teaching her what she needed to know to respond effectively to these kinds of offers. So, haSatan prevailed with Chawah because she wanted to be like God.

When man tries to be like God, like you mentioned Chawah did, we make a real mess of it. We make gods in our own image; Jesus, Allah are gods in our image. HaShem is the god of rabbis.

God is saying, 'I want to adopt My Covenant family and raise, empower, and enrich My children so they inherit all that I have and because I made you in My image, by the time I've finished empowering you there's going to be very little distinction between us.' And the less distinction there is between us and Yahowah the happier Yahowah is going to be. That means that doing stuff together is going to be more fun. So, we ought not be bothered by the idea of Yahowah saying of Dowd, 'He is 'Elyown, Almighty God,' because that's the intent of the Covenant; it's to make us all like that.

That's why I get so frustrated that 200,000 ultra-Orthodox buffoons in their mourning suits could go out and bury a rabbi as opposed to celebrate the life of the living, of Dowd. Why not celebrate Dowd as opposed to burying some misleading rabbi Eddlepants or Eddleberry, I don't know, I've forgotten now. I can tell you for certain that Yahowah has no recollection of this individual whatsoever and that Yahowah Himself will not even precede over His judgment, that He's going to send probably 'Elyah who is responsible under Dowd's direction, of judging him and 'Elyah will make very quick order of this, 'You are a piece of shit, Eddleberry. Welcome to She'owl. Get comfortable; you're going to be here forever. Some of your favorite people will be here: Maimonides, Baal shem Tov, the Lord of the Good Name, will be there. You guys will get along great, and you might get to keep your black mourning clothes.' They would be perfect for the Black Hole.

How could you be so stupid that you are a teacher of the Towrah, that's what you claim, and you can't figure out that the number one theme in the Towrah, Prophets is that God despises religion? It overrides all other themes. God despises religion. Second unto it is that God despises politics and human governance, all forms of lies, conspiracies and false notions devaluing His name which is central to Judaism. They won't say Yahowah's name under any circumstance and devalue His Son which is essential to the formation of Judaism. Yahowah's Son is not considered to be His Son, not considered to be the Messiah, not considered to be the Savior. He is for many nothing but a sperm doner. They're looking forward to a messiah who will be the seed of Dowd as if Dowd's contribution will be sperm. It's pretty sad when God goes to this length to tell us the Messiah has a name. It's Dowd. I'm returning with him.

Dowd has three lives. God's so explicit in saying that he has three lives, that He's awakening each of them. Dowd's soul is eternal. God can put Dowd's soul into a non-descript body to fulfill Pesach. No big deal. He can bring Dowd's soul back as He did on Bikuwrym taking it back to Heaven, and Dowd's soul can come back as brilliant as the sun as 'Elyown on Kipurym.

People get all hung up over physical bodies, resurrections and all that sort of thing, when in almost all cases a body is a liability. You want to be a spiritual being because you can't leave the three dimensions that we're in now with a physical body. Physical bodies have advantages. You can sing songs, you can eat meals, you can put your feet in the sand and have the waves caress them, you can feel the sun on your cheeks. There are times when having a physical body will be valuable; you choose them. $E = mc^2$ means that we can take some of our light and spiritual energy and transform it into matter at any time of our choosing, enjoy the benefits of having a physical body and then return to being a spiritual being and be able to travel across the universe infinitely empowered some four times over from where we are now.

We'll return this time next week to the next statement Mizmowr 89:4. I obviously know if we only get through one statement a week, we'll be at it for a while. There are some statements that are as powerful as this one as we move through the Psalm, but this is the foundation of the Cornerstone of Yahowah's home. So rather than looking up to the Temple Mount saying, 'We need to build new Temple up there now,' why don't you just look at the Cornerstone that God has already placed for you to examine and capitalize upon, the 89th Mizmowr. We're going to celebrate it over the next few months as we continue to do this program.

All right, we're about three minutes from Blog Talk Radio saying, "good night." We look forward to being with you next week. May God bless. Have a wonderful Shabat to one and all and particularly to our friends in Israel. Just because we are exposing and condemning progressives for being confused and thoughtless, just because we're exposing and condemning the Haredim for being useless parasites does not make us bad people. If you're open and honest you know what we're saying is true, you know what we're saying is what God is saying. It's identical to this. And if you're in that 20 or 30 percent of Israel who isn't overtly political and is not so overtly religious that you're still open to the message of Yahowah, welcome home. We will do everything in our power to help you come to know and understand what Yahowah is offering and expecting in return such that you choose to become part of His family. We want nothing back from you other than perhaps a smile and an opportunity to enjoy a wonderful experience together sometime in eternity. And, of course, if you choose to become part of the Covenant, we will certainly encourage you to do everything you can to help others come to know Yahowah.

May Yahowah bless. Good night. Shalown.
